What About Persia?

Gas War "Barbarous?"

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

In his Omaha speech President Coolidge said: "No nation ever had an army large enough to guarantee it again attack. * * * No nation ever will."

That is true, but while Philip of Macedonia, and Alexander, his son, were building up their army, perfecting their methods, keeping prepared, great, powerful, dsidainful rich and swollen Persia—the United States of those days—didn't imagine what was going to happen, and never got ready.

Things happened rapidly when Alexander with 30,000 men swam across the river, attacked the power of Persia, scattered its vast armies, its line of war elephants, and hunted the Persian king to his death.

You can't have an army big enough "to guarantee you against attack," but you can keep yourself in such a condition of preparation so as to make attack improbable, and not dangerous.

If this nation continues accumulating money, ignoring the teachings of history, neglecting modern war methods, simmering complacently in its own financial grease, we may get a lesson such as the Macedonians gave to Persia, and the Japanese to heavy China.

Asia, Tokio, Pekin are now about 40 hours from the United States by swift airplane. The fastest plane might cross the Pacific in 21 hours.

Twenty-five years ago the trip by water was two weeks, and an enemy invader would have been compelled to make a landing and find subsistence after landing.

Now the enemy would come through the air, and there need be no landing. Attacking airships would drop their cargoes of explosives and poisonous gases on a few cities, then fly back to a mother ship off shore or across the Canadian border, land and be held for the duration of the war.

Sunday and leave on the return trip at 7:40 p. m. Returning, it will arrive in Pittsburgh shortly before 8 a. m. Monday, enabling passengers to make connections with the train which reaches here at 9:37 a. m.

Day coaches only will be operated on the excursion special. The round trip fare will be $7.90 from East Liverpool.

Missing Air Mail Pilot Not Found; Rumor Groundless

Reports that the mail plane, driven by Charles H. Ames, missing for nine days, had been found along Beaver Creek near the state line, last night are untrue.

The rumor gained a wide circulation throughout the city last night and today. The report was said to have been received here by radio.

Police made inquiries in the vicinity of the state line, but could locate no one who knew anything concerning the missing aircraft.

BASEBALL IS SERVED IN CAPITAL WITH SIDE ORDER OF CRACKED ICE

Wind Blows Gale Following Friday's Rain With Result That Thermometer Drops to 37 Degrees as Harris Club and McKechnie's Cohorts Resume World Series.

41,000 FRAPPED CITIZENS DEFY KING WINTER TO WATCH CLASSIC

American Leaguers Forced to Use Recruit 'Buddy' Myer at Third Base as Ossie Bluege, "Beaned" by Aldridge in Smoky City, Still Suffers From Effects of Blow.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

BASEBALL PARK, WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Baseball was served with a side order of cracked ice and cold cuts this afternoon when the Washington Senators and Pittsburgh Pirates finally got around to the matter of conducting the third game of the world series, a game that was destined to break a one-all tie in victories. The day was as cold as the eye of a maiden aunt.

The wind blew a gale following yesterday's rain and this morning the thermometer dropped to 37 degrees while a handful of all-night vigilants at the general admission gates played castenets with their incisors. It was Washington's first view of the 1925 series and a goodly crowd of more than 41,000 frapped citizens, did do justice to the occasion.

External warmth was furnished by overcoats and wraps. Internal warmth was furnished from sources strictly fluid, the nature of which was nobody's business, with the possible exception of the "infernal" revenue department.

Odds Favor Heydler Entry.

This business was no more uncertain and dubious than the probable outcome of a ball game that was to send one club or the other into the lead and place it in a tactical position of obious superiority.

The odds slightly favored Pittsburgh not only because of its rather impressive victory in the second game but also because the Senators went into the game lacking its full war strength, so to speak.

An hour before game time it was announced that Ossie Bluge would be unable to play third base for the World Champions. He still was feeling the effects of the blow on the head he received in Pittsburgh on Thursday from a ball pitched by Vic Aldridge, and his personal physician declined to let him appear.

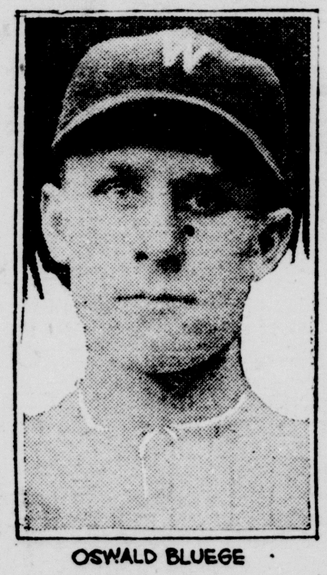

Recruit at Third Base.

This meant that the Senators were deprived of the services of one of the best infielders in baseball and were constrained to step out with a recruit, "Buddy" Myers, at third base. The general trend of uncertainty did not end here, however. There was for example the freak winds, making the matter of catching fly balls a precarious undertaking. It blew so hard before the game that the batting screen was upended and sandwiches were wafted from tables in the Press stand.

Fortunately the screen capsized before the teams appeared on the field. The wind was a westerly one, thus favoring right field hitters.

The Senators were the first to show merging from their dugout at 12:30 o'clock. Not more than a thousand fans were in the stadium at that hour.

INJURED PLAYER UNABLE TO PLAY

OSWALD BLUEGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Oswald Bluege, the Senators' third sacker, was "beaned" in the second world series game at Pittsburgh, will not play today, it was announced by his physician. He may be out for the series.

Bluege's injury is proving more serious than was at first anticipated.

"Buddy" Myer will replace Bluege at third for the Senators.

E. W. Betler Will Lecture at Bible Students' Meeting

E. W. Betler, of Pittsburgh, will deliver an address at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Ceramic cafeteria building, West Fifth street, under auspices of the International Bible Students' association. His subject will be: "The Triumph of Righteousness."

The public is invited to attend.

BANKS CLOSED HERE ON MONDAY

Monday is Columbus Day, and the day will be observed here by banks and building and loan institutions, which will be closed.

HORSE DRAWN VEHICLE TAX PLAN DEFEATED BY SOLONS, 4-2

Kerr Introduces Measure Providing $25-$50 License Fee.

FARRALL OPPOSES

Chambers Joins With Sponsor in Supporting Proposal.

On ordinance providing for the licensing of all horse-drawn vehicles in the city, was defeated, 4 to 2, at the councilmanic meeting last night.

The proposal, introduced by Councilman N. P. Kerr, called for a license fee of $25 for one-horse vehicles and $50 for two-horse equipment. Kerr suggested that grocers and farmers be exempt from payment of the fee.

Solicitor Brokaw warned that the exemption would make it class legislation and that it would therefore, be unconstitutional.

Farrall Condemns Proposal.

"I can't see the idea of this ordinance,' said Solon Farrall, "Old Dobbin' is gone—the automobile has come in his place."

"I disagree with Mr. Farrall in his statement that "Old Dobbin' is gone," answered Kerr. "I asked the solicitor to prepare this ordinance because a horse and wagon will do more damage to our improved streets than a dozen automobiles. Yet the automobile owner pays three or four different kinds of taxes while the horse owner pays nothing.

MRS. GASTON, AGED 82, DIES

Funeral Services Will be Held at 2:30 p. m. Monday.

Mrs. George Gaston, 82, pioneer resident of Columbiana county, died last night in her home in St. Clair avenue, after two weeks' illness of influenza.

Mrs. Gaston, who was born on a farm five miles from East Liverpool, was a daughter of the late John and Sarah Montgomery Gaston, and spent the greater part of her life here. She was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church and an early crusader in the ranks of the Women's Chrisitan Temperance Union in the fight against intoxicating liquor.

Her husband, George Gaston, died in 1908, while a foster daughter, Mrs. Sarah J. Hill Huston, died six years ago.

She is survived by four children: Willis Gaston, East Liverpool; Rev. John Gaston, Pittsburgh, Pa.; George Gaston, New York city; Mrs. H. N. Mateer, Wooster, and one sister, Mrs. Ellen McCoy, Van Wert, O.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2:30 Monday afternoon. Rev. Dr. D. W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Icy Winds Sweep New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania

Storm Warnings Issued for Maine and Southern New England Coast as Snow Blankets Many Cities.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. — Icy winds swept New York today when the temperature dropped to 35 degrees above zero.

Northern New York is reported under a blanket of snow and the storm is reported moving from the northeast.

Winds were increasing in strength and the weather bureau predicted they would reach gale strength.

Storm warnings have been issued for the coast of Maine and southern New England.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 10.—Pittsburgh got its first snow of the season shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. The flakes were small and indications were for snow intermittently throughout the day, the weather bureau stated.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 10. — With the first snowfall of the season recorded, Cleveland had regular winter weather today. A few flakes of snow fell last night, and again at 6 o'clock this morning. They melted as they reached the ground.

The official weather forecast was for a temperature just above the freezing point throughout the day.

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—Snow fell through the night throughout the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, the earliest snowfall on record. It was still snowing in Mntreal this forenoon.

Use Snow Plows.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 10. — A blanket of snow six inches deep covered this section of northern Vermont today. Never in the remembrance of the oldest inhabitants has such a fall of snow occurred so early in October.

The city had its street plows out clearing the sidewalks this forenoon.

Warmer Weather Is Sweeping Down From Northwest

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 — Warmer weather was sweeping down from the northwest today in the wake of the first wintry spell of the season which yesterday brought snow and freezing temperatures to virtually all the midwest, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, the Dakotas, and northern sections of Illinois and Indiana reported heavy snowfalls yesterday and in Chicago proper, the storm had the nature of a minature blizzard, snow and hail slithering about the city following an icy rain.

Fair and warmer was the midwest weather forecast for today, however.

MRS. ELIZABETH LANSDOWNE, MOTHER OF SHENANDOAH CRASH VICTIM, DIES

Heart Disease Claims Aged Woman in Her Home at Greenville Early Today.

GREENVILLE, O., Oct. 10.—Death early today claimed Mrs. Elizabeth Knox Lansdowne, 74-year-old mother of the late Zachary Lansdowne, commonder of the ill-fated dirigible Shenondoah.

Mrs. Lansdowne died at 2:30 a. m. of heart trouble. She had complained of feeling indisposed yesterday, but toward night had felt better. At 2 a. m. today her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Knox Lansdowne got up and discovered Mrs. Lansdowne was dying.

Funeral arrangements will be made when Knox Lansdowne, a son arrives from Cincinnati. Another son, Harry, lives in Los Angeles.

Ill For Two Years

Mrs. Lansdowne was the daughter of John Riley Knox, noted attorney in this section half a century ago. Her mother was Isabel Griggs, of pioneer New England stock. Mrs. Lansdowne was born here.

Mrs. Lansdowne had been in failing health for the last two years. She withstood the shock of her son's tragic death with remarkable fortitude and had seemed in her usual health yesterday. Late in the afternoon, however, she spoke of feeling exhausted. A rest revived her and she retired at 9 o'clock.

Upon discovery this morning that she was dying a physician was called immediately, but Mrs. Lasndowne passed away before his arrival.

12 Reported Killed And Many Injured In Train Wreck

Rebekah Lodges Of County Plan Salineville Meet

First of the series of county meetings to be held by the Rebekah association of Columbiana county will be held at Salineville next Tuesday evening with members of Cable Rebekah Lodge No. 693 as hostesses.

A prize will be awarded the lodge having the largest percentage of attendance at the series of meetings. Delegations from East Liverpool, Wellsville and Lisbon are expected to attend. Three delegates and the noble grand, ex-officio member from each Rebekah lodge in the county form the nucleus of the Rebekah association.

Officers in charge of the meetings are James D. Caldwell, Lisbon, president, and Miss Ethel McCain, East Liverpool, secretary.

France Made More Concessions Than U. S., Says Caillaux

HAVRE, France, Oct. 10.—France made more concessions than the United States in the recent Franco-American debt negotiations in Washington, M. Joseph Caillaux, finance minister and head of the French debt mission to the United States, declared today on his arrival here on the S. S. France.

"It is not possible to say that America made concessions to us," said M. Caillaux.

"The American delegates received us courteously and amiably but the maximum concessions were made not by America but by France."

Carpenter Fractures His Right Ankle in Fall While Working

J. S. Zirkle, Newell carpenter, was removed to the City hospital this morning, suffering from a fracture of the right ankle sustained in a fall while working in East Liverpool. The fracture was reduced by Dr. H. A. Turk.

JAIL TURNKEY CLINE SAYS HE IS READY FOR COUNCIL PROBE

Solon Farrall Reiterates Charge on Private Auto Operation.

NAME COMMITTEE

"Who is Liar?" is Query at Friday Session.

"I stand ready for an investigation at any time."

This was the statement of City Jail Turnkey William Cline today relative to the action of city council last night in authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate Solon Thomas Farrall's charge that the police department attache has been using city-purchased gasoline in his private automobile.

Farrall, last night, declared that he was prepared to prove his accusation.

Will Hear Both Sides.

"I was called a liar through the papers and now I want this matter settled to see who is the liar," the solon said. "I have the word of good citizens that this man illegally used gasoline purchased by the city and I am ready to back up my charges."

"If what Councilman Farrall says is true there should be an investigation," Solon Charles Hayes said. "This is a serious charge and council should give him an opportunity to prove it."

Upon motion of Councilman N. P. Kerr, the solons approved the appointment of a committee to investigate and give both sides an opportunity to be heard. President Capehart named Councilmen Farrall, Kerr and Larcombe as members of this committee.

Cline's Statement.

"I have never taken more than six gallons of gasoline from the tank at any one time and only took that when my car was to be used in police de-

Italy Definitely Brought Into Plan For Security Pact

LOCARNO, Oct. 10.—Italy was definitely brought into the proposed security pact today.

The morning plenary session of the security pact conference reached a definite decision to include Italy in the preamble to the pact, Making that nation one of the guarantors of the western security pact.

Upon other issues the delegates still found themselves so widely apart that it was agreed to abandon the proposed afternoon plenary session in order that the representatives of the various nations might engage in informal discussions.

MRS. LEE MEADOWS IS ANSWER TO WHAT BLEACHERITES YELL AT BATTER, "GOOD EYE, OLD MAN," SAYS WRITER OF "DIARY OF DAMP DAY"

BY KATHARINE BRUSH.

Special to The Review-Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Diary of a damp day:

9 a. m.—Arrived on one of five special trains from Pittsburgh. Am convinced that five is too many special trains. The one I was on spent half the night sitting on a siding looking at the rest of them but we're here. And now the question is, Why are we here? I didn't have to come all this distance to see it rain. I wish I stayed in Pittsburgh. At least I know people there who would lend me their umbrella.

10 a. m.—For lack of anything better to do I charter a taxi and go out to Clark Griffith's stadium to see the waiting line. It extends from the general admission gate to points suburban and looks as if it had been fished out of the sea. Two women in it. At least the taxi driver says they're women. They look like bales of newspapers topped off with a couple of automobiles. Curtains too wet.

11:30 a. m.—Game called. Official proclamation. Several hundred reporters, with "school out" whoops, rush from press headforemost to get trains for the races at Laurel. I give one of them $10 to place as he is on his way. Then spend afternoon wishing I hadn't.

1 p. m.—It ain't gonna rain no more, not that it matters now.

2 p. m.—I betake myself to see what I can see at the Wardman Park hotel where many of the Senators live all season and where the Pirate band is now stopping. Gloom permeates the lobby. Here and there ball players sit twiddling thumbs, discouraged. All pepped up and no ball to throw around. I don't wonder they ask about Ossie Bluege's condition. When that ball hit him in the head on Thursday and he toppled like a rock I thought he just had to be dead. But it seems baseball brains are encased in triple plates, steel or something, for safe keeping. He will be in the game tomorrow.

2:15 p. m.—I corral Mrs. Lee Meadows in an elevator where she can't get out. Pretty. All ball players' wives seem to be pretty. Now I know what they mean when they yell at a batter "Good eye, old man." Mrs. Meadows is a brunette from Virginia. She and the celebrated Lee have been married nine years. And they live in Leesburg, Florida. I did they name the town after the pitcher or the pitcher after the town during the winter. Mrs. Meadows does not know which she is more proud of—big Lee or little Lee. She tries to introduce me to little Lee, who is eight years old, but he will have none of me. "I am sick of fooling around with reporters," he says, and disappears magically from sight.

2:30 p. m.—I call on Mrs. Eddie Moore and daughter, Maralynn, aged 3. Maralynn Moore congratulates Lee, Jr. Steals my pencil and my notebook and asks how many little girls I have. Mrs. Moore is not only pretty, she has beautiful dimples, brown eyes and a smile like a billboard. She has on a black dress trimmed with silver braid and little black slippers with silver buckles. Eddie found her six years ago in Indiana when he was on an exhibition tour with a baseball team composed of ex-gobs. They have another child, Eddie II, aged 9 months. He is now holding the fort in East Liberty against their return. And doubtless listening with interest to tidings from Washington over the radio.

2:50—I inquire what the rest of the players are doing to pass away the restless hours. Learn that some have gone to the races, some are playing cards, others have been taken by friends on sight seeing tours throughout the capital. The rest are just pacing and cussing.

7 p. m.—I start into a movie and find myself witnessing a picture called "Dark Cloud." This is quite too much. I leave and go dismally to bed.

Fair and warmer was the midwest weather forecast for today, however.

Use Snow Plows.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 10. — A blanket of snow six inches deep covered this section of northern Vermont today. Never in the remembrance of the oldest inhabitants has such a fall of snow occurred so early in October.

The city had its street plows out clearing the sidewalks this forenoon.

Much damage has been caused to fruit and vegetables, which had not been gathered before the arrival of the "fall blizzard."

MRS. ELIZABETH LANSDOWNE, MOTHER OF SHENANDOAH CRASH VICTIM, DIES

Heart Disease Claims Aged Woman in Her Home at Greenville Early Today.

GREENVILLE, O., Oct. 10.—Death early today claimed Mrs. Elizabeth Knox Lansdowne, 74-year-old mother of the late Zachary Lansdowne, commander of the ill-fated dirigible Shenondoah.

Mrs. Lansdowne died at 2:30 a. m. of heart trouble. She had complained of feeling indisposed yesterday, but toward night had felt better. At 2 a. m. today her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Knox Lansdowne got up and discovered Mrs. Lansdowne was dying.

Funeral arrangements will be made when Knox Lansdowne, a son arrives from Cincinnati. Another son, Harry, lives in Los Angeles.

Ill For Two Years

Mrs. Lansdowne was the daughter of John Riley Knox, noted attorney in this section half a century ago. Her mother was Isabel Griggs, of pioneer New England stock. Mrs. Lansdowne was born here.

Mrs. Lansdowne had been in failing health for the last two years. She withstood the shock of her son's tragic death with remarkable fortitude and had seemed in her usual health yesterday. Late in the afternoon, however, she spoke of feeling exhausted. A rest revived her and she retired at 9 o'clock.

Upon discovery this morning that she was dying a physician was called immediately, but Mrs. Lansdowne passed away before his arrival.

France Made More Concessions Than U. S., Says Caillaux

HAVRE, France, Oct. 10.—France made more concessions than the United States in the recent Franco-American debt negotiations in Washington, M. Joseph Caillaux, finance minister and head of the French debt mission to the United States, declared today on his arrival here on the S. S. France.

"It is not possible to say that America made concessions to us," said M. Caillaux.

"The American delegates received us courteously and amiably but the maximum concessions were made not by America but by France."

JAIL TURNKEY CLINE SAYS HE IS READY FOR COUNCIL PROBE

Solon Farrall Reiterates Charge on Private Auto Operation.

NAME COMMITTEE.

"Who is Liar?" is Query at Friday Session.

"I stand ready for an investigation at any time."

This was the statement of City Jail Turnkey William Cline today relative to the action of city council last night in authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate Solon Thomas Farrall's charge that the police department attache has been using city-purchased gasoline in his private automobile.

Farrall, last night, declared that he was prepared to prove his accusation.

Will Hear Both Sides.

"I was called a liar through the papers and now I want this matter settled to see who is the liar," the solon said. "I have the word of good citizens that this man illegally used gasoline purchased by the city and I am ready to back up my charges."

"If what Councilman Farrall says is true there should be an investigation," Solon Charles Hayes said. "This is a serious charge and council should give him an opportunity to prove it."

Upon motion of Councilman N. P. Kerr, the solons approved the appointment of a committee to investigate and give both sides an opportunity to be heard. President Capehart named Councilmen Farrall, Kerr and Larcombe as members of this committee.

Cline's Statement.

"I have never taken more than six gallons of gasoline from the tank at any one time and only took that when my car was to be used in police de-

Italy Definitely Brought Into Plan For Security Pact

LOCARNO, Oct. 10.—Italy was definitely brought into the proposed security pact today.

The morning plenary session of the security pact conference reached a definite decision to include Italy in the preamble to the pact, Making that nation one of the guarantors of the western security pact.

Upon other issues the delegates still found themselves so widely apart that it was agreed to abandon the proposed afternoon plenary session in order that the representatives of the various nations might engage in informal discussions.

MRS. LEE MEADOWS IS ANSWER TO WHAT BLEACHERITES YELL AT BATTER, "GOOD EYE, OLD MAN," SAYS WRITER OF "DIARY OF DAMP DAY"

BY KATHARINE BRUSH.

Special to The Review-Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Diary of a damp day:

9 a. m.—Arrived on one of five special trains from Pittsburgh. Am convinced that five is too many special trains. The one I was on spent half the night sitting on a siding looking at the rest of them but we're here. And now the question is, Why are we here? I didn't have to come all this distance to see it rain. I wish I stayed in Pittsburgh. At least I know people there who would lend me their umbrella.

10 a. m.—For lack of anything better to do I charter a taxi and go out to Clark Griffith's stadium to see the waiting line. It extends from the general admission gate to points suburban and looks as if it had been fished out of the sea. Two women in it. At least the taxi driver says they're women. They look like bales of newspapers topped off with a couple of automobiles. Curtains too wet.

11:30 a. m.—Game called. Official proclamation. Several hundred reporters, with "school out" whoops, rush from press headforemost to get trains for the races at Laurel. I give one of them $10 to place as he is on his way. Then spend afternoon wishing I hadn't.

1 p. m.—It ain't gonna rain no more, not that it matters now.

2 p. m.—I betake myself to see what I can see at the Wardman Park hotel where many of the Senators live all season and where the Pirate band is now stopping. Gloom permeates the lobby. Here and there ball players sit twiddling thumbs, discouraged. All pepped up and no ball to throw around. I don't wonder they ask about Ossie Bluege's condition. When that ball hit him in the head on Thursday and he toppled like a rock I thought he just had to be dead. But it seems baseball brains are encased in triple plates, steel or something, for safe keeping. He will be in the game tomorrow.

2:15 p. m. I corral Mrs. Lee Meadows in an elevator where she can't get out. Pretty. All ball players' wives seem to be pretty. Now I know what they mean when they yell at a batter "Good eye, old man." Mrs. Meadows is a brunette from Virginia. She and the celebrated Lee have been married nine years. And they live in Leesburg, Florida. I did they name the town after the pitcher or the pitcher after the town during the winter. Mrs. Meadows does not know which she is more proud of—big Lee or little Lee. She tries to introduce me to little Lee, who is eight years old, but he will have none of me. "I am sick of fooling around with reporters," he says, and disappears magically from sight.

2:30 p. m.—I call on Mrs. Eddie Moore and daughter, Maralynn, aged 3. Maralynn Moore congratulates Lee, Jr. Steals my pencil and my notebook and asks how many little girls I have. Mrs. Moore is not only pretty, she has beautiful dimples, brown eyes and a smile like a billboard. She has on a black dress trimmed with silver braid and little black slippers with silver buckles. Eddie found her six years ago in Indiana when he was on an exhibition tour with a baseball team composed of ex-gobs. They have another child, Eddie II, aged 9 months. He is now holding the fort in East Liberty against their return. And doubtless listening with interest to tidings from Washington over the radio.

2:50—I inquire what the rest of the players are going to pass away the restless hours. Learn that some have gone to the races, some are playing cards, others have been taken by friends on sight-seeing tours throughout the capital. The rest are just pacing and cussing.

7 p. m.—I start into a movie and find myself witnessing a picture called "Dark Cloud." This is quite too much. I leave and go dismally to bed.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 P. M. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium", 121 West 5th street. Have them bring their Bibles. The questions for this week are:

79. Does the Bible compare God with the things he has created.
Answer. See Isaiah 40: 12-15, 17, 22, 25, 26, 28; 1 John 3:20; Psalm 104.

80. Does the Bible teach that God is a creator?
Answer. See Genesis 1:1; Peter 4:19; Eph. 3:9.

81. What was God's First creation?
Answer. His Son, Our Lord.—Revelation 3:14; Colossians 1:15; Psalm 89:27; 1 John 4:9.

82. Who is Jesus declared to be?
Answer. The Son of God.—Matthew 3:17; 16:16; John 5:20; 3:16; Acts 9:20; Luke 1:35.

83. Are Jesus and God the same person?
Answer. A father and a son cannot be the same person. John 14:28; 1 Corinthians 15:28;—Jesus was created and therefore had a being; God was from everlasting.—Psalm 89:27; Colossians 1:15; John 3:16.

84. Was Jesus created long before he was born into the world?
Answer. Yes.—John 17:5, 24; Philippians 2:6; 2 Corinthains 8:9; Colossians 1:15-17; John 3:13; 6:62.

WEARWELL BLANKETS

Like a Cordial Word of Greeting

How much they add to the reception of the overnight guest. And how much he notices them.

For the average visitor there is little pleasure in spending the night away from home. Discomforts are anticipated, and a restless night probable.

His anxiety passes, however, very quickly, when he sees the enticing luxury of a Wearwell blanket placed on his bed. The cheery colors radiate hospitality and the warm, fleece-like nap, insures protection from cold.

The nights are not quite cool enough for wool blankets—so these Wearwell cotton blankets are comfortable coverings for the first chilly Fall nights and even right on through coldest winter. Kinky wool-like cotton is woven to a soft fleecy texture and effectively retains warmth and permits perfect bodily respiration.

Harmonious colors in bright warm colors or more subdued colors are offered in many attractive plaids. In orchid, rose, blue, tan or grey with white. Size 70x80. Priced at $3.25, $3.50 and $4.00 the pair.

Plain tan, grey or white cotton blankets with colored stripes on border. Tan or grey with blue or rose stripe. Size 66x80, priced at $2.75; size 70x80 priced at $3.00.

Second Floor Annex, Main Store.

The First Baptist Church

Will have another continuous reading in the book of Matthew.

7:30 P. M.

Do you know that the genealogy recorded in Matthew is not the same as in Luke?

Do you know that the Jews have lost the Davidic records of Messanic genealogy?

Do you know the church has these records?

Do you know why Matthew begins with Abraham and Luke with Adam?

Do you know the Bible does not say three wise men?

You are invited to these Bible readings.

THE TRIUMPH OF RIGHTEOUSNESS

millions now living will never die

Present-day plans and schemes for re-ordering the world continue to meet with consistent failure.

But their failure does not hold as much meaning as does the Triumph of the New Order.

The New Order continues to be reared as present modes of life and forms of civilization make way.

The Triumph of Righteousness—right doing—is integrally associated with the troubles incident to its assuming sway.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 P. M. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium", 121 West 5th street. Have them bring their Bibles. The questions for this week are:

79. Does the Bible compare God with the things he has created.
Answer. See Isaiah 40: 12-15, 17, 22, 25, 26, 28; 1 John 3:20; Psalm 104.

80. Does the Bible teach that God is a creator?
Answer. See Genesis 1:1; Peter 4:19; Eph. 3:9.

81. What was God's First creation?
Answer. His Son, Our Lord.—Revelation 3:14; Colossians 1:15; Psalm 89:27; 1 John 4:9.

82. Who is Jesus declared to be?
Answer. The Son of God.—Matthew 3:17; 16:16; John 5:20; 3:16; Acts 9:20; Luke 1:35.

83. Are Jesus and God the same person?
Answer. A father and a son cannot be the same person. John 14:28; 1 Corinthians 15:28;—Jesus was created and therefore had a being; God was from everlasting:—Psalm 89:27; Colossians 1:15; John 3:16.

84. Was Jesus created long before he was born into the world?
Answer. Yes.—John 17:5, 24; Philippians 2:6; 2 Corinthains 8:9; Colossians 1:15-17; John 3:13; 6:62.

84. Why did God create Jesus?

WEARWELL BLANKETS

Like a Cordial Word of Greeting

How much they add to the reception of the overnight guest. And how much he notices them.

For the average visitor there is little pleasure in spending the night away from home. Discomforts are anticipated, and a restless night probable.

His anxiety passes, however, very quickly, when he sees the enticing luxury of a Wearwell blanket placed on his bed. The cheery colors radiate hospitality and the warm, fleece-like nap, insures protection from cold.

The nights are not quite cool enough for wool blankets—so these Wearwell cotton blankets are comfortable coverings for the first chilly Fall nights and even right on through coldest winter. Kinky wool-like cotton is woven to a soft fleecy texture and effectively retains warmth and permits perfect bodily respiration.

Harmonious colors in bright warm colors or more subdued colors are offered in many attractive plaids. In orchid, rose, blue, tan or grey with white. Size 70x80. Priced at $3.25, $3.50 and $4.00 the pair.

Plain tan, grey or white cotton blankets with colored stripes on border. Tan or grey with blue or rose stripe. Size 66x80, priced at $2.75; size 70x80 priced at $3.00.

The First Baptist Church

Will have another continuous reading in the book of Matthew.

7:30 P. M.

Do you know that the genealogy recorded in Matthew is not the same as in Luke?

Do you know that the Jews have lost the Davidic records of Messanic genealogy?

Do you know the church has these records?

Do you know why Matthew begins with Abraham and Luke with Adam?

Do you know the Bible does not say three wise men?

THE TRIUMPH OF RIGHTEOUSNESS

millions now living will never die

Present-day plans and schemes for re-ordering the world continue to meet with consistent failure.

But their failure does not hold as much meaning as does the Triumph of the New Order.

The New Order continues to be reared as present modes of life and forms of civilization make way.

The Triumph of Righteousness—right doing—is integrally associated with the troubles incident to its assuming sway.

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER 65.

It is a definite part of the business of Bill McGargle, as it is of other police reporters, to be acquainted personally with all of the persons whom the so-called respectable citizens do not care to know. He counts second-story men, yeggs, streetwalkers, stool pigeons, gunmen, divorce evidence hounds, dips, coke sellers, all types and degrees of politicians, fences, shyster lawyers and others of the half world among his regular friends, and thinks nothing of the fact.

Following a hunch, and working in and out of the devious byways of Halstead street in his search for clues in the Ainsley kidnaping, Bill came in time across Pete, emissary of Jim McConrey. He spoke the argot of the underworld and was patient, and it didn't take him long to ascertain that Pete "knew something." For a hundred dollars, paid in cash on the spot, he found out what that "something" was.

An hour later, in a closed automobile driven by one of the Recorder's photographers, and with an automatic nestling threateningly in his coat pocket, he was speeding out the main highway to the little road that led to Burke's beer-running headquarters. The car parked conveniently in a niche in the woods along this dusty trail, and the evidence of its presence behind the brush concealed as best they could manage it, McGargle organized his campaign.

"It's 5 o'clock," he said, looking at his watch. "We'll find Burke's house, where the girl may be, and you sneak around so you can get some pictures. Take pictures of everything you can while the light holds out, and for Pete's sake don't get caught. Bring your plates and camera back to the car and wait for me, but it may be hours before I get back. Be ready to go the minute I step on the running board, because I figure we're going to get out of here like a bat out of hell."

The photographer, peeved because of the minute and obvious instructions, made his preparations without comment.

McGargle kept away from the roads, and scouted around in the vicinity of the farm he knew was being used as the center of Burke's illegal liquor operations, until the shades of night provided the camouflage necessary to enable him to get nearer in safety.

He was within a stone's throw while the beer trucks were being loaded for their nightly calls on the "trade," and, picking out Burke, trailed him. It was in his mind that the rum runner knew about or was a partner in Red Mike's kidnaping plot, although Pete, in "spilling his dope," had mentioned Burke solely in connection with the location of the Ainsley girl's prison. McGargle was wrong, for Burke did not know of the plot until later, but after all, it was by trailing the "king of the beer runners," that the reporter was able to find the lost heiress. When the dog set off in pursuit of Amoura and Johnson, leading Burke and his two aides, McGargle was not far behind, and he witnessed the scene between Johnson and his chief, but he did not suspect that the kidnaped girl was lying at that moment almost within his reach.

When the men started back to the house, carrying the dog, still dazed from the blow given by Johnson, the reporter followed, wondering if that damned photographer had gone to sleep, and worrying about whether he would get his story in time for the morning paper. He was confident that he was going to release Amoura Ainsley, and already was thinking of the lead he would dictate for the story, linking her kidnaping with the machinations of Chicago's "many million dollar liquor ring."

When Amoura stumbled over the stump, and set off the racket that caused the dog Carlo to be loosened on her trail again, he was startled, fearful that some one was watching him. He turned back to investigate and reached Amoura's side in time to kill Burke's vicious dog with one blow with the nozzle of his automatic.

Amoura nearly fainted as she caught sight of the giant of a figure with a shining revolver, with the one thought in her mind that she again was a captive. McGargle could see that it was a woman he had saved from the dog's attack, but stood regarding her, uncertain what to do. Amoura started to flee. McGargle caught up with her. "Keep quiet, or you'll have the men who own the dog upon us." It now occurred to her that the man had been sent by Johnson, and she complied, shivering.

While Burke and Johnson and their companions scoured the woods, McGargle squatted in silence in concealment with the girl, oblivious that she was the subject of his quest. But when, a quarter of an hour later, they crept out of the bushes, the pale moonlight revealed in shadow the physiognomy of his companion, and McGargle exclaimed in surprise. "Are you Amoura Ainsley?"

She nodded. The reporter stared at her a moment, then, without another word, grabbed her by the arm, and started rushing across the wood to the field that would enable them to reach the little road and the concealed car. In ten minutes, with McGargle urging on the photographer, the automobile was moving terrifically toward Chicago, and Amoura was answering the reporter's excited queries. For the first time in six years, Bill McGargle was excited.

Imagine the surprise that burst in the news room of the Chicago Record when Bill McGargle, his composure recovered, walked up to the city editor's desk with the disheveled but half smiling Amoura, and said, nonchalantly: "Well, Mac, here's your heiress." He dropped the nonchalance immediately, however, and issued some orders to the man whose orders he usually followed:

"Have 'em get some pictures of her, and get somebody to take her copyrighted story, written exclusively for the Record. I'm going to dictate the lead and stuff to Roberts."

The city editor, after staring at his trusted reporter for a moment, was galvanized into action and in exactly 41 minutes, the Record was "on the street" with an extra edition.

Special Exhibit

You are Invited to take a picture trip through an automobile plant

Learn how quality is attained with modern production methods! This week we are making a special photographic exhibit illustrating the precision methods by which quality is achieved in the manufacture of the modern motor car.

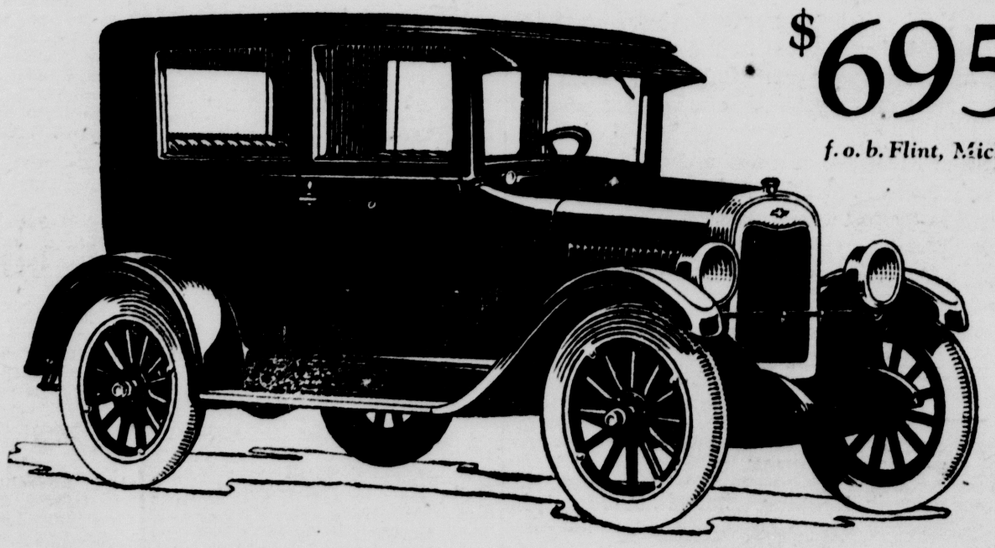

Showing the Reason for Quality at Low Cost

The exhibit consists of 40 remarkable photographs of the most interesting processes in modern automobile manufacture. It will provide the same interesting knowledge that you would get by taking a trip through the plants where Chevrolet cars are built. Each picture is accompanied by a full description of the operation it illustrates. It is an exhibit of unusual interest and value. Bring the children.

For a hundred dollars, paid in cash on the spot, he found out what that "something" was.

An hour later, in a closed automobile driven by one of the Recorder's photographers, and with an automatic nestling threateningly in his coat pocket, he was speeding out the main highway to the little road that led to Burke's beer-running headquarters. The car parked conveniently in a niche in the woods along this dusty trail, and the evidence of its presence behind the brush concealed as best they could manage it, McGargle organized his campaign.

"It's 5 o'clock," he said, looking at his watch. "We'll find Burke's house, where the girl may be, and you sneak around so you can get some pictures. Take pictures of everything you can while the light holds out, and for Pete's sake don't get caught. Bring your plates and camera back to the car and wait for me, but it may be hours before I get back. Be ready to go the minute I step on the running board, because I figure we're going to get out of here like a bat out of hell."

The photographer, peeved because of the minute and obvious instructions, made his preparations without comment.

McGargle kept away from the roads, and scouted around in the vicinity of the farm he knew was being used as the center of Burke's illegal liquor operations, until the shades of night provided the camouflage necessary to enable him to get nearer in safety.

He was within a stone's throw while the beer trucks were being loaded for their nightly calls on the "trade," and, picking out Burke, trailed him. It was in his mind that the rum runner knew about or was a partner in Red Mike's kidnaping plot, although Pete, in "spilling his dope," had mentioned Burke solely in connection with the location of the Ainsley girl's prison. McGargle was wrong, for Burke did not know of the plot until later, but after all, it was by trailing the "king of the beer runners," that the reporter was able to find the lost heiress. When the dog set off in pursuit of Amoura and Johnson, leading Burke and his two aides, McGargle was not far behind, and he witnessed the scene between Johnson and his chief, but he did not suspect that the kidnaped girl was lying at that moment almost within his reach.

When the men started back to the house, carrying the dog, still dazed from the blow given by Johnson, the reporter followed, wondering if that damned photographer had gone to sleep, and worrying about whether he would get his story in time for the morning paper. He was confident that he was going to release Amoura Ainsley, and already was thinking of the lead he would dictate for the story, linking her kidnaping with the machinations of Chicago's "many million dollar liquor ring."

When Amoura stumbled over the stump, and set off the racket that caused the dog Carlo to be loosened on her trail again, he was startled, fearful that some one was watching him. He turned back to investigate and reached Amoura's side in time to kill Burke's vicious dog with one blow with the nozzle of his automatic.

Amoura nearly fainted as she caught sight of the giant of a figure with a shining revolver, with the one thought in her mind that she again was a captive. McGargle could see that it was a woman he had saved from the dog's attack, but stood regarding her, uncertain what to do. Amoura started to flee. McGargle caught up with her. "Keep quiet, or you'll have the men who own the dog upon us." It now occurred to her that the man had been sent by Johnson, and she complied, shivering.

While Burke and Johnson and their companions scoured the woods, McGargle squatted in silence in concealment with the girl, oblivious that she was the subject of his quest. But when, a quarter of an hour later, they crept out of the bushes, the pale moonlight revealed in shadow the physiognomy of his companion, and McGargle exclaimed in surprise. "Are you Amoura Ainsley?"

She nodded. The reporter stared at her a moment, then, without another word, grabbed her by the arm, and started rushing across the wood to the field that would enable them to reach the little road and the concealed car. In ten minutes, with McGargle urging on the photographer, the automobile was moving terrifically toward Chicago, and Amoura was answering the reporter's excited queries. For the first time in six years, Bill McGargle was excited.

Imagine the surprise that burst in the news room of the Chicago Record when Bill McGargle, his composure recovered, walked up to the city editor's desk with the disheveled but half smiling Amoura, and said, nonchalantly: "Well, Mac, here's your heiress." He dropped the nonchalance immediately, however, and issued some orders to the man whose orders he usually followed:

"Have 'em get some pictures of her, and get somebody to take her copyrighted story, written exclusively for the Record. I'm going to dictate the lead and stuff to Roberts."

The city editor, after staring at his trusted reporter for a moment, was galvanized into action and in exactly 41 minutes, the Record was "on the street' with an extra edition.

CHEVROLET

Special Exhibit

You are Invited to take a picture trip through an automobile plant

Learn how quality is attained with modern production methods! This week we are making a special photographic exhibit illustrating the precision methods by which quality is achieved in the manufacture of the modern motor car.

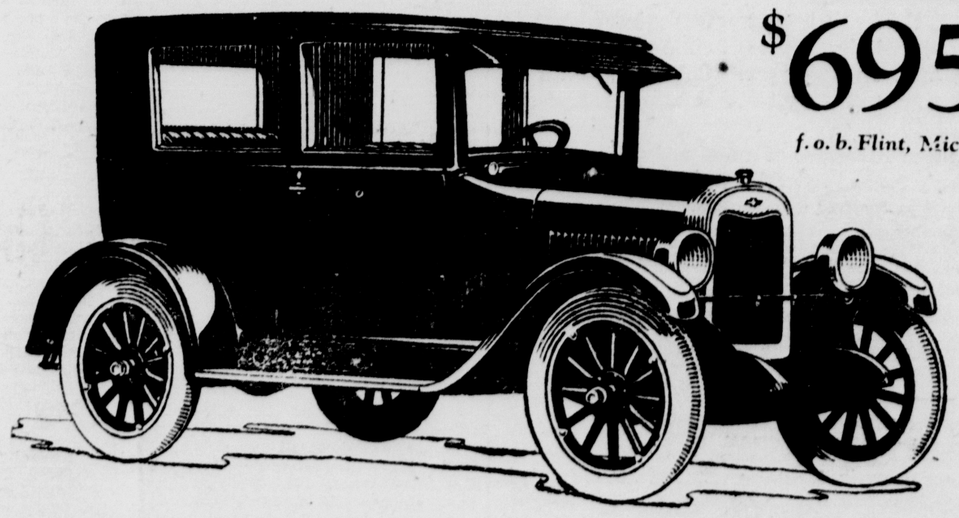

Showing the Reason for Quality at Low Cost

The exhibit consists of 40 remarkable photographs of the most interesting processes in modern automobile manufacture. It will provide the same interesting knowledge that you would get by taking a trip through the plants where Chevrolet cars are built. Each picture is accompanied by a full description of the operation it illustrates. It is an exhibit of unusual interest and value. Bring the children.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1925.

Ballots For Absent Voters

The polls are now open in Columbiana county.

Qualified electors of East Liverpool and other sub-divisions who expect to be absent from their home precinct on Tuesday, November 3, may vote today or any day until Saturday, October 31, under provisions of the absent voters' law.

The state enactment permits the acceptance of applications for absent voters' ballots not earlier than 30 days before the election, while the dead line for the privilege is three days prior to voting day.

Thus an elector who shall be unable to visit the precinct voting place on election day because of absence from the city on business or pleasure need not disfranchise himself. He may vote by making application in person at the election board's office or by mailing his request. In the latter event, ballots are forwarded to his temporary address.

Important issues are to be decided at the November election, and all voters should exercise their right of passing judgment upon them. In addition to the selection of municipal, township, board of education and judicial officers and a municipal court clerk, electors shall vote "yes" or "no" on three proposed state constitutional amendments, a county road bond issue in the amount of $950,000 and a school district tax levy.

Safeguard your suffrage privilege.

A Foreign Waterway

An engineering dream of several centuries is being realized in Europe by the completion of a waterway between the North sea and the Mediterranean, cutting through the big peninsula that constitutes the western end of the continent. Barges comparable to those used on the New York barge canal between the Great Lakes and the Hudson will now be able to pass from sea to sea without the long journey around Spain, France, Belgium and Holland.

North and South Europe will be joined by water directly for the first time in history. It will be an important continental link, promoting commerce and peace.

It has been a big, expensive undertaking, involving an enormous amount of dredging and blasting, including a five-mile tunnel through the Alps.

This example set by the supposedly backward and poverty-stricken Old World should give new stimulus to the oft-discussed project of connecting the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico by means of a barge canal from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi—an easier and cheaper undertaking.

Books In Chicago

Chicago has come pretty close to making a world's record in crime, and that fact has sometimes obscured in the public mind the truth that in many other ways the Windy City is a sensible, wholesome, normal community.

Recently the head of the Chicago public library made public his report of book circulation for 1924. Citizens of Chicago, it is found, borrowed 10,613,978 books from the library in that year. No other large metropolitan library has yet had so great a circulation in a single year.

The critical outsider may be curious as to what sort of books Chicagoans read and whether their reading is harmful or beneficial. Analysis of Chicago readers' tastes would probably reveal about the same book interests the rest of us have.

Less Child Labor Progress

The United States children's bureau recently issued a statement, saying that state legislation to protect child workers has decreased appreciably within the last year. Only nine states are known to have enacted laws relating to the employment of children.

This vindicates those advocates of a national child labor law who maintained that only fear of federal action would spur certain sections of the country to protect their children from unwholesome employment. It apparently refutes the opponents of the federal child labor amendment who announced so emphatically that state action would be sufficient.

State action will be sufficient only when a sound national standard is set and when every state not already up to that standard enacts child labor laws meeting its requirements.

Shell-Food Treasure

There may be something in cocktails, after all. At least, in oyster cocktails.

A New York police captain, indulging in that temperate concoction as is his luxurious custom, suddenly found himself wondering whether the oyster just entering his mouth had swallowed a marble. Doing a little quick police work, he discovered a large pearl, which a jeweler assured him later was worth $1,000.

And that suggests what is probably as good a reason as any for eating oysters. Keep at it long enough, and you're pretty sure to bite on a pearl. "Treasure" has an "r" in it.

But there's usually a flaw in treasure-hunting schemes. If the truth were known, discovering pearls doubtless costs more in dentist bills than all the pearls are worth in the market.

The world's leading crop this year is American tourists.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All the Trains — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Winter comes casually to Gotham—like a ferry nosing into its slip. There is not that mysterious hush that comes with changing season in the small and tranquil town. We become conscious of seasonal change by the quickened life in the theatre.

New songbirds trill at the opera. We catch the spirit of winter on stage back drops of Urban and Norman-Bel Geddes. It is a diluted mixture—as diluted as the pale Broadway orange drink that withers and dies at first approach of chill.

There are no puffs of smoke from high bricked chimneys. We see no trees furred with snow and silhouetted against a leaden sky. There is no beauty in the first snowfall. It means suffering in tenements. And the straggly march of the breadline.

Boyville is denied the joy of finding first rabbit tracks in the snow. There are no coasting parties over Academy hill. We know nothing of those delightful, drowsy winter dusks when thickening shadows circle and life seems suddenly to fade.

From the street we see no pleasant family circles gathered around a glass hanging lamp. Here and there in the little breathing places Winter tries to peep through. A few gnarled oaks, a frozen artificial lake and snow drifts furnish a paltry gesture torusticity.

Along Fifth Avenue there are some open hearths in clubs where giant logs blaze and bored, thumb twiddling men lounge in deep cushioned ease. The roaming Jehus change from high hats of straw to patent leather and shiver on their perches like so many sparrows.

On the East Side winter is a scramble for kindling, carried in make-shift wagons, to keep out frost. Broadway's brilliance is clouded by winter beggars who stand along the curb. Winter is all right for the rich but terrible for a city's poor.

He had had a week's bout with the bottle and they found him with his head buried in his hands over a speakeasy table — a disheveled mess. They told him of the ruin he was bringing upon himself. They lectured him about this and about that and he said not a word until finally he raised his bloated face and hiccoughed:

"I like Burton Holmes better."

Top notch in first night devotion was scored by a Boadwayite who dropped into a flower store and ordered every flower and plant in the place sent to a star in a new play opening that evening. It made four wagon loads. And the story goes the lady slipped out the front way afterward and graced a supper club table with another man and she paid the check. Most first night flowers are sent directly to hospitals after being passed over the footlights.

The man who toots one of the advertising caliopes on the street was a leading organist in a big English church. His downfall came through drink. He is now attempting to climb back to affluence. He told an employment agency his qualifications and said he wanted to take the first job offered no matter what it was. The calliope job was it.

I once applied to the Manhattan Restaurant in Cincinnati for a job as waiter. I talked to the employment manager after waiting for some time in a room that seemed to be filled with men as dull as ditch-water. I explained my lack of experience and willingness along with other virtues. Then he asked me if I had ever been in jail. I had to confess the awful truth. I had. With six other boys I spent 30 minutes in the Gallipolis, O., lock-up for swimming in the creek au natural. So I didn't get the job.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Dirigible Plans Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The Shenandoah disaster, coupled with the failure of the Hawaiian flight, has created a profound stir in aeronautical circles throughout the world. On all sides one hears of the blow struck at aviation by the two debacles, which coming almost simultaneously, have staggered the nation. There has been speculation as to what would be the result of the future of the science, whether it would set it back, and whether it would impair the progress in construction of airships, this last with particular reference to the lighter-than-air craft.

The Shenandoah's destruction, appalling as it was, and disheartening as it was, has not put aeronautical enthusiasts in the doldrums. Rather, it has whetted their interest and instilled them with greater energy. They feel now that their task has been widened in scope, that they must convince the public that aviation has not failed.

The Senandoah's crash finds its parallel in other times and other projects. Witness the failure of the steamboat when it was first launched, Langley's plane when it fell into the Potomas river, the breaking of the Atlantic cable, and many others. All those were heartbreaking, but they were steps in the ascent to success.

So with the Shenandoah. That the air is undoubtedly a medium of future transportation is the opinion of the nation's leaders. And now, on the heels of disaster, comes the announcement that planes are being made for a super-ship which will indeed be a leviathan of the air, surpassing all that have been hitherto launched. This ship, if congress approves its plan, will be built in America.

A New Type of Ship.

According to C. P. Burgess, civilian expert and designer of air craft, employed by the Navy department, and his colleagues, the shorter, fatter ship is the ideal lighter-than-air craft. The long, narrow type, such as the Shenandoah, has proved to be less efficient and more dangerous. In other words, the balloon, from a purely structural point of view, is the safest thing in the air. It may be tossed about by storms of great intensity and still remain afloat. Of course it has no motor power and is helpless in the air, but from the standpoint of shape it is the most adaptable to the air of any craft in existence.

Running along in this channel one comes in contact with the dirigible. Here is the great problem. The Shenandoah demonstrated the danger to a dirigible in a great storm. It could neither run away from it, nor run into it with success. Had it attempted to turn around it would have been struck broadside and destroyed. Had it attempted to rise it would have turned a back somersalt in the air, blown over by the terrific gale, which would have had the whole length of the ship to play with.

All it could do was to run into the storm nose first and take what came. That its construction was not faulty is demonstrated by the fact that its disintegration was general, and that it broke at the points where the greatest strain lay.

The new ship will be shorter and fatter than the Shenandoah, in proportion to its size. It will be four times teh size of the ill-fated craft, but, due ta its shape, will be able to muster from eight to nine times as much power. It will also be faster. Its length probably will be forty-five per cent greater than that of the Shenandoah and its diameter will be almost twice as great. In this lies the secret of its speed.

The Shenandoah, according to experts due to its long, narrow construction, offered more air resistance than a shorter, fatter ship. Such resistance increases with length. Popular opinion would probably not agree with this and would decide in favor of the longer narrow ship for speed. But it must be taken into consideration that a ship of this type has more resistance in proportion to its size than a ship four times its volume, but of the short, fat type, because the resistance in the latter is more evenly distributed.

Probably Seven Motors.

Therefore there is greater strain in the long ship, for it is a delicate thing. The short, fat type is much more hardy, although it has less resistance to take care of. Its speed is in proportion to its power and it would more than likely be able to run away from such a storm as the Shenandoah encountered.

Although the plans for this super-ship are far from completion it is believed that there will be seven motors attached to it. The Shenandoah had but five. But, due to the ship's construction the seven motors will be able to do more with a craft four times as large than the five with the smaller one. Its cabin probably will be built into the hull, as in the Los Angeles, and it probably will have fewer and stronger girders. It will be filled with helium and made of duraluminum alloy out of which the Shenandoah and the Los Angeles were fashioned.

Contemporaneous with these plans is the construction in Great Britain of two super-ships of the same type, which are to be used in passenger service between England and India. One of those ships is called the capitalist ship because it is being built by a private concern. The other is called by the socialist ship because it is being built by the British government.

The socialist ship is to be made of stainless steel, something new in aeronautics, and the capitalist ship of duralumin. The socialist ship has a new mooring system, but is conservative in its design. The capitalist ship is radical in its design. The arrangement hre will be to have all control cabins aft the ship and to build the cabin into the hull, as in the Los Angeles. The theory here is that there is less air resistance.

In the socialist ship the cabin will be hung below the bag and the motors and control cabins will be distributed as usual. Both the ships will be filled with hydrogen and will burn a combination of hydrogen and kerosene as fuel. The advantage of hydrogen over helium is that it has greater lifting power and can be used as fuel in an emergency but this if offset by the fact that it is highly inflammable, a sad thing in the case of the ill-starred Roma. There will be fewer and stronger girders in these ships, which probably will be completed in two years.

The American super-ship is expected to be 8,000,000 cubic feet in volume. On the basis that the Shenandoah was about 2,000,000 cubic feet in volume and cost approximately $2,000,000, the new one will cost $8,000,000. Its construction is, of course, contingent on the decision of congress. Navy men expect the question to be laid before the next session and should the plan be accepted, preparations for construction will be rushed.

The Shenandoah's doom does not appear to have daunted the pioneers of the air. If they have their way, America may soon have a fleet of aerial leviathans of undreamed-of size and strength.

Ballots For Absent Voters

The polls are now open in Columbiana county.

Qualified electors of East Liverpool and other sub-divisions who expect to be absent from their home precinct on Tuesday, November 3, may vote today or any day until Saturday, October 31, under provisions of the absent voters' law.

The state enactment permits the acceptance of applications for absent voters' ballots not earlier than 30 days before the election, while the dead line for the privilege is three days prior to voting day.

Thus an elector who shall be unable to visit the precinct voting place on election day because of absence from the city on business or pleasure need not disfranchise himself. He may vote by making application in person at the election board's office or by mailing his request. In the latter event, ballots are forwarded to his temporary address.

Important issues are to be decided at the November election, and all voters should exercise their right of passing judgment upon them. In addition to the selection of municipal, township, board of education and judicial officers and a municipal court clerk, electors shall vote "yes" or "no" on three proposed state constitutional amendments, a county road bond issue in the amount of $950,000 and a school district tax levy.

Books In Chicago

Chicago has come pretty close to making a world's record in crime, and that fact has sometimes obscured in the public mind the truth that in many other ways the Windy City is a sensible, wholesome, normal community.

Recently the head of the Chicago public library made public his report of book circulation for 1924. Citizens of Chicago, it is found, borrowed 10,613,978 books from the library in that year. No other large metropolitan library has yet had so great a circulation in a single year.

The critical outsider may be curious as to what sort of books Chicagoans read and whether their reading is harmful or beneficial. Analysis of Chicago readers' tastes would probably reveal about the same book interests the rest of us have.

Less Child Labor Progress

The United States children's bureau recently issued a statement, saying that state legislation to protect child workers has decreased appreciably within the last year. Only nine states are known to have enacted laws relating to the employment of children.

This vindicates those advocates of a national child labor law who maintained that only fear of federal action would spur certain sections of the country to protect their children from unwholesome employment. It apparently refutes the opponents of the federal child labor amendment who announced so emphatically that state action would be sufficient.

State action will be sufficient only when a sound national standard is set and when every state not already up to that standard enacts child labor laws meeting its requirements.

A New York police captain, indulging in that temperate concoction as is his luxurious custom, suddenly found himself wondering whether the oyster just entering his mouth had swallowed a marble. Doing a little quick police work, he discovered a large pearl, which a jeweler assured him later was worth $1,000.

And that suggests what is probably as good a reason as any for eating oysters. Keep at it long enough, and you're pretty sure to bite on a pearl. "Treasure" has an "r" in it.

But there's usually a flaw in treasure-hunting schemes. If the truth were known, discovering pearls doubtless costs more in dentist bills than all the pearls are worth in the market.

The world's leading crop this year is American tourists.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Winter comes casually to Gotham—like a ferry nosing into its slip. There is not that mysterious hush that comes with changing season in the small and tranquil town. We become conscious of seasonal change by the quickened life in the theatre.

New songbirds trill at the opera. We catch the spirit of winter on stage back drops of Urban and Norman-Bel Geddes. It is a dilued mixture—as diluted as the pale Broadway orange drink that withers and dies at first approach of chill.

There are no puffs of smoke from high bricked chimneys. We see no trees farred with snow and silhouetted against a leaden sky. There is no beauty in the first snowfall. It means suffering in tenements. And the straggly march of the breadline.

Boyville is denied the joy of finding first rabbt tracks in the snow. There are no coasting parties over Academy hill. We know nothing of those delightful, drowsy winter dusks when thickening shadows circle and life seems suddenly to fade.

From the street we see no pleasant family circles gathered around a glass hanging lamp. Here and there in the little breathing places Winter tries to peep through. A few gnarled oaks, a frozen artificial lake and snow drifts furnish a paltry gesture torusticity.

Along Fifth Avenue there are some open hearths in clubs where giant logs blaze and bored, thumb twiddling men lounge in deep cushioned ease. The roaming Jehus change from high hats of straw to patent feather and shiver on their perches like so many sparrows.

On the East Side winter is a scramble for kindling, carried in make-shift wagons, to keep out frost. Broadway's brilliance is clouded by winter beggars who stand along the curb. Winter is all right for the rich but terrible for a city's poor.

He had had a week's bout with the bottle and they found him with his head buried in his hands over a speakeasy table — a disheveled mess. They told him of the ruin he was bringing upon himself. They lectured him about this and about that and he said not a word until finally he raised his bloated face and hiccoughed:

"I like Burton Holmes better."

Top notch in first night devotion was scored by a Boadwayite who dropped into a flower store and ordered every flower and plant in the place sent to a star in a new play opening that evening. It made four wagon loads. And the story goes the lady slipped out the front way afterward and graced a supper club table with another man and she paid the check. Most first night flowers are sent directly to hospitals after being passed over the footlights.

The man who toots one of the advertising caliopes on the street was a leading organist in a big English church. His downfall came through drink. He is now attempting to climb back to affluence. He told an employment agency his qualifications and said he wanted to take the first job offered no matter what it was. The calliope job was it.

I once applied to the Manhattan Restaurant in Cincinnati for a job as waiter. I talked to the employment manager after waiting for some time in a room that seemed to be filled with men as dull as ditch-water. I explained my lack of experience and willingness along with other virtues. Then he asked me if I had ever been in jail. I had to confess the awful truth. I had. With six other boys I spent 30 minutes in the Gallipolis, O., lock-up for swimming in the creek au natural. So I didn't get the job.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Dirigible Plans Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The Shenandoah disaster, coupled with the failure of the Hawaiian flight, has created a profound stir in aeronautical circles throughout the world. On all sides one hears of the blow struck at aviation by the two debacles, which coming almost simultaneously, have staggered the nation. There has been speculation as to what would be the result of the future of the science, whether it would set it back, and whether it would impair the progress in construction of airships, this last with particular reference to the lighter-than-air craft.

The Shenandoah's destruction, appalling as it was, and disheartening is it was, has not put aeronautical enthusiasts in the doldrums. Rather, it has whetted their interest and instilled them with greater energy. They feel now that their task has been widened in scope, that they must convince the public that aviation has not failed.

The Senandoah's crash finds its parallel in other times and other projects. Witness the failure of the steamboat when it was first launched, Langley's plane when it fell into the Potomas river, the breaking of the Atlantic cable, and many others. All those were heartbreaking, but they were steps in the ascent to success.

So with the Shenandoah. That the air is undoubtedly a medium of future transportation is the opinion of the nation's leaders. And now, on the heels of disaster, comes the announcement that planes are being made for a super-ship which will indeed be a leviathan of the air, surpassing all that have been hitherto launched. This ship, if congress approves its plan, will be built in America.

A New Type of Ship.

According to C. P. Burgess, civilian expert and designer of air craft, employed by the Navy department, and his colleagues, the shorter, fatter ship is the ideal lighter-than-air craft. The long, narrow type, such as the Shenandoah, has proved to be less efficient and more dangerous. In other words, the balloon, from a purely structural point of view, is the safest thing in the air. It may be tossed about by storms of great intensity and still remain afloat. Of course it has no motor power and is helpless in the air, but from the standpoint of shape it is the most adaptable to the air of any craft in existence.

Running along in this channel one comes in contact with the dirigible. Here is the great problem. The Shenandoah demonstrated the danger to a dirigible in a great storm. It could neither run away from it, nor run into it with success. Had it attempted to turn around it would have been struck broadside and destroyed. Had it attempted to rise it would have turned a back somersalt in the air, blown over by the terrific gale, which would have had the whole length of the ship to play with.

All it could do was to run into the storm nose first and take what came. That its construction was not faulty is demonstrated by the fact that its disintegration was general, and that it broke at the points where the greatest strain lay.

The new ship will be shorter and fatter than the Shenandoah, in proportion to its size. It will be four times teh size of the ill-fated craft, but, due ta its shape, will be able to muster from eight to nine times as much power. It will also be faster. Its length probably will be forty-five per cent greater than that of the Shenandoah and its diameter will be almost twice as great. In this lies the secret of its speed.

The Shenandoah, according to experts due to its long, narrow construction, offered more air resistance than a shorter, fatter ship. Such resistance increases with length. Popular opinion would probably not agree with this and would decide in favor of the longer narrow ship for speed. But it must be taken into consideration that a ship of this type has more resistance in proportion to its size than a ship four times its volume, but of the short, fat type, because the resistance in the latter is more evenly distributed.

Probably Seven Motors.

Therefore there is greater strain in the long ship, for it is a delicate thing. The short, fat type is much more hardy, although it has less resistance to take care of. Its speed is in proportion to its power and it would more than likely be able to run away from such a storm as the Shenandoah encountered.

Although the plans for this super-ship are far from completion it is believed that there will be seven motors attached to it. The Shenandoah had but five. But, due to the ship's construction the seven motors will be able to do more with a craft four times as large than the five with the smaller one. Its cabin probably will be built into the hull, as in the Los Angeles, and it probably will have fewer and stronger girders. It will be filled with helium and made of duraluminum alloy out of which the Shenandoah and the Los Angeles were fashioned.

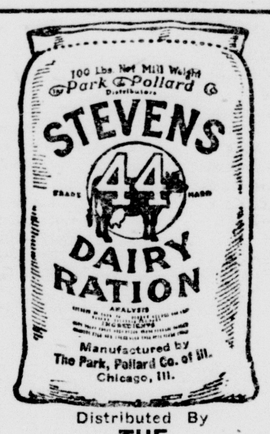

Contemporaneous with these plans is the construction in Great Britain of two super-ships of the same type, which are to be used in passenger service between England and India. One of those ships is called the capitalist ship because it is being built by a private concern. The other is called by the socialist ship because it is being built by the British government.

The socialist ship is to be made of stainless steel, something new in aeronautics, and the capitalist ship of duralumin. The socialist ship has a new mooring system, but is conservative in its design. The capitalist ship is radical in its design. The arrangement hre will be to have all control cabins aft the ship and to build the cabin into the hull, as in the Los Angeles. The theory here is that there is less air resistance.

In the socialist ship the cabin will be hung below the bag and the motors and control cabins will be distributed as usual. Both the ships will be filled with hydrogen and will burn a combination of hydrogen and kerosene as fuel. The advantage of hydrogen over helium is that it has greater lifting power and can be used as fuel in an emergency but this if offset by the fact that it is highly inflammable, a sad thing in the case of the ill-starred Roma. There will be fewer and stronger girders in these ships, which probably will be completed in two years.

The American super-ship is expected to be 8,000,000 cubic feet in volume. On the basis that the Shenandoah was about 2,000,000 cubic feet in volume and cost approximately $2,000,000, the new one will cost $8,000,000. Its construction is, of course, contingent on the decision of congress. Navy men expect the question to be laid before the next session and should the plan be accepted, preparations for construction will be rushed.

The Shenandoah's doom does not appear to have daunted the pioneers of the air. If they have their way, America may soon have a fleet of air leviathans of undreamed-of size and strength.

Feminine Hobo Proves New One on Texas Cop

San Antonio, Texas — Turnkey Keuhn escorted a class of lawbreaker new to San Antonio to her cell Sunday night. It was the veteran officer's first introduction with a feminine hobo as well as special agent's catch of the species in the Southern Pacific yards. The honors rest lightly upon the twenty-year-old girl as she ponders over fate.

Noah's Ark Carries Strange Assortment Of Beasts to Paris

PARIS.—Guesse has arrived at the Jardin des Plantes and now the Paris Zoo has a while elephant on its hands.

Guesse is not only white but he is a dwarf and it took him three months to reach Paris from Kribi, West Africa. Guesse brought along a cousin of his, a dwarf also but not white. Seraphine is Guesse's cousin's name and she is a one-year-old hippopotamus. The zoo's veterinary reports Guesse and cousin are doing nicely.

Along with Guesse and Seraphine on the steamer Poiseul that brought them up from Kribi was Julien, a young lion that promises to be a superb representative of his race, says Lieut Girard, who had charge of the Noah's Ark, on its way to France.

There were also antelopes, monkeys, ant eaters and parrots. The stevedores reported that, strange as it may seem the parrots did not cry "So this is Paris!" as they were being unloaded.

K. of C. Lodge Plans Dance, Card Party On Columbus Day

Carroll council No. 509, Knights of Columbus, will celebrate Columbus Day with a dance and card party in the lodge ballroom and parlors in the Fowler building, Diamond.

Sayre's seven-piece orchestra will furnish music for the dancing, which will be featured in the ballroom from 8:30 o'clock until midnight. Trophies will be awarded for euchre, five hundred and bridge.

Grand Knight George H. White and Lecturer William L. Magill are chairmen of the committees in charge of arrangements. The affair will mark the formal opening of the fall social season.

Miss Edna Payne Entertains.

Employes of the F. W. Woolworth company were recently entertained at the home of Miss Edna Payne, of Wood avenue, Wellsville. The social hours were spent with music, games and dancing, after which a luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Mildred and Loyezella McComas.

Piano and vocal solos were given by Misses Thelma Greer and Mildred McComas.

Dinner for Lodge Members.

White Rose lodge of Beaver Falls, Pa., will be special guests at a dinner and entertainment to be given Tuesday by White Rose lodge No. 25, Daughters of St. George, of this city. Dinner will be served at 5 o'clock in the parish house of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, after which the guests will go to the lodge rooms in the Fowler building for an entertainment.

Missionary Society Session.

The monthly meeting of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. B. V. Riggins, of Blakely street. Miss Florence Batey was in charge of the devotionals, after which Miss Grace McNutt gave vocal solos, accompanied by Miss Mary Welsh. Mrs. Powell, of Steubenville, outlined the work for the year.

During the social hours refreshments were served by the social committee, which included Mrs. Riggins, Mrs. Harold Thompson, Mrs. Frank Usler, Mrs. Jerry Jaccaud and Mrs. C. D. Manypenny.

Mrs. J. D. Moore Hostess.

The Loyal Workers' class of the First Church of Christ were entertained with a masquerade party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. D. Moore, of Thompson avenue. The home was decorated with a color scheme of orange and black, intermingled with Japanese lanterns. Mrs. Collin Davis was awarded a trophy for guessing "Whose Who." Games and music were the diversions of the social hours. It was decided to wage a contest with the Loyal Workers' class of the Chester Christian church.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Bickell and Miss Emma Glunt.

Special guests were Mrs. B. R. Johnson and Mrs. Clifford Frankhouser.

Noah's Ark Carries Strange Assortment Of Beasts to Paris

PARIS.—Guesse has arrived at the Jardin des Plantes and now the Paris Zoo has a while elephant on its hands.

Guesse is not only white but he is a dwarf and it took him three months to reach Paris from Kribi, West Africa. Guesse brought along a cousin of his, a dwarf also but not white. Seraphine is Guesse's cousin's name and she is a one-year-old hippopotamus. The zoo's veterinary reports Guesse and cousin are doing nicely.

Along with Guesse and Seraphine on the steamer Poiseul that brought them up from Kribi was Julien, a young lion that promises to be a superb representative of his race, says Lieut Girard, who had charge of the Noah's Ark, on its way to France.

There were also antelopes, monkeys, ant eaters and parrots. The stevedores reported that, strange as it may seem the parrots did not cry "So this is Paris!" as they were being unloaded.

NO DECISION AT ROAD MEET

Liverpool-Palestine Routes Discussed at Lisbon.

No decision as to the routing of the proposed new East Liverpool-East Palestine inter-county highway, hearing on which was conducted at Lisbon yesterday, will not be announced by the state highway department for approximately two months.

Three routes for the proposed road between Fredericktown and East Liverpool were suggested at the hearing conducted by R. T. Perry, a representative of the state highway department. The route north from Fredericktown, through Anchor and Negley, was not in dispute.

Attorney S. W. Crawford favored the west side route into Fredericktown, but did not oppose the eastern route which leaves the main road at what is known as Hazel Run, about a mile from Calcutta. Attorney W. H. Spence suggested what he claimed to be a shorter road which would leave the village of Fredericktown off the road entirely. This route would necessitate the construction of a bridge.

Attorney L. M. Kyes and W. C. George, East Palestine pottery manufacturer, urged the early completion of the road. The local Chamber of Commerce also requested that the improvement be made as soon as possible.

About eight miles of the road remain to be improved. Of this, nearly two and one-half miles have been graded but not surfaced, the work having been done by Middleton township farmers with financial assistance from East Liverpool and East Palestine business people.

Horse-Drawn Vehicle

nation of this nuisance that this ordinance was framed."

Farrall announced his opposition to the ordinance because he said it was a case of the expressman with a truck attempting to drive the poor man with a horse and wagon out of business. "The truck owner is trying to monopolize the express business by putting the little fellow out of the way," he declared.

Four Oppose Plan.

"The groceryman with his delivery wagon and the farmer, who comes to town with his produce, would be affected the same as any one else," said Solon Eardley.

"It was my plan to exempt grocers and farmers from payment of the tax," said Kerr.

"That would be class legislation and the courts would declare it unconstitutional," explained Brokaw. "For that reason, no one was exempted in the ordinance which you asked me to prepare."

Upon roll call of a motion to take up the ordinance for consideration, Kerr and Chambers supported it, while Farrall, Eardley, Hayes and Larcombe voted against it. Councilman Rowe did not attend the meeting.

Non-Resident Employes.

Council also sought to enact an ordinance, prepared upon instructions from Councilman Kerr, requiring that all city employes reside within the corporate limits, but this move was blocked when Solicitor Brokaw again ruled that such legislation was not permissible under the state code.

Kerr said that certain employes of the street department and the water works department do not live within the city. One man, he declared, was a non-resident of the state and had refused to change his place of residence.

Solon Hayes said that such an ordinance might bar the city from employing expert help, in the event it was needed.. Kerr said that he had "no axe to grind," but believed that men who secured their livelihood from the taxpayers should reside in the district in which they worked.

"If we cannot enact this ordinance we should at least instruct our department heads to require that their employes reside in town," said Kerr. "Surely we have that much authority."

Right of Way for Patrol.

"The city should have jurisdiction over its employes," Farrall declared. "It does not seem fair to give employment to some one who lives outside of town while those who live in town and pay taxes are jobless."

Farrall submitted a motion that the ordinance be laid over for two weeks pending an investigation. The motion was carried. After roll call, Kerr offered a motion that the service director be instructed to notify all city employes that they must become citizens of the city within 60 days or their jobs would automatically become vacant.

Farrall opposed this move, asserting that it would be a boycott on labor. The motion was declared lost for lack of a second.

An ordinance giving the police patrol the right of way over all vehicles and pedestrians on the streets at all times was passed on first reading, but was held up on suspension of the rules when Farrall opposed it. The measure provides a fine of from $5 to $25 for violations.

Street-Sidewalk Ordinance.

An ordinance regulating the "replacing of paving after street and sidewalks have been taken up," was passed upon three readings under suspension of the rules. Persons who tear up streets will be required to use a three-inch concrete base after the earth has been tamped before bricks are laid, under terms of the ordinance. A penalty of from $10 to $25 is provided for the first offense.

Another measure providing for the levying of special assessments and the issuance of bonds for the sewering of Springdale street and another determining to proceed with sewering of Hazel street and Edgewood avenue were also passed. Council questioned whether the money would be available to cover the city's share for the proposed sewer improvement jobs.

The solons also decided to complete the Mulberry street resurfacing without the construction of a new concrete culvert over Leak Run. The proposed culvert would cost approximately $1,000 and inasmuch as bonds must be sold to cover this expense the improvement could not be completed before next year.

May Lease State Line Tract.

The solicitor was instructed to prepare legislation providing for the leasing of a tract, 60x100 feet, at the state line on the new Midland, East Liverpool road. Attorney G. Y. Travis appeared before the solons, representing a client who plans to erect a gasoline filling station there. The property must be leased to the highest bidder.

A petition was submitted by Klondyke residents, urging the grading and draining of the hillside street north of Harvey avenue at Putman street. The petition was filed, and the street department instructed to make the necessary repairs to the street as soon as possible.

The C. C. Tompson Pottery company, in a communication suggested that the sidewalk on College street from Railroad crossing to Third street be kept open for the accommodation of their employes. Council ordered that the request be complied with.

Councilman Hayes declared that street lights were being turned off too early in the morning and that the electric light company's attention should be called to the matter. He urged that the lights be turned on later in the evening and ing.

TODAY

ant than anything mentioned in your brilliant Omaha speech, is the importance of keeping this country prepared for attack, and able to repel it.

The things can to done, necessary preparations established and maintained, fortunately for our national program of economy, at little expense, far less than the amounts now squandered by incompetency, or worse, in the army and navy departments.

The latest asinine, intensely dangerous proposition is that the United States should sign an international "protocol" forbidding us, pledging ourselves, against the use of chemicals, including poison gases and other gases, in future warfare.

No nation has yet signed the protocol. France declares that she will not sign. The French being intelligent will not put handcuffs on their own wrists, or hamper themselves in any way.

The Japanese will not sign that protocol. Their able chemists are carrying on intensive studies of chemical warfare, manufacturing poison gases, of all kinds at this moment.

It is predicted, and there is unfortunately a basis for the prediction, that the United States will sign the protocol. If it does so, and if only one other minor nation, Siam, for instance, should so sign, the United States will be bound by word of honor to refrain from use of chemicals in war and to discontinue the chemical research and experimental work now carried on by our war department.

Senators inclined to approve the protocol, tying the hands of Uncle Sam, depriving him of the most important modern weapon, while leaving it to his enemies, are advised to reach the little book, "Callinicus," written by J. B. S. Haldane, an able English chemist, who went through the war, in the trenches, got his share of gas, and understands the subject that he discusses.

Chemical warfare in addition to being modern warfare is the least brutal, most merciful form of war, thus far devised human brutality. Chemical warfare could render unconscious the inhabitants of a whole city capturing without killing them. The old style war was to burn the city, kill the men and women. The poison gases, so called, mustard gas, tea gas and other gases are more merciful than powder or bullets, just as powder and bullets are more merciful than weapons of an earlier kind.

partment work," said Cline. "Records kept at the police desk will prove this.

"I will show the committee some of the bills for the repair work on my car. Recently I spent $145 for repairs to my machine which broke down while I was answering a call. I have also bought three or four new tubes and a battery for the car for which the city has not been asked to pay.

"The speedometer on the machine will show approximately 15,000 miles. More than one-half of this mileage has been run up in police department work. Had my car not been on hand the police would not have been able to answer half of their calls before the new patrol was purchased.

"Sure, I am ready for an investigation. I have a few things to tell this committee which they may not know."

Cline Under Civil Service.

The committee did not indicate last night when they would begin their investigation, but a report probably will be drafted before the next meeting of the legislative body, which will be held on October 23.

Cline is under civil service and can be removed only by the director of public safety with whom charges must be filed. He has the right of a hearing before the civil service commission.

Mayor Brown declared last night that council had no jurisdiction over members of the police department who are under the supervision of the safety director. He asserted that Cline never took gasoline from the city hall tank unless a report of it was made in the records and that the gasoline which was taken was used for police department work.

FIND BUNFIELD IS NOT GUILTY

Acquited on Stolen Property Count; Fined on Liquor Charge.

James Bunfield, of Madison township, indicted at the last session of the grand jury on a charge of concealing stolen property, was found not guilty by a jury in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday afternoon.

Bunfield, arrested here several weeks ago after police are alleged to have found parts of a dismantled automobile on his farm near McCurdy's stop on the Y. & O., was placed on trial before Judge Moore Thursday morning. The case was given to the jury at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, their verdict being returned three hours later.

The defendant was represented by Attorney W. A. O'Grady of Wellsville, while Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes and his assistant, J. E. Baucknecht, directed the prosecution.

Immediately upon his acquittal, the prisoner was re-arrested by William Cline, turnkey at the city jail, on a liquor possession charge which was filed here. He was brought to East Liverpool last night and upon arraignment before Mayor Brown was fined $50 and costs. Unable to pay the fine, he was remanded to jail.

Several cases of what police say was home brew was confiscated at the Bunfield house at the time of the raid. Bunfield pleaded guilty to the liquor possession charge following his arrest, but the mayor reserved his decision in the case until last night.

SLAYER OF MOTHER FACES PRISON

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Tracey Westmoreland, 14, today faced a prison term of from 5 to 14 years for killing his mother. He was convicted on a second degree murder charge.

Judge J. W. Eary ruled that the first five years are to be spent in the State Industrial school and the remainder in the state penitentiary.

The boy pleaded that the shooting of his mother was accidental, but his sister, Mary, who was present when Mrs. Westmoreland was killed, said Tracey deliberately shot his mother because she disciplined him.

GRAND JURORS ARE SUMMONED

Taxi Driver's Death Will be Investigated Tuesday.

Witnesses have been summoned by Sheriff George Wright for the special session of the grand jury, to be held in Lisbon, Tuesday, for the purpose of investigating the fatal shooting of Frank R. McLain, 25, fleet manager for the McLain Yellow Cab agency here on Saturday night, Oct. 3.

Charged with murder in connection with the shooting which occurred in the home of Miss Elizabeth Anderson, his aunt, Second and Jackson streets, George Anderson, 43, automobile salesman and former Kenyon college football star, is a prisoner in the county jail.

Anderson, who told police he did not remember anything about the shooting, was bound over to court by Mayor Charles Brown after he pleaded not guilty and waived a preliminary hearing.

The shooting, which followed the receipt of a taxicab call, occurred in Anderson's bed room after the taxi driver had assisted his passenger into the house and up the stairway to the second floor.

McLain, who was shot through the abdomen, died in the City hospital five hours later.

NO DECISION AT ROAD MEET

Liverpool-Palestine Routes Discussed at Lisbon.

No decision as to the routing of the proposed new East Liverpool-East Palestine inter-county highway, hearing on which was conducted at Lisbon yesterday, will not be announced by the state highway department for approximately two months.

Three routes for the proposed road between Fredericktown and East Liverpool were suggested at the hearing conducted by R. T. Perry, a representative of the state highway department. The route north from Fredericktown, through Anchor and Negley, was not in dispute.

Attorney S. W. Crawford favored the west side route into Fredericktown, but did not oppose the eastern route which leaves the main road at what is known as Hazel Run, about a mile from Calcutta. Attorney W. H. Spence suggested what he claimed to be a shorter road which would leave the village of Fredericktown off the road entirely. This route would necessitate the construction of a bridge.

Attorney L. M. Kyes and W. C. George, East Palestine pottery manufacturer, urged the early completion of the road. The local Chamber of Commerce also requested that the improvement be made as soon as possible.

About eight miles of the road remain to be improved. Of this, nearly two and one-half miles have been graded but not surfaced, the work having been done by Middleton township farmers with financial assistance from East Liverpool and East Palestine business people.

Horse-Drawn Vehicle

nation of this nuisance that this ordinance was framed."

Farrall announced his opposition to the ordinance because he said it was a case of the expressman with a truck attempting to drive the poor man with a horse and wagon out of business. "The truck owner is trying to monopolize the express business by putting the little fellow out of the way," he declared.

Four Oppose Plan.

"The groceryman with his delivery wagon and the farmer, who comes to town with his produce, would be affected the same as any one else," said Solon Eardley.

"It was my plan to exempt grocers and farmers from payment of the tax," said Kerr.

"That would be class legislation and the courts would declare it unconstitutional," explained Brokaw. "For that reason, no one was exempted in the ordinance which you asked me to prepare."

Upon roll call of a motion to take up the ordinance for consideration, Kerr and Chambers supported it, while Farrall, Eardley, Hayes and Larcombe voted against it. Councilman Rowe did not attend the meeting.

Non-Resident Employes.

Council also sought to enact an ordinance, prepared upon instructions from Councilman Kerr, requiring that all city employes reside within the corporate limits, but this move was blocked when Solicitor Brokaw again ruled that such legislation was not permissible under the state code.

Kerr said that certain employes of the street department and the water works department do not live within the city. One man, he declared, was a non-resident of the state and had refused to change his place of residence.

Solon Hayes said that such an ordinance might bar the city from employing expert help, in the event it was needed. Kerr said that he had "no axe to grind," but believed that men who secured their livelihood from the taxpayers should reside in the district in which they worked.

"If we cannot enact this ordinance we should at least instruct our department heads to require that their employes reside in town," said Kerr. "Surely we have that much authority."

Right of Way for Patrol.

"The city should have jurisdiction over its employes," Farrall declared. "It does not seem fair to give employment to some one who lives outside of town while those who live in town and pay taxes are jobless."

Farrall submitted a motion that the ordinance be laid over for two weeks pending an investigation. The motion was carried. After roll call, Kerr offered a motion that the service director be instructed to notify all city employes that they must become citizens of the city within 60 days or their jobs would automatically become vacant.

Farrall opposed this move, asserting that it would be a boycott on labor. The motion was declared lost for lack of a second.

An ordinance giving the police patrol the right of way over all vehicles and pedestrians on the streets at all times was passed on first reading, but was held up on suspension of the rules when Farrall opposed it. The measure provides a fine of from $5 to $25 for violations.

Street-Sidewalk Ordinance.

An ordinance regulating the "replacing of paving after street and sidewalks have been taken up," was passed upon three readings under suspension of the rules. Persons who tear up streets will be required to use a three-inch concrete base after the earth has been tamped before bricks are laid, under terms of the ordinance. A penalty of from $10 to $25 is provided for the first offense.

Another measure providing for the levying of special assessments and the issuance of bonds for the sewering of Springdale street and another determining to proceed with sewering of Hazel street and Edgewood avenue were also passed. Council questioned whether the money would be available to cover the city's share for the proposed sewer improvement jobs.

The solons also decided to complete the Mulberry street resurfacing without the construction of a new concrete culvert over Leak Run. The proposed culvert would cost approximately $1,000 and inasmuch as bonds must be sold to cover this expense the improvement could not be completed before next year.

May Lease State Line Tract.

The solicitor was instructed to prepare legislation providing for the leasing of a tract, 60x100 feet, at the state line on the new Midland, East Liverpool road. Attorney G. Y. Travis appeared before the solons, representing a client who plans to erect a gasoline filling station there. The property must be leased to the highest bidder.

A petition was submitted by Klondyke residents, urging the grading and draining of the hillside street north of Harvey avenue at Putman street. The petition was filed, and the street department instructed to make the necessary repairs to the street as soon as possible.

The C. C. Tompson Pottery company, in a communication suggested that the sidewalk on College street from Railroad crossing to Third street be kept open for the accommodation of their employes. Council ordered that the request be complied with.

Councilman Hayes declared that street lights were being turned off too early in the morning and that the electric light company's attention should be called to the matter. He urged that the lights be turned on later in the evening and ing.

TODAY

ant than anything mentioned in your brilliant Omaha speech, is the importance of keeping this country prepared for attack, and able to repel it.

The things can to done, necessary preparations established and maintained, fortunately for our national program of economy, at little expense, far less than the amounts now squandered by incompetency, or worse, in the army and navy departments.

The latest asinine, intensely dangerous proposition is that the United States should sign an international "protocol" forbidding us, pledging ourselves, against the use of chemicals, including poison gases and other gases, in future warfare.

No nation has yet signed the protocol. France declares that she will not sign. The French being intelligent will not put handcuffs on their own wrists, or hamper themselves in any way.

The Japanese will not sign that protocol. Their able chemists are carrying on intensive studies of chemical warfare, manufacturing poison gases, of all kinds at this moment.

It is predicted, and there is unfortunately a basis for the prediction, that the United States will sign the protocol. If it does so, and if only one other minor nation, Siam, for instance, should so sign, the United States will be bound by word of honor to refrain from use of chemicals in war and to discontinue the chemical research and experimental work now carried on by our war department.

Senators inclined to approve the protocol, tying the hands of Uncle Sam, depriving him of the most important modern weapon, while leaving it to his enemies, are advised to reach the little book, "Callinicus," written by J. B. S. Haldane, an able English chemist, who went through the war, in the trenches, got his share of gas, and understands the subject that he discusses.

Chemical warfare in addition to being modern warfare is the least brutal, most merciful form of war, thus far devised human brutality. Chemical warfare could render unconscious the inhabitants of a whole city capturing without killing them. The old style war was to burn the city, kill the men and women. The poison gases, so called, mustard gas, tea gas and other gases are more merciful than powder or bullets, just as powder and bullets are more merciful than weapons of an earlier kind.

partment work," said Cline. "Records kept at the police desk will prove this.

"I will show the committee some of the bills for the repair work on my car. Recently I spent $145 for repairs to my machine which broke down while I was answering a call. I have also bought three or four new tubes and a battery for the car for which the city has not been asked to pay.

"The speedometer on the machine will show approximately 15,000 miles. More than one-half of this mileage has been run up in police department work. Had my car not been on hand the police would not have been able to answer half of their calls before the new patrol was purchased.

"Sure, I am ready for an investigation. I have a few things to tell this committee which they may not know."

Cline Under Civil Service.

The committee did not indicate last night when they would begin their investigation, but a report probably will be drafted before the next meeting of the legislative body, which will be held on October 23.

Cline is under civil service and can be removed only by the director of public safety with whom charges must be filed. He has the right of a hearing before the civil service commission.

Mayor Brown declared last night that council had no jurisdiction over members of the police department who are under the supervision of the safety director. He asserted that Cline never took gasoline from the city hall tank unless a report of it was made in the records and that the gasoline which was taken was used for police department work.

FIND BUNFIELD IS NOT GUILTY

Acquitted on Stolen Property Count; Fined on Liquor Charge.

James Bunfield, of Madison township, indicted at the last session of the grand jury on a charge of concealing stolen property, was found not guilty by a jury in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday afternoon.

Bunfield, arrested here several weeks ago after police are alleged to have found parts of a dismantled automobile on his farm near McCurdy's stop on the Y. & O., was placed on trial before Judge Moore Thursday morning. The case was given to the jury at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, their verdict being returned three hours later.

The defendant was represented by Attorney W. A. O'Grady of Wellsville, while Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes and his assistant, J. E. Baucknecht, directed the prosecution.

Immediately upon his acquittal, the prisoner was re-arrested by William Cline, turnrnkey at the city jail, on a liquor possession charge which was filed here. He was brought to East Liverpool last night and upon arraignment before Mayor Brown was fined $50 and costs. Unable to pay the fine, he was remanded to jail.

Several cases of what police say was home brew was confiscated at the Bunfield house at the time of the raid. Bunfield pleaded guilty to the liquor possession charge following his arrest, but the mayor reserved his decision in the case until last night.

SLAYER OF MOTHER FACES PRISON

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Tracey Westmoreland, 14, today faced a prison term of from 5 to 14 years for killing his mother. He was convicted on a second degree murder charge.

Judge J. W. Eary ruled that the first five years are to be spent in the State Industrial school and the remainder in the state penitentiary.

The boy pleaded that the shooting of his mother was accidental, but his sister, Mary, who was present when Mrs. Westmoreland was killed, said Tracey deliberately shot his mother because she disciplined him.

British Trade Union Official Dies.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 10.—Fred Bramley, secretary of the British Trades Union congress since 1923, died here today after a brief illness.

GRAND JURORS ARE SUMMONED

Taxi Driver's Death Will be Investigated Tuesday.

Witnesses have been summoned by Sheriff George Wright for the special session of the grand jury, to be held in Lisbon, Tuesday, for the purpose of investigating the fatal shooting of Frank R. McLain, 25, fleet manager for the McLain Yellow Cab agency here on Saturday night, Oct. 3.

Charged with murder in connection with the shooting which occurred in the home of Miss Elizabeth Anderson, his aunt, Second and Jackson streets, George Anderson, 43, automobile salesman and former Kenyon college football star, is a prisoner in the county jail.

Anderson, who told police he did not remember anything about the shooting, was bound over to court by Mayor Charles Brown after he pleaded not guilty and waived a preliminary hearing.

The shooting, which followed the receipt of a taxicab call, occurred in Anderson's bedroom after the taxi driver had assisted his passenger into the house and up the stairway to the second floor.

McLain, who was shot through the abdomen, died in the City hospital five hours later.

MINE WORKERS TO BEGIN DRIVE

Union Officials Plan to Organize State Coal Fields.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — Rumors are rampant here of a gigantic drive on the part of the United Mine Workers of America to gain a grip on the southern West Virginia non-union coal fields, to aid in making successful the strike in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania.

Van A. Bittner, chief international representative of the United Mine Workers of West Virginia, who with a party of his confederates were ushered out of Logan county by deputy sheriffs, went to Philadelphia to confer with John L. Lewis, president of the organization.

A miner from Logan county said that Bittner had told him while in Logan that the Pennsylvania strike sould not be a success without halting the growing output from the non-union fields southern West Virginia.

The man said that Bittner and other union officials had gone to Philadelphia to confer with the national chief on plans to bring about either the organization of the southern West Virginia fields or to in some way hinder production until the public forced the operators of Pennsylvania to meet the demands of the miners and thus end the strike.

Chesapeake and Ohio railroad employes announced that more coal was shipped out of the Logan field during August than in any other month in the history of the field.

Approximately 35,000 cars of coal were brought out of the fields during the months, the statement said. Shipping during the first few days of September was so large that officials confidently predicted that September shipping would surpass the August total easily and by a great margin.

West Virginia is making a strong bid for the New England and eastern markets, which heretofore have been supplied by the Pennsylvania anthracite fields.

OFFICERS NAMED BY EASTERN STAR

GRIDIRON SEASON LAUNCHED HERE

The football season was launched here today when Chester high and East Liverpool high eleven clashed for supremacy on the Rock Springs park field. The local squad has been hard at practice for two weeks and supporters of the eleven are confident a good showing will be made against the Pottery City outfit.

The contest is expected to draw one of the largest crowds that ever attended a scholastic game in Chester.

Ladies' Guild Meets.

Members of the Ladies' Guild of St. Matthew's Episcopal church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Bernard Poole in Phoenix avenue. Covered dish supper was served, after which a social hour was enjoyed. Rev. F. C. Roberts, rector of the church, gave an address.

Jury Wheel Filled.

J. L. Mayhew and H. H. Robb, county jury commissioners, completed the work of re-filling the jury wheel yesterday at New Cumberland. Three hundred names were placed in the wheel for service during the year.

Preparatory Services.

Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, East Liverpool, will preach at the preparatory services next Friday night in the First United Presbyterian church. Communion services will be held Sunday.

New Pastor Here Sunday.

Rev. A. L. Duncan, former pastor of the Avondale Free Methodist church, East Liverpool, will preach his first sermon as pastor of the Chester Free Methodist church tomorrow. He succeeds Rev. E. A. Gilmer, who was transferred to Martins Ferry, O., at the recent conference held at Charleroi, Pa.

After the death in the Southampton, England, workhouse of Philip Remer, whose father and mother had been buried as paupers, $1,365 in gold, silver and securities was found hidden in the home where the three had lived together.

Commercial travelers in Mexico are now being given a twenty-five per cent discount in railroad rates.

Fokker Builds "Foolproof" Planes for Common Use

ODDEST CENSUS TAGS DENIZENS OF THE OCEAN

Federal Bureau is Tabulating Fish as Conservation Move.

NOTE AGE, HABITS

One Salmon Traveled 1,300 Miles in Six Weeks.

WASHINGTON—The world's queerest census—that of the fishes of the sea—has been started by the United States ureau of Fisheries as a part ofthe campaign of Secretary of Commerce Hoover to conserve maritime natural food resources.

From the leviathan whale black and ponderous, the lightning speeding salmon, is founr the scope of the Government's census of the ocean's population.

The census taker of the sea is inquiring into the age, the habits, the home and the many other details of fish life as does the agent from the United States Bureau of Census who checks up on the human population of the country.

At first sight this census may seem a waste of money, or a proper study for the biologist or scientist, rather than the Government, but officials have discovered that an accurate knowledge of fiish is paramount to the conservation and stimulation of this great food resource and that fish study is one which will yield a thousand per cent interest in the end of humanity.

The fish census take is also a tagger. The Bureau of Fisheries, according to Lewis Radcliffe, deputy commissioner of the bureau, is tagging salmon and halibut of the Pacific Coast; cod, haddock, pollock and mackerel in the North Atlantic; blue crabs in Chesapeake Bay, and millet in the South Atlantic and Gulf State waters.

"Each species," Radcliffe said, "is the basis for a highly important commercial fishery.

"For example, our annual catch of salmon is about 475,000,000 pounds, and of other species, 325,000,000 of tagging operations, approximately pounds. Ass illustrative of the scale 35,000 salmon and in excess of 30,000 cod, haddock, pollock and mackerel have been made to serve as Uncle Sam's scientific messengers."

Pointing out that automobiles, dogs, birds and even babies are tagged, and that a census is taken of timber, hog, and cattle, Radcliffe explained the similar necessity for fish tagging.

Counting salmon is a common practice in the west. Radcliffe showed how racks are constructed to check up on the salmon movements on their journeys to the spawning beds.

"In this manner," he said, "it has been possible to determine how many fish should be freed for a proper seeding of the spawning beds. Having determined this fact, the rest of the fish may be used for canning."

Traveled Far.

By tagging salmon it has been found that one particular fish tagged on the Shumangin islands, off Alaska, was recaptured about six weeks late in one of the rivers of Kamohatka, Siberia, having traveled about 1,300 miles at the rate of 30 miles a day.

Fish tagging is of ancient origin, having been mentioned in the works of Izaak Walton in 1653. Walton describes observations made on the homing instinct of salmon by tying ribbon or tapes to the tails of the young fish. Sixty years ago considerable numbers of young salmon were marked in England. Loops of silver wire attached to the fins, or tags of rubber fastened with silver, were used, as were bachelor buttons of silver and aduminum.

In the United States, according to Radcliffe, marking fish was tsarted a quarter of a century ago. Approximately 1,000,000 salmon were marked.

"The locality in which the tagged fish is released is carefuly recorded, along with the fish's number," Radcliffe said. "Later when the fish is recaptured, the bureau of fisheries is informed of the locality of recapture. A reward of from 25 cents to $1 is paid for information on recaptured tagged fish.

"The returns tell the scientist whether the fish is a stay-at-home, or where it spends its winters and summers. They disclose how fast the fish grows, when it matures, whether it is an urbanite accustomed to living in association with hundreds of its kind or to seek out a solitary existence."

Archery as an aid to grace and dignity for women is being advocated in England.

To cheer the 2,000 waitresses and other helpers at the world's largest banquet, given in London last August, an inspiring moving picture was shown just before the 8,000 guests arrived.

Demands for wage increases by textile workers in Czechoslovakia in violation of agreement resulted in locking out of 47,000 workers in 300 cotton mills.

Husband Finds That Love Means Sacrifice

Fine Acting Enhances Dramatic Theme of "Is Love Everything?"

The question of what is Love? is it Sacrifice or Conquest has been used for the theme of the new Encore production, "Is Love Everything?", which will be the attraction at the American Theatre Monday. The story features Alma Rubens, Frank Mayo, H. B. Warner and other well known players. Luxurious settings, beautiful gowns, thrilling scenes and original dramatic situations serve to make it one of the most entertaining pictures of the season, it is said.

The plot concerns a husband, his wife and her old lover whose meeting after two years, light the fires of jealousy in the heart of the man she had married. Unknown to them he decides to put her loyalty to the test, takes them aboard his luxurious yacht, throws them into constant association in an effort to see which man she really loves. Loyalty, breeding and breeding and courage conquer the impulses in her heart and the husband satisfies himself that his wealth and devotion have extinguished the embers of the old love.

Then destiny in the shape of a wreck takes command of the unusual situation and the two old lovers find that they are sole survivors. In this great moment they realize the depth of their great emotions and cling to each other in the face of death. They are rescued and after some thrilling adventures aboard a rum ship return to civilization. There they learn that her husband has perished and find themselves free to devote their lives to each other. But fate again takes a hand, the husband returns, finds them in their new found happiness and learns to his sorrow the great answer to love's perplexing question.

Announcement

THE HOUSE OF ULMER, long established in the creation and sales of high grade, first mortgage securities, takes pleasure in announcing the appointment of

as its representative in East Liverpool. Mr. Herbert's splendid reputation and high ideals constitute a well merited recommendation for Ulmer Mortgages and Mortgage Bonds—a form of investment which, in thirty years, has never caused a dollar of loss in principal or interest to any investor.

We bespeak for him the attentive hearing which is due to his character and his message.

CATTLE TESTS IN PROGRESS

Work Proceeding Under Direction of Dr. Neil Myers.

One car of live stock containing 27 head, and all tuberculin, have been shipped out of St. Clair and Liverpool townships to the Cleveland live stock market as a result of the second tuberculin test now being made among the cattle of these townships.

One herd owner who flatly refused to have his herd placed under the second test has changed his mind about the proposition and has announced his willingness to have the test made.

Dr. Neil Myers is now completing the test in Yellow Creek township, and as soon as this township is finished, he will proceed into Madison township.

It has been explained that since the tuberculin test work in Columbiana county has become so active, herd owners in Hancock county, West Virginia, have had a test made in that county, and a number of cattle has been lost as a result. Farmers who lost cattle in Hancock county because of the test were compensated by the state and federal governments.

MAN IS JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

"Crooked! Crooked!" exclaimed Raymond Haddock of Cleveland as Probate Judge Lodge Riddle was sitting quietly with others in an endeavor to adjust the martial differences existing between Haddock and his wife, Mary Haddock, of East Liverpool.

"You're sentenced to jail for contempt of court," immediately came from Judge Riddle. Haddock was led away to jail.

The remark of Haddock stunned all in the court room. A number were seated about the table in the court room discussing the troubles of the family, when the court suggested that Jack Haddock, aged two years, should be with his mother, and that Haddock should contribute $5 per week for the support of his son.

It was then that Haddock addressed his remarks to the court.

Alimony Order Issued.

Alimony in the amount of $25 to be paid within 10 days and $15 each two weeks has been ordered in the divorce action filed in common pleas court by Mary Lowsha against her husband, John Lowsha. The alimony order has just been handed down by Judge James G. Moore.

Leetonia

The annual congregational and business meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran church and Sunday school was held on Wednesday evening in the chapel. At 6 o'clock a coverdish dinner was served in the dining rooms with more than 100 present. Following the dinner the members adjourned to the auditorium, where the meeting was called to order by Sunday School Superintendent Ira F. Mellenger. There were two songs, with Mrs. Raymond Smith as leader and Miss Myrtle Wilhelm at the piano. Prayer was offered by C. J. Halverstadt. Secretary Harry Fenstermaker read the minutes of the 1924 meeting. The secretary's report showed an average attendance of 260 in the Sunday school for the past year with an average collection of $25.60. In all the amount of money contributed was $1,957.81 for the past year; expenditures were $1,697.51, leaving a balance of $260.30 in the treasury. Of this amount the $60 was given to foreign missions, $100 to the church for current expenses and $100 to be placed in the emergency fund. Reports were given by the home department, which reported a membership of 34. Mr. Mellinger then in a short talk asked the teachers to name a suitable time for meetings and this year to plan and hold a teachers' meeting each month. Here Is An Attraction That Will Keep the Young Folks Home at Nights

DO THE bright lights of Main Street burn brighter than your home-fires? Is your family circle broken nightly because there is no entertainment at home?

Youth seeks expression. Youth is not content with the "mechanical" music of the ordinary player or reproducing piano. That is why their boundless spirits respond so quickly to the Piano they play by roll with their own expression—their personal touch.

The Gulbransen Registering Piano That Can Be Played Equally Well by Roll or By Hand is the Social Center of Thousands of Homes

It's the Home that provides an outlet for all the pent-up energies of youth that Keeps the Young Folks home at night. Singing the songs of their fancy, the young folks accompany themselves by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano—just like hand playing, they dance when they wish—at home—to their choice of all the latest popular music, for dance music can be played with perfect cadence on the Gulbransen.

Come over today and try the piano that plays by roll even better than most pianists play by hand. Indeed you could not do more if you played by hand than you can do by roll on the Gulbransen. And you could not play so many pieces.

Come in and learn the thrill of the music you play yourself, then you will understand why home ties draw tighter for the family which has a Gulbransen Registering Piano of its own.

CATTLE TESTS IN PROGRESS

Work Proceeding Under Direction of Dr. Neil Myers.

One car of live stock containing 27 head, and all tuberculin, have been shipped out of St. Clair and Liverpool townships to the Cleveland live stock market as a result of the second tuberculin test now being made among the cattle of these townships.

One herd owner who flatly refused to have his herd placed under the second test has changed his mind about the proposition and has announced his willingness to have the test made.

Dr. Neil Myers is now completing the test in Yellow Creek township, and as soon as this township is finished, he will proceed into Madison township.

It has been explained that since the tuberculin test work in Columbiana county has become so active, herd owners in Hancock county, West Virginia, have had a test made in that county, and a number of cattle has been lost as a result. Farmers who lost cattle in Hancock county because of the test were compensated by the state and federal governments.

MAN IS JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

"Crooked! Crooked!" exclaimed Raymond Haddock of Cleveland as Probate Judge Lodge Riddle was sitting quietly with others in an endeavor to adjust the martial differences existing between Haddock and his wife, Mary Haddock, of East Liverpool.

"You're sentenced to jail for contempt of court," immediately came from Judge Riddle. Haddock was led away to jail.

The remark of Haddock stunned all in the court room. A number were seated about the table in the court room discussing the troubles of the family, when the court suggested that Jack Haddock, aged two years, should be with his mother, and that Haddock should contribute $5 per week for the support of his son.

It was then that Haddock addressed his remarks to the court.

Here Is An Attraction That Will Keep the Young Folks Home at Nights

DO THE bright lights of Main Street burn brighter than your home-fires? Is your family circle broken nightly because there is no entertainment at home?

Youth seeks expression. Youth is not content with the "mechanical" music of the ordinary player or reproducing piano. That is why their boundless spirits respond so quickly to the Piano they play by roll with their own expression—their personal touch.

The Gulbransen Registering Piano That Can Be Played Equally Well by Roll or By Hand is the Social Center of Thousands of Homes

It's the Home that provides an outlet for all the pent-up energies of youth that Keeps the Young Folks home at night. Singing the songs of their fancy, the young folks accompany themselves by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano—just like hand playing, they dance when they wish—at home—to their choice of all the latest popular music, for dance music can be played with perfect cadence on the Gulbransen.

Come over today and try the piano that plays by roll even better than most pianists play by hand. Indeed you could not do more if you played by hand than you can do by roll on the Gulbransen. And you could not play so many pieces.

Come in and learn the thrill of the music you play yourself, then you will understand why home ties draw tighter for the family which has a Gulbransen Registering Piano of its own.

HALF MILLION TO FIX NARROWS

Officials Agree Proposed Improvement Will be Expensive

Various opinions expressed during a tour of the "narrows," the section of river road between Stratton and Yellow Creek badly in need of improvement, by a group of state and county officials and other, indicate that the improvement, when begun, will cost close to half a million dollars.

The tour was made by County Commissioner Edward Cadegan, W. C. Fawcett, state locating engineer; Robert Beightler, chief engineer of construction; H. S. Perry, assistant engineer of maintenance; W. A. Alsendorf, president of the Ohio Good Roads Federation; Fred Waddell, clerk of the engineer's office of Jefferson county, and Forrest Richmond of Toronto.

The inspection, it is understood, was made at the instance of the good roads federation, as the state highwaymen were enroute from Columbus to Lisbon. There was nothing official about the inspection, it is learned, as the state and government have not yet acted on the Jefferson-Columbiana county joint resolution recently passed asking for a survey and location of the road from Stratton to the culvert at Wellsville.

Possibilities in connection with the improvement of the "narrows" when it does come were discussed and the best method of construction and proper location of the road were considered. Different ideas prevailed as to the road location and construction materials.

Treasures Apology Made by Lincoln for Error

Oakland, Cal.—John G. Crouch, eighty-two, was once the recipient of an apology from Abraham Lincoln.

Crouch was born on a farm in Rochester, Sangamon county, eight miles from Springfield, Ill. As a youngster, he often went to the capital with the farm help to dispose of produce.

One one occasion he entered the stable on Lincoln's property and was leaving, when Lincoln arrived and searched his pockets, saying eggs had disappeared from the place.

A week later, the Crouch boy was told by his father to visit Lincoln's law office. This he did.

"You are David Crouch's son," said the future emancipator. "I wrongfully suspected you of stealing eggs and I want you to forgive me."

Crouch lived in Sangamon county 50 years and saw Lincoln many times. He often sold apples to Mrs. Lincoln. One May 4, 1865, Crouch viewed the body of the assassinated President.

As an indication that the steel business shows no tendency toward falling off at the Weirton mills, the report of September movements of freight show that the month just closed kept pace with July and August which were record breakers, the last quarter having been the greatest in Weirton's history. The only commodity to show a decrease is the receipts of iron ore which of ing winter due to lake shipping being stopped by freezing weather, and the stock of ore having become great enough for the winter's requirements. The report shows 490 trains in and out of Weirton. The trains were made up of a total of 10,243 cars.

HALF MILLION TO FIX NARROWS

Officials Agree Proposed Improvement Will be Expensive

Various opinions expressed during a tour of the "narrows," the section of river road between Stratton and Yellow Creek badly in need of improvement, by a group of state and county officials and other, indicate that the improvement, when begun, will cost close to half a million dollars.

The tour was made by County Commissioner Edward Cadegan, W. C. Fawcett, state locating engineer; Robert Beightler, chief engineer of construction; H. S. Perry, assistant engineer of maintenance; W. A. Alsendorf, president of the Ohio Good Roads Federation; Fred Waddell, clerk of the engineer's office of Jefferson county, and Forrest Richmond of Toronto.

The inspection, it is understood, was made at the instance of the good roads federation, as the state highwaymen were enroute from Columbus to Lisbon. There was nothing official about the inspection, it is learned, as the state and government have not yet acted on the Jefferson-Columbiana county joint resolution recently passed asking for a survey and location of the road from Stratton to the culvert at Wellsville.

Possibilities in connection with the improvement of the "narrows" when it does come were discussed and the best method of construction and proper location of the road were considered. Different ideas prevailed as to the road location and construction materials.

Treasures Apology Made by Lincoln for Error

Oakland, Cal.—John G. Crouch, eighty-two, was once the recipient of an apology from Abraham Lincoln.

Crouch was born on a farm in Rochester, Sangamon county, eight miles from Springfield, Ill. As a youngster, he often went to the capital with the farm help to dispose of produce.

One one occasion he entered the stable on Lincoln's property and was leaving, when Lincoln arrived and searched his pockets, saying eggs had disappeared from the place.

A week later, the Crouch boy was told by his father to visit Lincoln's law office. This he did.

"You are David Crouch's son," said the future emancipator. "I wrongfully suspected you of stealing eggs and I want you to forgive me."

Crouch lived in Sangamon county 50 years and saw Lincoln many times. He often sold apples to Mrs. Lincoln. One May 4, 1865, Crouch viewed the body of the assassinated President.

CITY IS SUED FOR $10,000

Miss Nora Erwin Asks Damages for Injuries.

Miss Nora Erwin, 20, today filed suit against the city of East Liverpool, in common pleas court, Lisbon, for $10,000 damages, as the result of injuries suffered March 5, last, by her next friend, John Sweeney, Attorney Charles Boyd, of this city, filing the action.

The plaintiff alleges that while she was walking along street during the early morning she stepped into a hole which was about 15 inches deep. Her right ankle was broken and she was bruised and suffered from shock as a result of the mishap, the petition states. It is further set forth that she spent upwards of $200 for medical attention and that her injuries are believed to be of a permanent nature.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia. — "If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up to never get well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the Hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is. I will be only too glad to answer letters from anywhere. I wish all sick women would take it." — Mrs. J. A. JONES, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

Freshmen Co-Eds at Capital University Bound by Rigid Code

COLUMBUS—It'll be a hard year ahead of the freshman co-eds at Capitol university, a Lutheran institution here.

Following the ancient custom, the Capitalis Academiae Puellae, the leading co-ed organization on the campus has issued the annual general orders governing the conduct of the girls who come here for higher education.

Here is what the newcomers must submit to the first year: They must wear a tight belt at the waistline; their dresses must be seven inches from the ground; they may wear only dark lisle hose, and footwear must be of a light color.

Hair must be parted in the center, one side to be curled and other worn straight; powder and rouge are absolutely taboo. Each freshman girl must carry a towel over the arm throughout the day.

Federal railways of Austria are erectin glarge plants to supply electricity to be used as power for its lines.

Palm fibre, so popular for making native raincoats in China, is being brought to this country to be made into protectors against moisture and other purposes.

An effort is being made in England to have owners of homes in the country visit the city on week ends and let people from crowded districts have the use of their rural quarters.

Freshmen Co-Eds at Capital University Bound by Rigid Code

COLUMBUS—It'll be a hard year ahead of the freshman co-eds at Capitol university, a Lutheran institution here.

Following the ancient custom, the Capitalis Academiae Puellae, the leading co-ed organization on the campus has issued the annual general orders governing the conduct of the girls who come here for higher education.

Here is what the newcomers must submit to the first year: They must wear a tight belt at the waistline; their dresses must be seven inches from the ground; they may wear only dark lisle hose, and footwear must be of a light color.

Hair must be parted in the center, one side to be curled and other worn straight; powder and rouge are absolutely taboo. Each freshman girl must carry a towel over the arm throughout the day.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia. — "If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up to never get well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the Hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is. I will be only too glad to answer letters from anywhere. I wish all sick women would take it."—Mrs. J. A. JONES, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

Mixed Bathing in City Pools of Paris Stirs Prudes to Indignation

PARIS.—"The proposition of Alderman Fiquet to permit mixed bathing in municipal baths," says l'Intransigeant, "has had an effect similar to dropping a paving-block into a frog pond." At the present time the municipal baths have separate hours for men and women. The 'Intransigeant' means to say that the Paris prudes have jumped in indignation. Several papers have taken up the mixed-bathing cause for M. Fiquet, the Paris Soir remarking that there is no reason why men should be shocked at the abbreviations of a woman's bathing suit.

"Why," says this paper, "more bare flesh is seen at the opera every night than was ever exposed in a municipal bathing establishment."

Others point out mixed bathing has always been allowed at all beach resorts in summer. "Why should mixed bathing not be allowed in winter as well as summer?" asks the Paris Soir. "It seems a shame that a married man can't accompany his wife and children on a Sunday to a municipal swimming pool, but must go all alone in the morning. His wife must do likewise in the afternoon."

It takes a lot of conceit to make some of the dear creatures wear modest garments.—Youngstown Vindicator.

"A Conqueror Passes"

By Larry Barreto

From the time that Stephen Wicker is found half frozen in a doorway of an East Side tenement, by a poor working girl who nurses him back to health, to the final dramatic climax, you'll find a wealth of adventure and heart-throbs in this entertaining novel.

For Stephen Wicker is just another young man in a different set of circumstances—a human young man with human weaknesses—a strong young man with a strong man's strength. And he travels the gamut from bum to longshoreman to adventurer and then back to normal, where the closing lines of the story find him "living happily ever after."

Rivals Ready to Resume Hostilities After Day's Layoff

KREMER WILL BE SENT AGAINST FERGUSON IN THIRD SERIES BATTLE

Hurling Prospects as Announced for Yesterday Will Likely Stand, With Reuther and Yde as Alternate Choices; Huege May be Able to Get Into Game; President Coolidge to Throw First Ball.

By Davis J. Walsh.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The man who couldn't retire a batter on seven pitched balls two months ago will attempt to defy fact and further the art of fiction this afternoon when the Washington Senators meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in the third game of the world series in weather that, for the first time in 24 hours, was as clear as the note of a bugle. Alex Ferguson, according to forecast, will be the Washington pitcher and, mayhap, a fine time will e had by all.

Alexander was the young man who used to appear at odd moments for the Yankees and Red Sox, fill the bases with expediency and rare consistency and then disappear with all due haste. He had plenty of stuff but no more control than a minstrel collar with a demountable tie. That was in the dear, dear days all of eight weeks in the past.

Then he read a certain advertisement, ate Gumbo's soup steadily for nine days and now look at him. During the last two months of the season, he virtually pitched the Senators into the pennant single handed with bases on balls as rare as a porterhouse in full bloom.

Ferguson will be opposed today by either Ray Kremer or Emil Yde, depending on whether Bill McKechnie, Pittsburgh manager, was thinking in left or right handed terms. William declined to make known his choice at an early hour this morning and none there was to say him nay.

Kremer Likely Choice.

McKechnie was in the position of a millionaire about to purchase a box of matches with a ten dollar bill. His very affluence left him with the fear that he might distribute the items of his budget not wisely but too well. Pittsburgh had plenty of pitchers; the trick was to pick the right one.

It was regarded as altogether probable that Kremer would be the choice, right handers having enjoyed commendable success in the first two games of the series, which, as a result of yesterday's rain, stood deadlocked at one—all this morning.

It had been Stanley Harris' intention to pitch Walter "Dutch" Ruether in the third game but the postponement of yesterday effected a hurried change in his plans. It gave Walter Johnson an extra day of rest and prompted Harris to vote for an almost exclusive display of right handed ability for the rest of the series. Johnson, having won the opening game with an impressive performance, was expected to pitch tomorrow. Stanley Coveleskie, who bogged down in the late innings of the second game, was scheduled to perform in the fifth game of the series on Monday.

The resumption of activities today found the customary vigilants parked at the gates with that overnight patience of theirs, the reserved sections having been sold out weeks ago, there was nothing for the nickel customers but to line up on the right and enjoy an excellent night's rest on the flat of their feet.

Bucs Remain Favorites.

A capacity crowd, therefore, of more than 40,000 was expected to view the proceedings for the third time in as many starts. It was Washington's first slant at the series and it was nobody's plan to turn up missing. However, the local citizens coupled discretion with desire. They were not spending more than one hundred pennies on the individual dollar and scalpers, who plied their illicit craft along Pennsylvania avenue and in the hotel lobbies, were said to have suffered pitifully. The price of a single ticket dropped last night from $50 to what have you, if at all.

Thanks to the fact that they got away with the second game, the Pirates remained a slight favorite in the betting, which was neither plentiful nor at all immoderate. If anyone was shooting the roll on this series today, he used a Maxim silencer on the hammer of his financial gun.

The pro-Pittsburgh element, as a matter of fundamental fact, hesitated to do anything hasty, being duly aware that yesterday's postponement was a Washington boon. It not only gave Johnson an extra day of rest and Ossie Bluege a chance to live down the blow on the head he sustained in Pittsburgh on Thursday but permitted the entire ball game, which had looked none too steady in the first two games, to rally around the flag or something.

On the familiar spaces of their own field and in the sympathetic atmosphere of home town support the Senators were expected to give a more superior account of themselves, starting today and finishing when they saw fit.

Bluege was due to return to third base for the game, rounding out the Senatorial infield. The latter finished the second game with "Buddy" Myers, a recruit, on third base, which fact so confounded the rest of the outfit that Peckinpaugh weighed in with two damaging errors late in the pastime.

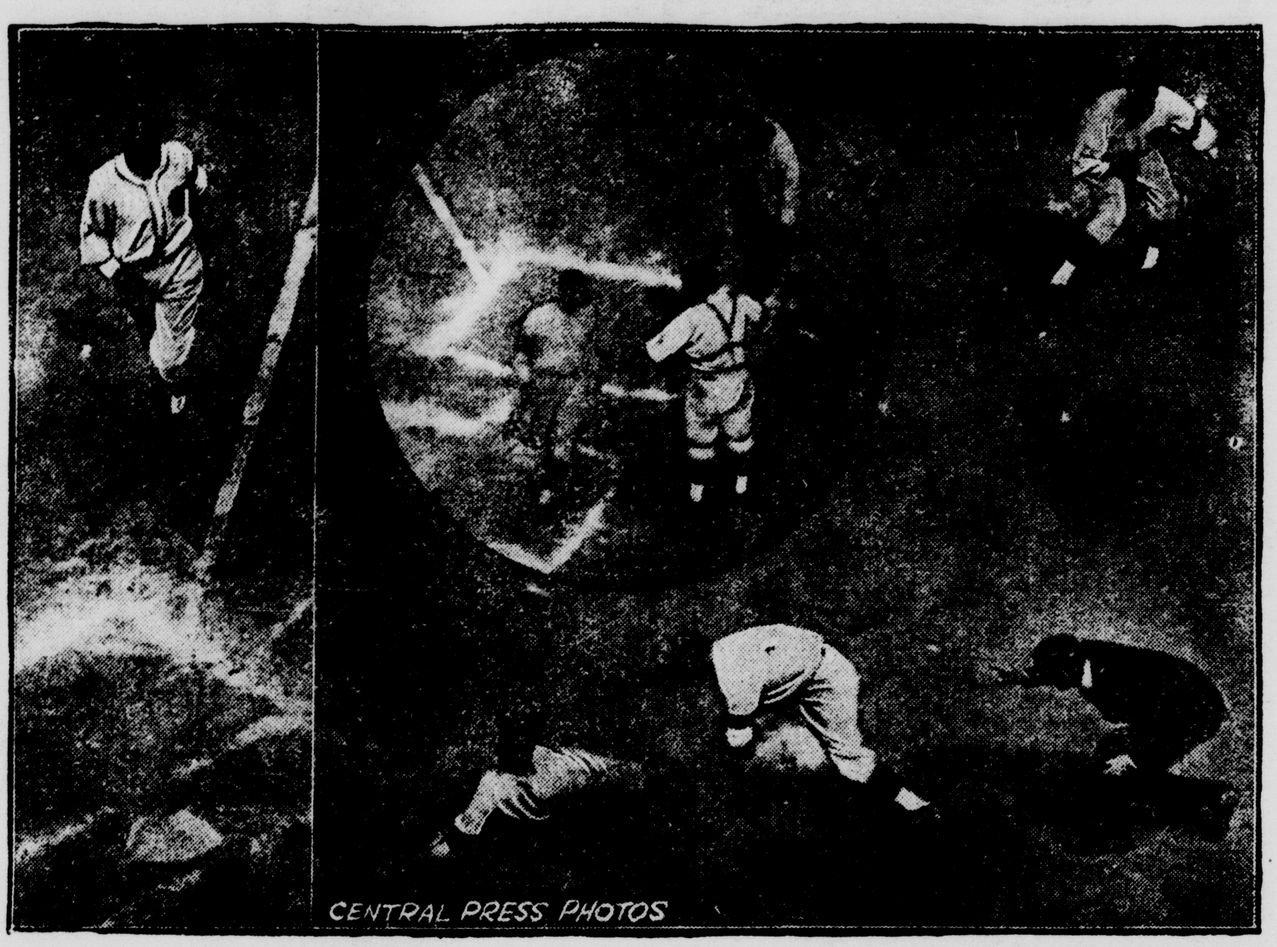

It was the general idea, however, that the boys had contrived to get all of the bad baseball out of their systems in the first two games and the Senators were an even money choice in the more or less casual betting on today's pastime.

The only thing that the local prophets were certain of was that the Washington opening would produce bigger and better throwing of the first ball. Pittsburgh arranged to have Governor Pinchot toss the first one; Washington's reply was to line up President Coolidge for this ceremony. The president, of course, figured to have a great deal more on his fast one than a mere governor.

There seemed to be more doubt as to whether Bluege would be able to appear in his position today, the idea being that he might have been unable to laugh off the effects of the blow on the head he received from a pitched ball by Aldridge on Thursday. Harris, however, said that he expected Bluege to play.

May be Forced to Undergo Another Operation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Babe Ruth is about to go under the knife again.

The famous slugger was back in New York today, having been forced to forego seeing the remaining games of the world series because his condition has taken a turn for the worse.

His illness is believed to be an aftermath of his operation last May. He is expected to enter St. Vincent's hospital this afternoon to prepare for the operation which is for the removal of an abscess.

Ruth was depressed over his plight. He went to Pittsburgh to see the opening world series games against the advice of his physician. Inflamation had set in in the old wound and he walked with a limp. In Pittsburgh the wound had to be treated with ice packs.

The king of swat was anxious to see all the world series games. He also had planned to take a hunting trip to Canada immediately after the series. He will have to give up this plan, it was said today, as he may be in the hospital for several weeks.

BULLDOGS TRY DOUBLE BILL

In Philadelphia Today and Pottsville Tomorrow.

CANTON, Oct. 10.—Canton Bulldogs have two tough foes to meet within the next week, both of them undefeated to date in the National league race along with Canton. Sunday the Kennel plays Pottsville at Pottsville while a week from tomorrow the local eleven clashes with Akron here. Today they play the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets at Philadelphia.

So far both Canton and Akron have won two games. Akron beat Cleveland and Kansas City while the Bulldogs trimmed Rochester, N. Y. and Dayton, O., Philadelphia, Green Bay, Providence and Detroit are the other clubs in the circuit that have not tasted defeat.

Indications point to a close game next Sunday. The Akron club was not very strong last season, but an entire new club with a few exceptions has been signed with teh result that the Rubber City eleven rates as one of the most powerful in the circuit. They play Buffalo tomorrow.

Norbert Sacksteder, Christian Brothers college graduate, report to the spuad this week. He is a halfback and played with the championship 1922 team here.

GEORGIA TECH MEETS BEZDEKS

Wycoff, Golden Tornado's Star, Goes Into Action.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Tucked in winter overcoats against chill breezes bringing the first real gridiron weather of the season, New York football fans trooped to the Yankee stadium today to watch the altercation between representative southern and eastern teams—the famed golden tornado of Georgia Tech and Hugo Bezdek's Penn Staters.

With the Pennsylvania-Brown game at Providence the stadium attraction shared the football spot in the east on the real inaugural date of the season.

Pickers of the mythological All-American eleven prepared to cock a critical eye at Wycoff, the sensation of the south these past two years.

The Penn Brown game offered something of a novelty in the schedule of each team, both adding a tough spot to a list of opponents already too easy.

The so-called big three affected to be unperturbed although Georgia all but upset the Yale Bulldogs last year and probably will claim higher regard this afternoon as a result.

Harvard had Middlebury and Princeton took on Washington & Lee.

The Army was not expecting much opposition from Knox, but the Navy, meeting Marquette, could figure on seeing some football and playing some more, if the middies were to celebrate tonight.

Other eastern games included Cornell vs. Williams; Dartmouth vs. Vermont; Colgate vs. St. Bonaventure; Lafayette vs. Washington; Rutgers vs. Maryland; Syracuse vs. Williams and Mary; Pittsburgh vs. West Virginia; Amherst vs. Bowdoin.

LACK OF FUNDS HITS TIGERS

Toronto Fails to Book Engagement for Sunday.

Professional football in Toronto for the remainder of the season is a problem today that will only be solved with the raising of enough money to put the Tigers back on their feet after financial reverses in the several games they have played.

Unable to obtain a sufficient guarantee for a game abroad tomorrow and unwilling to bring in another attraction such as Hammond and thereby suffer another loss, the management of the Tigers decided to mark time over the present week-end at least.

Al Nesser and Red Seidelson were loaned to Canton and will play with the Bulldogs in today's and Sunday's games at Philadelphia and Pottsville.

Sol Butler went over to Hammond and Hogan will be found in the Detroit lineup.

Talk is also heard of a proposed five-game series with Steubenville, but there has been no action.

CUBS, WHITE SOX PLAY THIRD GAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—The Chicago White Sox and the Cubs will battle on a soggy diamond today in the third game of the city series. The Cubs lead the series, winning one game and tying another thriller of 18 innings. The Sox will send Faber to the mound and the Cubs will depend on Blake for a win.

WILCEMEN LOOK FOR LINE ATTACK

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—A hammering line attack was expected here today from Coach Stagg's University of Chicago Maroons when they battle on a soggy gridiron with the Ohio "Buckeye" eleven. A severe handicap to Ohio's forward pass ability was expected to give the Chicago lads a decided advantage on a wet field. McCarty, Marks, Francis and Timme were expected to carry the ball, while Kernwein, Rouse, Duvall, Curley and Abbott were scheduled for open play.

PITT FAVORITE IN W. V. U. CLASH

Some Critics Predict Three Touchdown Margin.

The Pitt varsity, despite its 20-9 loss to Lafayette college last Saturday, is a favorite in today's game with West Virginia. Experts look for the heavy and veteran Panther eleven to win by a margin of two or three touchdowns. They expect Pitt to come back strong after losing to Lafayette and perdict that Gustafson, Harding, Welch and McCutcheon will run roughshod over the Mountaineers. Lafayette had to play as a team possessed to down the Panthers and as West Virginia is not likely to show the same inspired qualities the Mountaineers will do well to hold Pitt to a low score. West Virginia's only hope is its passing game. If the aerial attack is successful and the Mountaineers get a fair share of the "breaks" they will press Pitt. At best both are long chances.

One thing is certain—the Mountaineers are going to fight. Head Coach Ira Rodgers has his men keyed up for tomorrow's battle nad Pitt will have to work hard for every inch of ground it gains. The Mountaineer lineup of Oliver and Julian Murrin, ends; Dilcher and Davis, tackles; McHenry and Captain Mahan, guards; Latham, center; Ed. Morrison, quarterback; Farley and Hardy, halfbacks; and Barnum, fullback, averages less than 170 pounds but all of them are scrappers.

Will Try New Backs

Several new Denison backfield men will get into action against Ohio University this afternoon. Livingston is trying Rettig, Shanley, Moore and Barth at halfback positions with good results. Russell and Prosser were tried at full.

Postponement of Third Game Good Break For Washington

Now Possible for Walter Johnson to Pitch the Fourth Game and, if Necessary, the Seventh.

By Sid Mercer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—A rainy day in a world series must be bridged by the baseball experts with a chain of facts, figures and speculations designed to fit the space ordinarily required for the description of the combat. But yesterday's game ran into a washout and the experts thereupon spent the entire day in solemn deliberation over the effects of the postponement.

A poll of the trained observers who congregated at Press headquarters at the Raleigh disclosed a strong belief that the schedule interruption was a good break for the Washington club. It is now possible for Walter Johnson to pitch the fourth game and if necessary, the seventh.

Assuming that old Barney will be as good as he was last Wednesday in Pittsburgh, this is indeed a tremendous advantage for the American league champions.

Stanley Harris had announced Alex. Ferguson as a pitcher yesterday and the probabilities are that he will start Ferguson today. He could use Johnson in a pinch, but Sir Walter should be better after a three day rest.

Even if Ferguson should lose today, Harris can come back with Johnson tomorrow and then, if the series goes the limit, Barney would be available for the deciding game.

There isn't much doubt that Harris will follow this plan. He is in a better position to gamble than McKechnie. In the event of Ferguson failing before a Pirate attack in an early inning, Johnson may possibly be swung into the third game. For these reasons yesterday's rain was a break for the Senators.

The series has not progressed far enough to afford a thorough test of the pitching. Each manager has started his two best men and all four have done well. When Harris and McKechnie begin drawing the names of their pitchers out of a hat the experts will be reduced to mere guesswork in their predictions.

Matty Is Laid to Rest Today; Baseball Notables At Funeral

LEWISBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—Banked in flowers from admirers in virtually every section of the country, the body of Christy Mathewson, one of baseball's immortals, reposed in the front room of a little home in Market street today.

It was "Matty" back at the place where he first achieved fame as a football and baseball player at Bucknell college. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the body will be borne to Lewisburg cemetery, regarded as one of the most beautiful burial grounds in Central Pennsylvania, and there "Big Six" will be laid to rest as thousands bow their heads while a bugle sounds taps.

As the "Old Master" desired, funeral services will be of simple character, but the host of famous personalities present for the last rites of the diamond hero and idol of the American boy, lent an atmosphere that bespoke the true position Mathewson held in the hearts of his countrymen.

Honorary pall-bearers will be Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston National league baseball club; John McGraw, president of the New York Giants; David Bancroft and Edward Reilly, manager and secretary of the Boston club; Ernest Sterling, Bronxville, N. Y., and Albert Powell, New Haven, Conn.

Rev. Frank B. Everett, pastor of Lewisburg Presbyterian church, was in charge of funeral services.

STATE-CHICAGO TILT TOPS CARD

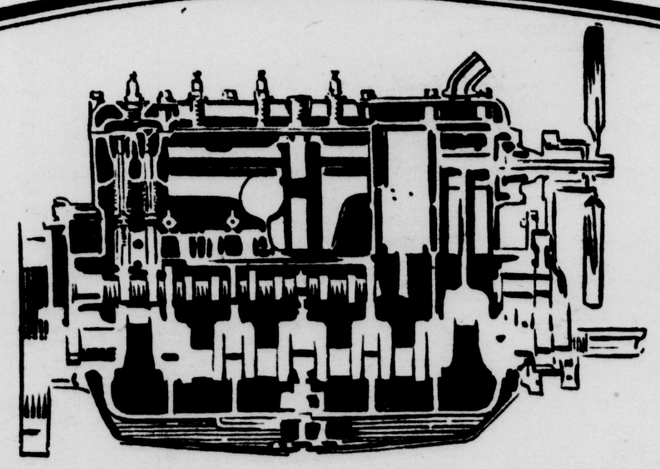

More eyes, probably, will be trained on the Ohio State-Chicago western conference contest this afternoon by mid-west grid fans than upon any of the other 28 contests scheduled for Ohio college and university elevens.

For its outcome, many believe, will go a long way toward casting the season's die. When the whistle has blown the ball dead at the end of the fracas at Stagg field this evening, fans throughout the nation will have a good idea as to how far the Buckeyes will go in the scramble for highest honors in the Big Ten.

The most ardent of Ohio State fans admit a little doubt after Ohio State's showing against Ohio Wesleyan last week when the Battling Bishops held the score to 10 to 3. In the same breath they admit that Wesleyan had a mighty strong team and that the injection of Marek into the State backfield and Nichols into the forward wall will mean all the difference in the Big Ten world.

GRANGE IS READY FOR BUTLER TEAM

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 10.—Capt. Red Grange, fully recovered from a slight illness of the past ten days, will pilot the Illini football eleven against Coach Page's Butler college squad from Indiana today, in the Illinois stadium. Coach Zurpke's men have apparently recovered from their defeat by Nebraska.

Rivals Ready to Resume Hostilities After Day's Layoff

KREMER WILL BE SENT AGAINST FERGUSON IN THIRD SERIES BATTLE

Hurling Prospects as Announced for Yesterday Will Likely Stand, With Reuther and Yde as Alternate Choices; Huege May be Able to Get Into Game; President Coolidge to Throw First Ball.

By Davis J. Walsh.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The man who couldn't retire a batter on seven pitched balls two months ago will attempt to defy fact and further the art of fiction this afternoon when the Washington Senators meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in the third game of the world series in weather that, for the first time in 24 hours, was as clear as the note of a bugle. Alex Ferguson, according to forecast, will be the Washington pitcher and, mayhap, a fine time will e had by all.

Alexander was the young man who used to appear at odd moments for the Yankees and Red Sox, fill the bases with expediency and rare consistency and then disappear with all due haste. He had plenty of stuff but no more control than a minstrel collar with a demountable tie. That was in the dear, dear days all of eight weeks in the past.

Then he read a certain advertisement, ate Gumbo's soup steadily for nine days and now look at him. During the last two months of the season, he virtually pitched the Senators into the pennant single handed with bases on balls as rare as a porterhouse in full bloom.

Ferguson will be opposed today by either Ray Kremer or Emil Yde, depending on whether Bill McKechnie, Pittsburgh manager, was thinking in left or right handed terms. William declined to make known his choice at an early hour this morning and none there was to say him nay.

Kremer Likely Choice.

McKechnie was in the position of a millionaire about to purchase a box of matches with a ten dollar bill. His very affluence left him with the fear that he might distribute the items of his budget not wisely but too well. Pittsburgh had plenty of pitchers; the trick was to pick the right one.

It was regarded as altogether probable that Kremer would be the choice, right handers having enjoyed commendable success in the first two games of the series, which, as a result of yesterday's rain, stood deadlocked at one—all this morning.

It had been Stanley Harris' intention to pitch Walter "Dutch" Ruether in the third game but the postponement of yesterday effected a hurried change in his plans. It gave Walter Johnson an extra day of rest and prompted Harris to vote for an almost exclusive display of right handed ability for the rest of the series. Johnson, having won the opening game with an impressive performance, was expected to pitch tomorrow. Stanley Coveleskie, who bogged down in the late innings of the second game, was scheduled to perform in the fifth game of the series on Monday.

The resumption of activities today found the customary vigilants parked at the gates with that overnight patience of theirs, the reserved sections having been sold out weeks ago, there was nothing for the nickel customers but to line up on the right and enjoy an excellent night's rest on the flat of their feet.

Bucs Remain Favorites.

A capacity crowd, therefore, of more than 40,000 was expected to view the proceedings for the third time in as many starts. It was Washington's first slant at the series and it was nobody's plan to turn up missing. However, the local citizens coupled discretion with desire. They were not spending more than one hundred pennies on the individual dollar and scalpers, who plied their illicit craft along Pennsylvania avenue and in the hotel lobbies, were said to have suffered pitifully. The price of a single ticket dropped last night from $50 to what have you, if at all.

Thanks to the fact that they got away with the second game, the Pirates remained a slight favorite in the betting, which was neither plentiful nor at all immoderate. If anyone was shooting the roll on this series today, he used a Maxim silencer on the hammer of his financial gun.

The pro-Pittsburgh element, as a matter of fundamental fact, hesitated to do anything hasty, being duly aware that yesterday's postponement was a Washington boon. It not only gave Johnson an extra day of rest and Ossie Bluege a chance to live down the blow on the head he sustained in Pittsburgh on Thursday but permitted the entire ball game, which had looked none too steady in the first two games, to rally around the flag or something.

On the familiar spaces of their own field and in the sympathetic atmosphere of home town support the Senators were expected to give a more superior account of themselves, starting today and finishing when they saw fit.

Bluege was due to return to third base for the game, rounding out the Senatorial infield. The latter finished the second game with "Buddy" Myers, a recruit, on third base, which fact so confounded the rest of the outfit that Peckinpaugh weighed in with two damaging errors late in the pastime.

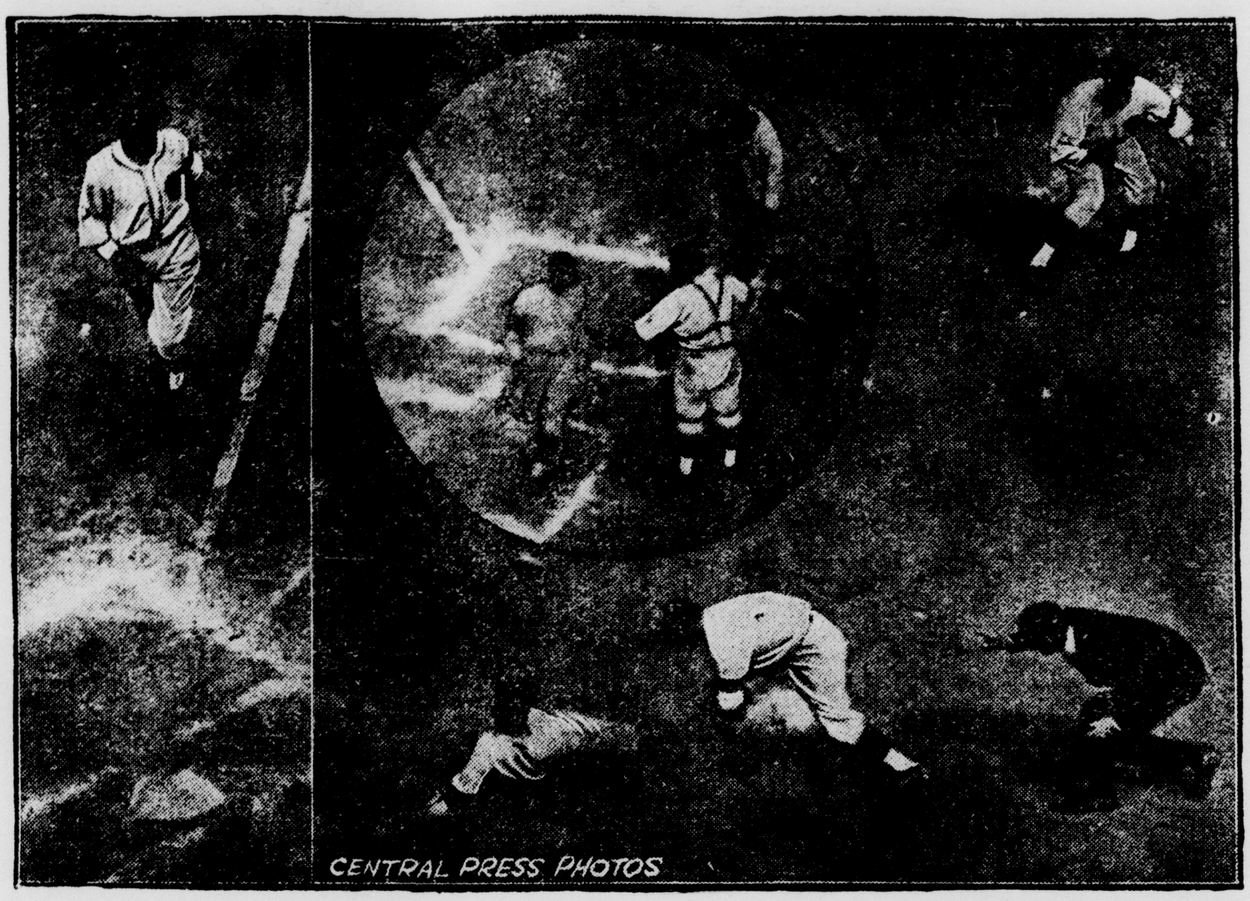

It was the general idea, however, that the boys had contrived to get all of the bad baseball out of their systems in the first two games and the Senators were an even money choice in the more or less casual betting on today's pastime.

The only thing that the local prophets were certain of was that the Washington opening would produce bigger and better throwing of the first ball. Pittsburgh arranged to have Governor Pinchot toss the first one; Washington's reply was to line up President Coolidge for this ceremony. The president, of course, figured to have a great deal more on his fast one than a mere governor.

There seemed to be more doubt as to whether Bluege would be able to appear in his position today, the idea being that he might have been unable to laugh off the effects of the blow on the head he received from a pitched ball by Aldridge on Thursday. Harris, however, said that he expected Bluege to play.

These photos were taken at the second game of the world's series, won by Pittsburgh 3 to 2. Photo at left shows Glenn Wright, Pittsburgh shortstop, scoring on his home run in the fourth inning. At right, Joe Harris, Washington right fielder, is caught stealing second, Smith to Moore, in the second inning after singling. Moore is tagging Harris. Wright is backing up the play. Umpire is Moriarty. Inset shows Joe Judge, Washington first baseman scoring his homer in second inning. Catcher is Smith. Joe Harris is waiting to bat. Umpire is Owens. RUTH IS BACK IN HOSPITAL

May be Forced to Undergo Another Operation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Babe Ruth is about to go under the knife again.

The famous slugger was back in New York today, having been forced to forego seeing the remaining games of the world series because his condition has taken a turn for the worse.

His illness is believed to be an aftermath of his operation last May. He is expected to enter St. Vincent's hospital this afternoon to prepare for the operation which is for the removal of an abscess.

Ruth was depressed over his plight. He went to Pittsburgh to see the opening world series games against the advice of his physician. Inflamation had set in in the old wound and he walked with a limp. In Pittsburgh the wound had to be treated with ice packs.

The king of swat was anxious to see all the world series games. He also had planned to take a hunting trip to Canada immediately after the series. He will have to give up this plan, it was said today, as he may be in the hospital for several weeks.

BULLDOGS TRY DOUBLE BILL

In Philadelphia Today and Pottsville Tomorrow.

CANTON, Oct. 10.—Canton Bulldogs have two tough foes to meet within the next week, both of them undefeated to date in the National league race along with Canton. Sunday the Kennel plays Pottsville at Pottsville while a week from tomorrow the local eleven clashes with Akron here. Today they play the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets at Philadelphia.

So far both Canton and Akron have won two games. Akron beat Cleveland and Kansas City while the Bulldogs trimmed Rochester, N. Y. and Dayton, O., Philadelphia, Green Bay, Providence and Detroit are the other clubs in the circuit that have not tasted defeat.

Indications point to a close game next Sunday. The Akron club was not very strong last season, but an entire new club with a few exceptions has been signed with teh result that the Rubber City eleven rates as one of the most powerful in the circuit. They play Buffalo tomorrow.

Norbert Sacksteder, Christian Brothers college graduate, report to the spuad this week. He is a halfback and played with the championship 1922 team here.

GEORGIA TECH MEETS BEZDEKS

Wycoff, Golden Tornado's Star, Goes Into Action.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Tucked in winter overcoats against chill breezes bringing the first real gridiron weather of the season, New York football fans trooped to the Yankee stadium today to watch the altercation between representative southern and eastern teams—the famed golden tornado of Georgia Tech and Hugo Bezdek's Penn Staters.

With the Pennsylvania-Brown game at Providence the stadium attraction shared the football spot in the east on the real inaugural date of the season.

Pickers of the mythological All-American eleven prepared to cock a critical eye at Wycoff, the sensation of the south these past two years.

The Penn Brown game offered something of a novelty in the schedule of each team, both adding a tough spot to a list of opponents already too easy.

The so-called big three affected to be unperturbed although Georgia all but upset the Yale Bulldogs last year and probably will claim higher regard this afternoon as a result.

Harvard had Middlebury and Princeton took on Washington & Lee.

The Army was not expecting much opposition from Knox, but the Navy, meeting Marquette, could figure on seeing some football and playing some more, if the middies were to celebrate tonight.

Other eastern games included Cornell vs. Williams; Dartmouth vs. Vermont; Colgate vs. St. Bonaventure; Lafayette vs. Washington; Rutgers vs. Maryland; Syracuse vs. Williams and Mary; Pittsburgh vs. West Virginia; Amherst vs. Bowdoin.

KELLY ABANDONS OARSMAN CAREER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10. — Jack Kelly, winner of the singles sculling championship of the world at the Olympic games in 1920, and one of the greatest rowers the country has ever seen, has retired. His retirement took place when the Pennsylvania Athletic club eight crossed the finishing line Labor day on the Patapsoco river.

"He dominated the rowing world just as completely as any man possibly could," according to a local rowing expert, "more so than any one man had ever before or probably ever will again. Sports are richer for his having taken part in them."

Kelly started his rowing career in 1908 and he began to retire in 1920. During his career, he won 122 races in open regattas. He rowed both sculls and sweeps up until 1919 when he concentrated on sculls.

REACH FINALS IN WOMEN'S GOLF

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. — Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., women's national golf champion, will play Miss Helen Palson of Portland, Maine, here today in the Indian Hills invitation golf tournament. The match, scheduled to be held yesterday for championship honors, was postponed because of adverse weather.

CRAWFORD OUT OF THIEL GAME

Tackle Crawford, of East Liverpool, who sustained a fractured wrist in last week's game with Duquesne University, will be absent today when Coach Nuss' Bethany gridders line up against Thiel at Greensburg. With this one exception, the Bison line will probably be the same as it was last week, although the return of Catain Loppacher may alter the appearance of the backfield somewhat.

CLEVELAND LAD TRIMS WEYGANT

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 10.—Gaston Charles, Cleveland featherweight, defeated Eddie Weygant, of New Castle, in the ten round main bout here last night. Charles took eight of the ten rounds and had Weygant in bad shape. George Harris, of Niles, Ohio, knocked out George Boley, New Castle, in one minute and five seconds. Eddie Santoy, of Niles, Ohio, scored a one-round knockout ver Tommy Finch, of Corry.

Big Six Games Lead

In Ohio conference football circles today the two Big Six contests are clamoring for the major portion of attention. Ohio university opens its conference season by meeting Denison at Granville and Wittenberg plays its third conference game with Miami at Oxford. Wittenberg has defeated Akron and Denison. Miami's one victory this season was over Georgetown, Ky.

Akron Is Confident

Ohio Wesleyan, "threat" among Ohio conference schools as a result of its showing against Ohio State last Saturday, is scheduled to clash with Akron U. to day. In Delaware, Akron is looked upon with respect. Coach Coleman and his Rubber City men are reported to be confident they can beat Wesleyan, although they will be outweighed by the Bishops 20 pounds to a man.

While getting ready to meet Oberlin today, Wooster this week temporarily lost the services of Tackle Stoll, who will be out for two weeks with a bad ankle.

LEGAL NOTICE

Sarah N. Calhoun individually and also as Executrix of the Estate of William M. Calhoun Deceased, being the legal owner of all that part of the addition of lots, not heretofore sold, known as "Glendale," as laid out and platted by Dr. Wm. M. Calhoun deceased, to Liverpool Township, Columbiana County and State of Ohio, being parts of Sections 6, 12, 35, and 36, does hereby give notice as required by Section 3601 General Code of Ohio, that she owns, and intends to, and will vacate, all that part of said "Glendale Addition" described as follows to wit:

Beginning at a point approximately 170 feet southerly from Back Street, on a line which if produced from said point, would intersect with the Southerly line of Price Street, and the Northerly line of Valley Avenue, in said "Glendale Addition," and running thence Northwardly to the intersection of Line Avenue and Price Street, and being all the part of said addition lying between said Streets, being bounded by the Northerly line of Valley Avenue and the Southerly line of Price street, said Price Street and Valley Avenue not being affected by said vacation.

She also intends to vacate all of Dry Run Alley in said addition from a point approximately 170 feet Southerly from Back Street, measured along the Center line of Dry Run Alley, to its intersection with Line Avenue, in said "Glendale Addition;" also all of Back Street lying between Valley Avenue and Price street in said addition.

Any objection to said vacation must be made on or before October 28, 1925.

To the Electors of Salineville Village School District.

Notice is hereby given that the proposition to levy an additional tax, for school purposes, over and above the maximum authorized under Sections 5649-2, 5649-3A and 5649-3C, General Code of Ohio, and all limitations of law, be submitted to the electors of the said Salineville Village School District, at the regular election, November 3, 1925.

Such extra tax levy is declared by the Board of Education of the said Salineville Village School District to be necessary, because by the exercise of all authority under limitations of law, the maximum amount that can be so levied will be insufficient to pay the current expenses of the said districts schools, and it is expedient to levy additional taxes by virtue of Section 5649-4, as amended by House Bill No. 58, passed by the General Assembly of Ohio and filed with the Secretary of State, April 21, 1925.

The question to be decided is whether or not a levy of not to exceed 3 mills, additional to that authorized under limitations of law, shall be made, for school purposes, for a period not to exceed 5 years.

LEGAL NOTICE

To the Electors of Salineville Village School District.

Notice is hereby given that the proposition to levy an additional tax, for school purposes, over and above the maximum authorized under Sections 5649-2, 5649-3A and 5649-3C, General Code of Ohio, and all limitations of law, be submitted to the electors of the said Salineville Village School District, at the regular election, November 8, 1925.

Such extra tax levy is declared by the Board of Education of the said Salineville Village School District to be necessary, because by the exercise of all authority under limitations of law, the maximum amount that can be so levied will be insufficient to pay the current expenses of the said districts schools, and it is expedient to levy additional taxes by virtue of Section 5649-4, as amended by House Bill No. 58, passed by the General Assembly of Ohio and filed with the Secretary of State, April 21, 1925.

The question to be decided is whether or not a levy of not to exceed 3 mills, additional to that authorized under limitations of law, shall be made, for school purposes, for a period not to exceed 5 years.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO

ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE VIII OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION, TO BE DESIGNATED AS ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13, RELATIVE TO THE INCURRING OF INDEBTEDNESS BY POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner provided by law on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1925, a proposal to add a new section to the constitution to be known as article VIII, section 13, to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

Sec. 13. No bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness, or other evidence of indebtedness shall be issued by any county, school district, township, municipal corporation or other political subdivision or taxing district for current operating expense, or for the acquisition or construction of any property or improvement having an estimated usefulness of less than five years; but laws may be passed authorizing borrowing for a period not exceeding six months in anticipation of the collection of revenue in and for the current fiscal year in which such indebtedness is incurred, or authorizing indebtedness in anticipation of the levy or collection of special assessments or for defraying the expenses of an extraordinary epidemic of disease or emergency expenses made necessary by sudden casualty which could not reasonably have been foreseen, or to provide for the payment of final judgments for personal injuries or other non-contractual obligations. No bonds or notes issued for the acquisition or construction of property or improvements shall run for longer than the probable period of usefulness of such property or improvements, to be estimated or determined as provided by laws fixing maximum maturities herein authorized. Laws shall be passed to fix the fiscal years of political subdivisions and taxing districts and to designate the boards or officers by whom and the manner in which the estimates as to the period of usefulness of property or improvements shall be made and certified. Within the limitations of this section laws may be passed fixing the maximum maturity of bonds or notes issued for any purpose or class of purposes.

Be it further resolved, That at such election, above referred to, this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot, in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate. If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, this amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1926.

Adopted March 27, 1925.

ARTICLE XII, SECTION 2

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE XII, SECTION 2 OF THE CONSTITUTION SO AS TO PROVIDE FOR TAXATION BY UNIFORM RULE OF ALL REAL ESTATE AND TANGIBLE PROPERTY EXCEPT MOTOR VEHICLES, AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE TAXATION OF INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first

KELLY ABANDONS OARSMAN CAREER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10. — Jack Kelly, winner of the singles sculling championship of the world at the Olympic games in 1920, and one of the greatest rowers the country has ever seen, has retired. His retirement took place when the Pennsylvania Athletic club eight crossed the finishing line Labor day on the Patapsco river.

"He dominated the rowing world just as completely as any man possibly could," according to a local rowing expert, "more so than any one man had ever before or probably ever will again. Sports are richer for his having taken part in them."

Kelly started his rowing career in 1908 and he began to retire in 1920. During his career, he won 122 races in open regattas. He rowed both sculls and sweeps up until 1919 when he concentrated on sculls.

REACH FINALS IN WOMEN'S GOLF

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. — Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., women's national golf champion, will play Miss Helen Palson of Portland, Maine, here today in the Indian Hills invitation golf tournament. The match, scheduled to be held yesterday for championship honors, was postponed because of adverse weather.

CRAWFORD OUT OF THIEL GAME

Tackle Crawford, of East Liverpool, who sustained a fractured wrist in last week's game with Duquesne University, will be absent today when Coach Nuss' Bethany gridders line up against Thiel at Greensburg. With this one exception, the Bison line will probably be the same as it was last week, although the return of Catain Loppacker may alter the appearance of the backfield somewhat.

CLEVELAND LAD TRIMS WEYGANT

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 10.—Gaston Charles, Cleveland featherweight, defeated Eddie Weygant, of New Castle, in the ten round main bout here last night. Charles took eight of the ten rounds and had Weygant in bad shape. George Harris, of Niles, Ohio, knocked out George Boley, New Castle, in one minute and five seconds. Eddie Santoy, of Niles, Ohio, scored a one-round knockout ver Tommy Finch, of Corry.

Big Six Games Lead

In Ohio conference football circles today the two Big Six contests are clamoring for the major portion of attention. Ohio university opens its conference season by meeting Denison at Granville and Wittenberg plays its third conference game with Miami at Oxford. Wittenberg has defeated Akron and Denison. Miami's one victory this season was over Georgetown, Ky.

Akron Is Confident

Ohio Wesleyan, "threat" among Ohio conference schools as a result of its showing against Ohio State last Saturday, is scheduled to clash with Akron U. today. In Delaware, Akron is looked upon with respect. Coach Coleman and his Rubber City men are reported to be confident they can beat Wesleyan, although they will be outweighed by the Bishops 20 pounds to a man.

Wooster Loses Stoll

While getting ready to meet Oberlin today, Wooster this week temporarily lost the services of Tackle Stoll, who will be out for two weeks with a bad ankle.

Backfield Star Out

Garmon, varsity quarterback at Ohio Northern, will be unable to play for probably two weeks as a result of injury to one of his eyes.

Before the war Germany supplied seventy-five per cent of the world demand for dyes; now the United States produces ninety-five per cent of its domestic needs, England eighty per cent, and France, Italy and Japan each forty to fifty per cent.

Mayhap, those African girls who are demanding more clothes want as few, at least, as the other things wear. —Newark Commercial Tribune.

W. V. U. FANS TO HONOR RED MAHAN

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Northern West Virginia counties — the "stamping ground" of Walter "Red" Mahan, guard and captain of the West Virginia University eleven —will send hundreds of fans to Pittsburgh, Pa., Saturday when the Mountaineers are to engage in annual combat with the University of Pittsburgh outfit. Nearly 1,000 seats have been sent to West Virginia fans and friends of Mahan in the northern Panhandle and nearly Ohio cities.

The Mountaineer captain is widely known and well liked in his own sector and there has been some talk of acquaintances honoring him with a "Mahan section."

LEGAL NOTICE

Sarah N. Calhoun individually and also as Executrix of the Estate of William M. Calhoun Deceased, being the legal owner of all that part of the addition of lots, not heretofore sold, known as "Glendale," as laid out and platted by Dr. Wm. M. Calhoun deceased, to Liverpool Township, Columbiana County and State of Ohio, being parts of Sections 6, 12, 35, and 36, does hereby give notice as required by Section 3601 General Code of Ohio, that she owns, and intends to, and will vacate, all that part of said "Glendale Addition" described as follows to wit:

Beginning at a point approximately 170 feet southerly from Back Street, on a line which if produced from said point, would intersect with the Southerly line of Price Street, and the Northerly line of Valley Avenue, in said "Glendale Addition," and running thence Northwardly to the intersection of Line Avenue and Price Street, and being all the part of said addition lying between said Streets, being bounded by the Northerly line of Valley Avenue and the Southerly line of Price street, said Price Street and Valley Avenue not being affected by said vacation.

She also intends to vacate all of Dry Run Alley in said addition from a point approximately 170 feet Southerly from Back Street, measured along the Center line of Dry Run Alley, to its intersection with Line Avenue, in said "Glendale Addition;" also all of Back Street lying between Valley Avenue and Price street in said addition.

Any objection to said vacation must be made on or before October 28, 1925.

To the Electors of Salineville Village School District.

Notice is hereby given that the proposition to levy an additional tax, for school purposes, over and above the maximum authorized under Sections 5649-2, 5649-3A and 5649-3C, General Code of Ohio, and all limitations of law, be submitted to the electors of the said Salineville Village School District, at the regular election, November 3, 1925.

Such extra tax levy is declared by the Board of Education of the said Salineville Village School District to be necessary, because by the exercise of all authority under limitations of law, the maximum amount that can be so levied will be insufficient to pay the current expenses of the said districts schools, and it is expedient to levy additional taxes by virtue of Section 5649-4, as amended by House Bill No. 58, passed by the General Assembly of Ohio and filed with the Secretary of State, April 21, 1925.

The question to be decided is whether or not a levy of not to exceed 3 mills, additional to that authorized under limitations of law, shall be made, for school purposes, for a period not to exceed 5 years.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO

ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE VIII OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION, TO BE DESIGNATED AS ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13, RELATIVE TO THE INCURRING OF INDEBTEDNESS BY POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner provided by law on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1925, a proposal to add a new section to the constitution to be known as article VIII, section 13, to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

Sec. 13. No bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness, or other evidence of indebtedness shall be issued by any county, school district, township, municipal corporation or other political subdivision or taxing district for current operating expense, or for the acquisition or construction of any property or improvement having an estimated usefulness of less than five years; but laws may be passed authorizing borrowing for a period not exceeding six months in anticipation of the collection of revenue in and for the current fiscal year in which such indebtedness is incurred, or authorizing indebtedness in anticipation of the levy or collection of special assessments or for defraying the expenses of an extraordinary epidemic of disease or emergency expenses made necessary by sudden casualty which could not reasonably have been foreseen, or to provide for the payment of final judgments for personal injuries or other non-contractual obligations. No bonds or notes issued for the acquisition or construction of property or improvements shall run for longer than the probable period of usefulness of such property or improvements, to be estimated or determined as provided by laws fixing maximum maturities herein authorized. Laws shall be passed to fix the fiscal years of political subdivisions and taxing districts and to designate the boards or officers by whom and the manner in which the estimates as to the period of usefulness of property or improvements shall be made and certified. Within the limitations of this section laws may be passed fixing the maximum maturity of bonds or notes issued for any purpose or class of purposes.

Be it further resolved, That at such election, above referred to, this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot, in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate. If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, the amendment shall go into effect January 1, 1926, and original section 2 of article III, and section 2 of article X, and section 2 of article XVII and section 3 of article X of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled. The General Assembly shall have power to so adjust or extend existing terms of office as to effect the purpose of the foregoing amendment.

Adopted March 27, 1925.

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE XII, SECTION 2 OF THE CONSTITUTION SO AS TO PROVIDE FOR TAXATION BY UNIFORM RULE OF ALL REAL ESTATE AND TANGIBLE PROPERTY EXCEPT MOTOR VEHICLES, AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE TAXATION OF INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1925, a proposal to amend article XII, section 2 of the constitution of the state of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII.

Sec. 2. Laws shall be passed, taxing by a uniform rule all real estate and improvements thereon and all tangible personal property, according to their true value in money, excepting motor vehicles which shall be taxed as may be provided by law. All moneys, credits, bonds, stocks and all other intangible property, shall be taxed as may be provided by law.

But all bonds outstanding on the first day of January 1914 of the state of Ohio or of any city, village, hamlet, county or township in this state or which have been issued in behalf of the public schools in Ohio and the means of instruction in connection therewith, and all bonds issued under article VIII, section 2a of this constitution for the world war compensation fund, shall be exempt from taxation, and burying grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions used exclusively for charitable purposes public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and tangible personal property to an amount not exceeding in value five hundred dollars for any individual, may by general laws, be exempted from taxation; and laws may be passed to provide against the double taxation that results from the taxation of both the real estate and the mortgage or the debt secured thereby, or other lien upon it, but all such laws shall be subject to alteration or repeal; and the value of all property, so exempted, shall, from time to time, be ascertained and published as may be directed by law.

'A Bachelor's Night' Bill At Ceramic Theatre Tonight

Chicago Stock Company Offers Screamingly Funny Comedy in Closing Week's Engagement.

The Chicago Stock company will close a successful week's engagement at the Ceramic theatre tonight with a production of Wilson Collison's screamingly funny comedy, entitled, "A Bachelor's Night." This is said to be one of the best plays in the Chicago Stock company's large repertoire and the fact thit it was written by the man who gave the stage such amusing comedies as "Getting Gertie's Garter," and "Up in Mabel's Room," insures all who attend an enjoyable evening.

During the week the Chicago players have presented plays which have been excellently acted and staged and have well merited the large audience that they have attracted. Should they return at some future date they are sure to receive a warm welcome from the local theatregoers.

Monday and Tuesday, the Ceramic will present "Bebe" Daniels in the Paramount photoplay, "Lovers in Quarantine." Harrison Ford will support the star in what is said to be one of the best "Daniels" pictures screened in many months. In addition will be a two-part comedy and the International News reel.

LIST NOTABLES IN "CHICKIE"

American Theatre Presents Story of Girl's Problems.

A European Prince!

A Great-Great-Granddaughter of "Jeff" Davis, president of the Confederacy.

A "Queen" of Costa Rican Bull Fights!

These are some of the usual "extras" who have parts in "Chickie," at the American today.

The prince is Serge M. Divani, grandson of the last king of Georgia.

Then there is Gladys Erskine, from far-off Costa Rica, whose beauty impelled the president of the republic to select her queen of the bull fights at the fiestas last year.

And last, but not least, is Winnie Davis Hunter, great-great-grand-daughter of "Jeff" Davis, the famous hero of the South during the Civil War.

"Chickie' is the story of a modern girl's problems. In its cast are such film favorites as Dorothy Mackaill, John Bowers, Hobart Bosworth, Myrtle Stedman, Gladys Brockwell, Olive Tell, Paul Nicholson, Lora Sonderson and Louise Mackintosh.

Because of many newspaper and magazine articles praising American progress, and the showing of American films, people of Germany are copying styles and ideas of this country.

Backache Slowing You Up?

ALWAYS tired—stiff and achy? A dull ache in the small of your back wearing you out? Sharp twinges torturing you at almost every step?

Too often this condition is due to sluggish kidneys. Blood and nerves are upset by poisons and impurities, and many aches and ills result. One is apt to suffer backache, lameness and stiffness—headaches, dizziness and distressing bladder irregularities.

If your kidneys are inactive, don't risk serious kidney sickness. Help them with a tested diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended by thousands. Ask your neighbor!

Here is East Liverpool Proof:

F. M. Glenn, painter, 1122 St. Clair Ave., says: "Kidney trouble must have been brought on by the constant use of paints and varnishes. Reaching while on the ladder caused sharp pains in my back. A constant, dull ache settled in my back and tired me out. My kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Pills and the backache left and my kidneys were put in good condition."

A Pair by Whiteman

Regular openers, in poker parlance, are two fox trots which Paul Whiteman and his orchestra record for Victor this week. "I'm Tired of Everything But You" is melodious and not so fast, while "The Rhythm Rag" has some brilliant piano and woodwind work.

Newcomers to the Victor fold are the Seattle Harmony Kings, sponsored by Benson and heard during the summer at Atlantic City. Their first records are interesting, "If I Had a Girl Like You" being a fox trot based on a Strauss waltz cadence, while "Darktown Shuffle" is chiefly and emphatically rhythmic.

'Blossom Time,' Charming Operetta, Coming to Ceramic

Shubert Production Will Make Farewell Appearance Here Wednesday Night, Oct. 21.

Exquisite "Blossom Time," that altogether charming operetta or musical comedy, will be seen at the Ceramic theatre on Wednesday night, Oct. 21.

Those who have seen "Blossom Time" will want to see it again, and those who have never seen it should not miss its numerous allurements, not the least of which is its lovely musical score taken almost entirely from the songs and other master works of Franz Schubert. Messrs. Shubert are bringing the splendid singing company which has delighted thearegoers everywhere this beautiful and extraordinary play with music has been seen. The cast includes Joseph Mendelsohn, Gene Leontovitch, Shep Camp, Beulah Berson, Betty Shapelle, Arthur Hadley, Freda Melburn, William Webster, Kraft Walton, Henry Rahke, James Sheridan, Cuni Berti, Lillian Menken and 50 others, including a large and beautiful chorus.

The story of "Blossom Time" is founded on an episode in the life of Franz Schubert who, apparently, had but one authentic affair of the heart. The book and lyrics are by Dorothy Donnelly and the music, almost entirely taken from the famous songs and unforgettable motifs from Schubert's larger works, has been beautifully adapted by Sigmund Romberg. Single musical numbers here and there were composed by H. Berte, a modern writer of Vienna. The piece was staged by J. C. Huffman, under the personal direction of J. J. Shubert.

The scenes are all laid in old Vienna (1826) and the work as a whole, now grave, now gay and later turning to romance, often conjures the life of that gay European capital in its heyday of earlier generations. There is a resemblance in the story of "Blossom Time" to our famous New England legend around the romance affairs of John Alden—but it is only a resemblance.

World's Oldest Man, At 150, Does Day's Work in Constantinople

CONSTANTINOPLE.—At the age of 150 Zaro Agha, who is said to be the oldest living man in the world, has gleefully accepted an offer from the Constantinople municipal authorities to join the staff of guards at one of the imperial palaces. Still hale and hearty, Zaro is looking forward to his new job with gusto. He has been married eleven times and is devoted to his present wife, who is only twenty-seven.

The only blot on Zaro's horizon is his son, aged ninety-nine, who thinks he is too old to earn a livelihood. "I don't see why I should have to keep him," Zaro indignantly declares. "If I can work surely the boy can."

Those who have seen "Blossom Time" will want to see it again, and those who have never seen it should not miss its numerous allurements, not the least of which is its lovely musical score taken almost entirely from the songs and other master works of Franz Schubert. Messrs. Shubert are bringing the splendid singing company which has delighted thearegoers everywhere this beautiful and extraordinary play with music has been seen. The cast includes Joseph Mendelsohn, Gene Leontovitch, Shep Camp, Beulah Berson, Betty Shapelle, Arthur Hadley, Freda Melburn, William Webster, Kraft Walton, Henry Rabke, James Sheridan, Cuni Berti, Lillian Menken and 50 others, including a large and beautiful chorus.

The story of "Blossom Time" is founded on an episode in the life of Franz Schubert who, apparently, had but one authentic affair of the heart. The book and lyrics are by Dorothy Donnelly and the music, almost entirely taken from the famous songs and unforgettable motifs from Schubert's larger works, has been beautifully adapted by Sigmund Romberg. Single musical numbers here and there were composed by H. Berte, a modern writer of Vienna. The piece was staged by J. C. Huffman, under the personal direction of J. J. Shubert.

The scenes are all laid in old Vienna (1826) and the work as a whole, now grave, now gay and later turning to romance, often conjures the life of that gay European capital in its heyday of earlier generations. There is a resemblance in the story of "Blossom Time" to our famous New England legend around the romance affairs of John Alden—but it is only a resemblance.

World's Oldest Man, At 150, Does Day's Work in Constantinople

CONSTANTINOPLE.—At the age of 150 Zaro Agha, who is said to be the oldest living man in the world, has gleefully accepted an offer from the Constantinople municipal authorities to join the staff of guards at one of the imperial palaces. Still hale and hearty, Zaro is looking forward to his new job with gusto. He has been married eleven times and is devoted to his present wife, who is only twenty-seven.

The only blot on Zaro's horizon is his son, aged ninety-nine, who thinks he is too old to earn a livelihood. "I don't see why I should have to keep him," Zaro indignantly declares. "If I can work surely the boy can."

Yes, But—

What About Persia?

Gas War "Barbarous?"

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Copyright, 1925, by The Star Co.

In his Omaha speech President Coolidge said: "No nation ever had an army large enough to guarantee it again attack. * * * No nation ever will."

That is true, but while Philip of Macedonia, and Alexander, his son, were building up their army, perfecting their methods, keeping prepared, great, powerful, dsidainful rich and swollen Persia—the United States of those days—didn't imagine what was going to happen, and never got ready.

Things happened rapidly when Alexander with 30,000 men swam across the river, attacked the power of Persia, scattered its vast armies, its line of war elephants, and hunted the Persian king to his death.

You can't have an army big enough "to guarantee you against attack," but you can keep yourself in such a condition of preparation so as to make attack improbable, and not dangerous.

If this nation continues accumulating money, ignoring the teachings of history, neglecting modern war methods, simmering complacently in its own financial grease, we may get a lesson such as the Macedonians gave to Persia, and the Japanese to heavy China.

Asia, Tokio, Pekin are now about 40 hours from the United States by swift airplane. The fastest plane might cross the Pacific in 21 hours.

Twenty-five years ago the trip by water was two weeks, and an enemy invader would have been compelled to make a landing and find subsistence after landing.

Now the enemy would come through the air, and there need be no landing. Attacking airships would drop their cargoes of explosives and poisonous gases on a few cities, then fly back to a mother ship off shore or across the Canadian border, land and be held for the duration of the war.

Missing Air Mail Pilot Not Found; Rumor Groundless

Reports that the mail plane, driven by Charles H. Ames, missing for nine days, had been found along Beaver Creek near the state line, last night are untrue.

The rumor gained a wide circulation throughout the city last night and today. The report was said to have been received here by radio.

Police made inquiries in the vicinity of the state line, but could locate no one who knew anything concerning the missing aircraft.

BASEBALL IS SERVED IN CAPITAL WITH SIDE ORDER OF CRACKED ICE

Wind Blows Gale Following Friday's Rain With Result That Thermometer Drops to 37 Degrees as Harris Club and McKechnie's Cohorts Resume World Series.

41,000 FRAPPED CITIZENS DEFY KING WINTER TO WATCH CLASSIC

American Leaguers Forced to Use Recruit 'Buddy' Myer at Third Base as Ossie Bluege, "Beaned" by Aldridge in Smoky City, Still Suffers From Effects of Blow.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

BASEBALL PARK, WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Baseball was served with a side order of cracked ice and cold cuts this afternoon when the Washington Senators and Pittsburgh Pirates finally got around to the matter of conducting the third game of the world series, a game that was destined to break a one-all tie in victories. The day was as cold as the eye of a maiden aunt.

The wind blew a gale following yesterday's rain and this morning the thermometer dropped to 37 degrees while a handful of all-night vigilants at the general admission gates played castenets with their incisors. It was Washington's first view of the 1925 series and a goodly crowd of more than 41,000 frapped citizens, did do justice to the occasion.

External warmth was furnished by overcoats and wraps. Internal warmth was furnished from sources strictly fluid, the nature of which was nobody's business, with the possible exception of the "infernal" revenue department.

Odds Favor Heydler Entry.

This business was no more uncertain and dubious than the probable outcome of a ball game that was to send one club or the other into the lead and place it in a tactical position of obious superiority.

The odds slightly favored Pittsburgh not only because of its rather impressive victory in the second game but also because the Senators went into the game lacking its full war strength, so to speak.

An hour before game time it was announced that Ossie Bluge would be unable to play third base for the World Champions. He still was feeling the effects of the blow on the head he received in Pittsburgh on Thursday from a ball pitched by Vic Aldridge, and his personal physician declined to let him appear.

Recruit at Third Base.

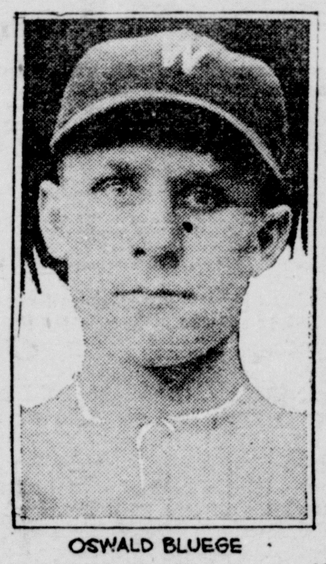

This meant that the Senators were deprived of the services of one of the best infielders in baseball and were constrained to step out with a recruit, "Buddy" Myers, at third base. The general trend of uncertainty did not end here, however. There was for example the freak winds, making the matter of catching fly balls a precarious undertaking. It blew so hard before the game that the batting screen was upended and sandwiches were wafted from tables in the Press stand.

Fortunately the screen capsized before the teams appeared on the field.

The wind was a westerly one, thus favoring right field hitters.

The Senators were the first to show merging from their dugout at 12:30 o'clock. Not more than a thousand fans were in the stadium at that hour.

OSWALD BLUEGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Oswald Bluege, the Senators' third sacker, was "beaned" in the second world series game at Pittsburgh, will not play today, it was announced by his physician. He may be out for the series.

Bluege's injury is proving more serious than was at first anticipated.

"Buddy" Myer will replace Bluege at third for the Senators.

HORSE DRAWN VEHICLE TAX PLAN DEFEATED BY SOLONS, 4-2

Kerr Introduces Measure Providing $25-$50 License Fee.

FARRALL OPPOSES

Chambers Joins With Sponsor in Supporting Proposal.

On ordinance providing for the licensing of all horse-drawn vehicles in the city, was defeated, 4 to 2, at the councilmanic meeting last night.

The proposal, introduced by Councilman N. P. Kerr, called for a license fee of $25 for one-horse vehicles and $50 for two-horse equipment. Kerr suggested that grocers and farmers be exempt from payment of the fee.

Solicitor Brokaw warned that the exemption would make it class legislation and that it would therefore be unconstitutional.

Farrall Condemns Proposal.

"I can't see the idea of this ordinance,' said Solon Farrall. "Old Dobbin' is gone—the automobile has come in his place."

"I disagree with Mr. Farrall in his statement that "Old Dobbin' is gone," answered Kerr. "I asked the solicitor to prepare this ordinance because a horse and wagon will do more damage to our improved streets than a dozen automobiles. Yet the automobile owner pays three or four different kinds of taxes while the horse owner pays nothing.

"The Sixth and Broadway corner is a disgrace to our city. One can see a half dozen or more horse-drawn vehicles standing around there at all hours of the day. It is for the elimi-

MRS. GASTON, AGED 82, DIES

Funeral Services Will be Held at 2:30 p. m. Monday.

Mrs. George Gaston, 82, pioneer resident of Columbiana county, died last night in her home in St. Clair avenue, after two weeks' illness of influenza.

Mrs. Gaston, who was born on a farm five miles from East Liverpool, was a daughter of the late John and Sarah Montgomery Gaston, and spent the greater part of her life here. She was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church and an early crusader in the ranks of the Women's Chrisitan Temperance Union in the fight against intoxicating liquor.

Her husband, George Gaston, died in 1908, while a foster daughter, Mrs. Sarah J. Hill Huston, died six years ago.

She is survived by four children: Willis Gaston, East Liverpool; Rev. John Gaston, Pittsburgh, Pa.; George Gaston, New York city; Mrs. H. N. Mateer, Wooster, and one sister, Mrs. Ellen McCoy, Van Wert, O.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2:30 Monday afternoon. Rev. Dr. D. W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

BANKS CLOSED HERE ON MONDAY

Monday is Columbus Day, and the day will be observed here by banks and building and loan institutions, which will be closed.

There will be no change in the routine at the postoffice, and all stores and business houses will remain open as usual.

Carroll council No. 509, Knights of Columbus, will celebrate the day with a dance and card party in the lodge rooms in the Fowler building, Monday evening.

Icy Winds Sweep New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania

Storm Warnings Issued for Maine and Southern New England Coast as Snow Blankets Many Cities.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. — Icy winds swept New York today when the temperature dropped to 35 degrees above zero.

Northern New York is reported under a blanket of snow and the storm is reported moving from the northeast.

Winds were increasing in strength and the weather bureau predicted they would reach gale strength.

Storm warnings have been issued for the coast of Maine and southern New England.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 10.—Pittsburgh got its first snow of the season shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. The flakes were small and indications were for snow intermittently throughout the day, the weather bureau stated.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 10. — With the first snowfall of the season recorded, Cleveland had regular winter weather today. A few flakes of snow fell last night, and again at 6 o'clock this morning. They melted as they reached the ground.

The official weather forecast was for a temperature just above the freezing point throughout the day.

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—Snow fell through the night throughout the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, the earliest snowfall on record. It was still snowing in Mntreal this forenoon.

Warmer Weather Is Sweeping Down From Northwest

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 — Warmer weather was sweeping down from the northwest today in the wake of the first wintry spell of the season which yesterday brought snow and freezing temperatures to virtually all the midwest, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, the Dakotas, and northern sections of Illinois and Indiana reported heavy snowfalls yesterday and in Chicago proper, the storm had the nature of a minature blizzard, snow and hail slithering about the city following an icy rain.

Fair and warmer was the midwest weather forecast for today, however.

Use Snow Plows.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 10. — A blanket of snow six inches deep covered this section of northern Vermont today. Never in the remembrance of the oldest inhabitants has such a fall of snow occurred so early in October.

The city had its street plows out clearing the sidewalks this forenoon.

Much damage has been caused to fruit and vegetables, which had not been gathered before the arrival of the "fall blizzard."

MRS. ELIZABETH LANSDOWNE, MOTHER OF SHENANDOAH CRASH VICTIM, DIES

Heart Disease Claims Aged Woman in Her Home at Greenville Early Today.

GREENVILLE, O., Oct. 10.—Death early today claimed Mrs. Elizabeth Knox Lansdowne, 74-year-old mother of the late Zachary Lansdowne, commonder of the ill-fated dirigible Shenondoah.

Mrs. Lansdowne died at 2:30 a. m. of heart trouble. She had complained of feeling indisposed yesterday, but toward night had felt better. At 2 a. m. today her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Knox Lansdowne got up and discovered Mrs. Lansdowne was dying.

Funeral arrangements will be made when Knox Lansdowne, a son arrives from Cincinnati. Another son, Harry, lives in Los Angeles.

Ill For Two Years

Mrs. Lansdowne was the daughter of John Riley Knox, noted attorney in this section half a century ago. Her mother was Isabel Griggs, of pioneer New England stock. Mrs. Lansdowne was born here.

Mrs. Lansdowne had been in failing health for the last two years. She withstood the shock of her son's tragic death with remarkable fortitude and had seemed in her usual health yesterday. Late in the afternoon, however, she spoke of feeling exhausted. A rest revived her and she retired at 9 o'clock.

Upon discovery this morning that she was dying a physician was called immediately, but Mrs. Lasndowne passed away before his arrival.

12 Reported Killed And Many Injured In Train Wreck

A railway bridge is reported to have collapsed. As a train passed over it, throwing the train into the river below.

Rebekah Lodges Of County Plan Salineville Meet

First of the series of county meetings to be held by the Rebekah association of Columbiana county will be held at Salineville next Tuesday evening with members of Cable Rebekah Lodge No. 693 as hostesses.

A prize will be awarded the lodge having the largest percentage of attendance at the series of meetings. Delegations from East Liverpool, Wellsville and Lisbon are expected to attend. Three delegates and the noble grand, ex-officio member from each Rebekah lodge in the county form the nucleus of the Rebekah association.

Officers in charge of the meetings are James D. Caldwell, Lisbon, president, and Miss Ethel McCain, East Liverpool, secretary.

France Made More Concessions Than U. S., Says Caillaux

HAVRE, France, Oct. 10.—France made more concessions than the United States in the recent Franco-American debt negotiations in Washington, M. Joseph Caillaux, finance minister and head of the French debt mission to the United States, declared today on his arrival here on the S. S. France.

"It is not possible to say that America made concessions to us," said M. Caillaux.

"The American delegates received us courteously and amiably but the maximum concessions were made not by America but by France.'

Carpenter Fractures His Right Ankle in Fall While Working

J. S. Zirkle, Newell carpenter, was removed to the City hospital this morning, suffering from a fracture of the right ankle sustained in a fall while working in East Liverpool. The fracture was reduced by Dr. H. A. Turk.

JAIL TURNKEY CLINE SAYS HE IS READY FOR COUNCIL PROBE

Solon Farrall Reiterates Charge on Private Auto Operation.

NAME COMMITTEE

"Who is Liar?" is Query at Friday Session.

"I stand ready for an investigation at any time."

This was the statement of City Jail Turnkey William Cline today relative to the action of city council last night in authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate Solon Thomas Farrall's charge that the police department attache has been using city-purchased gasoline in his private automobile.

Farrall, last night, declared that he was prepared to prove his accusation.

Will Hear Both Sides.

"I was called a liar through the papers and now I want this matter settled to see who is the liar," the solon said. "I have the word of good citizens that this man illegally used gasoline purchased by the city and I am ready to back up my ch ges."

"If what Councilman Farrall says is true there should be an investigation," Solon Charles Hayes said. "This is a serious charge and council should give him an opportunity to prove it."

Upon motion of Councilman N. P. Kerr, the solons approved the appointment of a committee to investigate and give both sides an opportunity to be heard. President Capehart named Councilmen Farrall, Kerr and Larcombe as members of this committee.

Cline's Statement.

"I have never taken more than six gallons of gasoline from the tank at any one time and only took that when my car was to be used in police de-

Italy Definitely Brought Into Plan For Security Pact

LOCARNO, Oct. 10.—Italy was definitely brought into the proposed security pact today.

The morning plenary session of the security pact conference reached a definite decision to include Italy in the preamble to the pact, Making that nation one of the guarantors of the western security pact.

Upon other issues the delegates still found themselves so widely apart that it was agreed to abandon the proposed afternoon plenary session in order that the representatives of the various nations might engage in informal discussions.

MRS. LEE MEADOWS IS ANSWER TO WHAT BLEACHERITES YELL AT BATTER, "GOOD EYE, OLD MAN," SAYS WRITER OF "DIARY OF DAMP DAY"

BY KATHARINE BRUSH.

Special to The Review-Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Diary of a damp day:

9 a. m.—Arrived on one of five special trains from Pittsburgh. Am convinced that five is too many special trains. The one I was on spent half the night sitting on a siding looking at the rest of them but we're here. And now the question is, Why are we here? I didn't have to come all this distance to see it rain. I wish I stayed in Pittsburgh. At least I know people there who would lend me their umbrella.

10 a. m.—For lack of anything better to do I charter a taxi and go out to Clark Griffith's stadium to see the waiting line. It extends from the general admission gate to points suburban and looks as if it had been fished out of the sea. Two women in it. At least the taxi driver says tney're women. They look like bales of newspapers topped off with a couple of automobiles. Curtains too wet.

11:30 a. m.—Game called. Official proclamation. Several hundred reporters, with "school out" whoops, rush from press headforemost to get trains for the races at Laurel. I give one of them $10 to place as he is on his way. Then spend afternoon wishing I hadn't.

1 p. m.—It ain't gonna rain no more, not that it matters now.

2 p. m.—I betake myself to see what I can see at the Wardman Park hotel where many of the Senators live all season and where the Pirate band is now stopping. Gloom permeates the lobby. Here and there ball players sit twiddling thumbs, discouraged. All pepped up and no ball to throw around. I don't wonder they ask about Ossie Bluege's condition. When that ball hit him in the head on Thursday and he toppled like a rock I thought he just had to be dead. But it seems baseball brains are encased in triple plates, steel or something, for safe keeping. He will be in the game tomorrow.

2:15 p. m.—I corral Mrs. Lee Meadows in an elevator where she can't get out. Pretty. All ball players' wives seem to be pretty. Now I know what they mean when they yell at a batter "Good eye, old man." Mrs. Meadows is a brunette from Virginia. She and the celebrated Lee have been married nine years. And they live in Leesburg, Florida. I id they name the town after the pitcher or the pitcher after the town during the winter. Mrs. Meadows does not know which she is more proud of—big Lee or little Lee. She tries to introduce me to little Lee, who is eight years old, but he will have none of me. "I am sick of fooling around with reporters," he says, and disappears magically from sight.

2:30 p. m.—I call on Mrs. Eddie Moore and daughter, Maralynn, aged 3. Maralynn Moore congratulates Lee, Jr. Steals my pencil and my notebook and asks how many little girls I have. Mrs. Moore is not only pretty, she has beautiful dimples, brown eyes and a smile like a billboard. She has on a black dress trimmed with silver braid and little black slippers with silver buckles. Eddie found her six years ago in Indiana when he was on an exhibition tour with a baseball team composed of ex-gobs. They have another child, Eddie II, aged 9 months. He is now holding the fort in East Liberty against their return. And doubtless listening with interest to tidings from Washington over the radio.

2:50—I inquire what the rest of the players are doing to pass away the restless hours. Lenin that some have gone to the races, some are playing cards, others have been taken by friends on sight-seeing tours throughout the capital. The rest are just pacing and cussing.

7 p. m.—I start into a movie and find myself witnessing a picture called "Dark Cloud." This is quite too much. I leave and go dismally to bed.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 P. M. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium", 121 West 5th street. Have them bring their Bibles. The questions for this week are:

79. Does the Bible compare God with the things he has created.
Answer. See Isaiah 40: 12-15, 17, 22, 25, 26, 28; 1 John 3:20; Psalm 104.

80. Does the Bible teach that God is a creator?
Answer. See Genesis 1:1; Peter 4:-19; Eph. 3:9.

WEARWELL BLANKETS

Like a Cordial Word of Greeting

How much they add to the reception of the overnight guest. And how much he notices them.

For the average visitor there is little pleasure in spending the night away from home. Discomforts are anticipated, and a restless night probable.

His anxiety passes, however, very quickly, when he sees the enticing luxury of a Wearwell blanket placed on his bed. The cheery colors radiate hospitality and the warm, fleece-like nap, insures protection from cold.

The nights are not quite cool enough for wool blankets—so these Wearwell cotton blankets are comfortable coverings for the first chilly Fall nights and even right on through coldest winter. Kinky wool-like cotton is woven to a soft fleecy texture and effectively retains warmth and permits perfect bodily respiration.

Harmonious colors in bright warm colors or more subdued colors are offered in many attractive plaids. In orchid, rose, blue, tan or grey with white. Size 70x80. Priced at $3.25, $3.50 and $4.00 the pair.

Plain tan, grey or white cotton blankets with colored stripes on border. Tan or grey with blue or rose stripe. Size 66x80, priced at $2.75; size 70x80 priced at $3.00.

Second Floor Annex, Main Store.

The First Baptist Church

Will have another continuous reading in the book of Matthew.

7:30 P. M.

Do you know that the genealogy recorded in Matthew is not the same as in Luke?

Do you know that the Jews have lost the Davidic records of Messanic genealogy?

Do you know the church has these records?

Do you know why Matthew begins with Abraham and Luke with Adam?

Do you know the Bible does not say three wise men?

You are invited to these Bible readings.

THE TRIUMPH OF RIGHTEOUSNESS

millions now living will never die

Present-day plans and schemes for re-ordering the world continue to meet with consistent failure.

But their failure does not hold as much meaning as does the Triumph of the New Order.

The New Order continues to be reared as present modes of life and forms of civilization make way.

SURRENDER

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER 65.

It is a definite part of the business of Bill McGargle, as it is of other police reporters, to be acquainted personally with all of the persons whom the so-called respectable citizens do not care to know. He counts second-story men, yeggs, streetwalkers, stool pigeons, gunmen, divorce evidence hounds, dips, coke sellers, all types and degrees of politicians, fences, shyster lawyers and others of the half world among his regular friends, and thinks nothing of the fact.

Following a hunch, and working in and out of the devious byways of Halstead street in his search for clues in the Ainsley kidnaping, Bill came in time across Pete, emissary of Jim McConrey. He spoke the argot of the underworld and was patient, and it didn't take him long to ascertain that Pete "knew something." For a hundred dollars, paid in cash on the spot, he found out what that "something" was.

An hour later, in a closed automobile driven by one of the Recorder's photographers, and with an automatic nestling threateningly in his coat pocket, he was speeding out the main highway to the little road that led to Burke's beer-running headquarters. The car parked conveniently in a niche in the woods along this dusty trail, and the evidence of its presence behind the brush concealed as best they could manage it, McGargle organized his campaign.

"It's 5 o'clock," he said, looking at his watch. "We'll find Burke's house, where the girl may be, and you sneak around so you can get some pictures. Take pictures of everything you can while the light holds out, and for Pete's sake don't get caught. Bring your plates and camera back to the car and wait for me, but it may be hours before I get back. Be ready to go the minute I step on the running board, because I figure we're going to get out of here like a bat out of hell."

The photographer, peeved because of the minute and obvious instructions, made his preparations without comment.

McGargle kept away from the roads, and scouted around in the vicinity of the farm he knew was being used as the center of Burke's illegal liquor operations, until the shades of night provided the camouflage necessary to enable him to get nearer in safety.

He was within a stone's throw while the beer trucks were being loaded for their nightly calls on the "trade," and, picking out Burke, trailed him. It was in his mind that the rum runner knew about or was a partner in Red Mike's kidnaping plot, although Pete, in "spilling his dope," had mentioned Burke solely in connection with the location of the Ainsley girl's prison. McGargle was wrong, for Burke did not know of the plot until later, but after all, it was by trailing the "king of the beer runners," that the reporter was able to find the lost heiress. When the dog set off in pursuit of Amoura and Johnson, leading Burke and his two aides, McGargle was not far behind, and he witnessed the scene between Johnson and his chief, but he did not suspect that the kidnaped girl was lying at that moment almost within his reach.

When the men started back to the house, carrying the dog, still dazed from the blow given by Johnson, the reporter followed, wondering if that damned photographer had gone to sleep, and worrying about whether he would get his story in time for the morning paper. He was confident that he was going to release Amoura Ainsley, and already was thinking of the lead he would dictate for the story, linking her kidnaping with the machinations of Chicago's "many million dollar liquor ring."

When Amoura stumbled over the stump, and set off the racket that caused the dog Carlo to be loosened on her trail again, he was startled, fearful that some one was watching him. He turned back to investigate and reached Amoura's side in time to kill Burke's vicious dog with one blow with the nozzle of his automatic.

Amoura nearly fainted as she caught sight of the giant of a figure with a shining revolver, with the one thought in her mind that she again was a captive. McGargle could see that it was a woman he had saved from the dog's attack, but stood regarding her, uncertain what to do. Amoura started to flee. McGargle caught up with her. "Keep quiet, or you'll have the men who own the dog upon us." It now occurred to her that the man had been sent by Johnson, and she complied, shivering.

While Burke and Johnson and their companions scoured the woods, McGargle squatted in silence in concealment with the girl, oblivious that she was the subject of his quest. But when, a quarter of an hour later, they crept out of the bushes, the pale moonlight revealed in shadow the physiognomy of his companion, and McGargle exclaimed in surprise. "Are you Amoura Ainsley?"

She nodded. The reporter stared at her a moment, then, without another word, grabbed her by the arm, and started rushing across the wood to the field that would enable them to reach the little road and the concealed car. In ten minutes, with McGargle urging on the photographer, the automobile was moving terrifically toward Chicago, and Amoura was answering the reporter's excited queries. For the first time in six years, Bill McGargle was excited.

Imagine the surprise that burst in the news room of the Chicago Record when Bill McGargle, his composure recovered, walked up to the city editor's desk with the dishevelled but half smiling Amoura, and said, nonchalantly: "Well, Mac, here's your heiress." He dropped the nonchalance immediately, however, and issued some orders to the man whose orders he usually followed:

"Have 'em get some pictures of her, and get somebody to take her copyrighted story, written exclusively for the Record. I'm going to dictate the lead and stuff to Roberts."

The city editor, after staring at his trusted reporter for a moment, was galvanized into action, and in exactly 41 minutes, the Record was "on the street" with an extra edition.

CHEVROLET

Special Exhibit

You are Invited to take a picture trip through an automobile plant

Learn how quality is attained with modern production methods! This week we are making a special photographic exhibit illustrating the precision methods by which quality is achieved in the manufacture of the modern motor car.

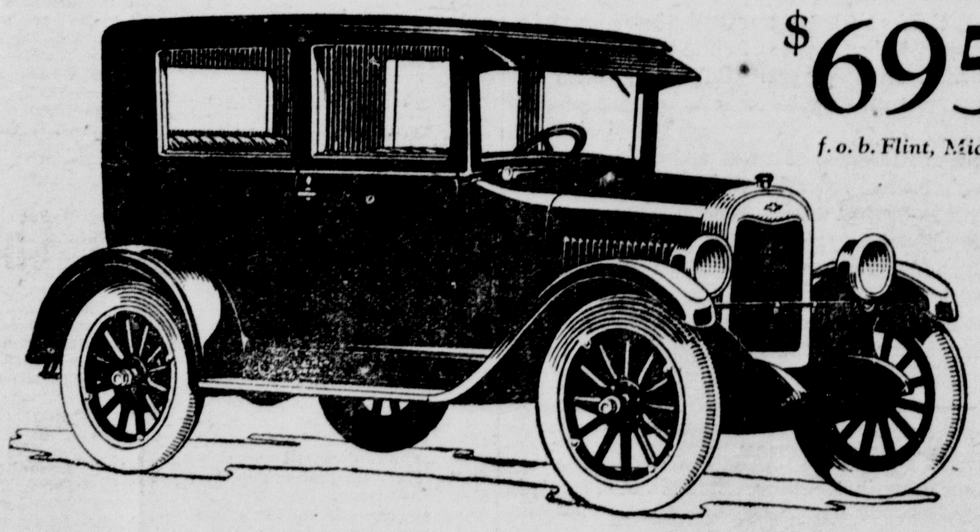

Showing the Reason for Quality at Low Cost

The exhibit consists of 40 remarkable photographs of the most interesting processes in modern automobile manufacture. It will provide the same interesting knowledge that you would get by taking a trip through the plants where Chevrolet cars are built. Each picture is accompanied by a full description of the operation it illustrates. It is an exhibit of unusual interest and value. Bring the children.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1925.

Ballots For Absent Voters

The polls are now open in Columbiana county.

Qualified electors of East Liverpool and other sub-divisions who expect to be absent from their home precinct on Tuesday, November 3, may vote today or any day until Saturday, October 31, under provisions of the absent voters' law.

The state enactment permits the acceptance of applications for absent voters' ballots not earlier than 30 days before the election, while the dead line for the privilege is three days prior to voting day.

Thus an elector who shall be unable to visit the precinct voting place on election day because of absence from the city on business or pleasure need not disfranchise himself. He may vote by making application in person at the election board's office or by mailing his request. In the latter event, ballots are forwarded to his temporary address.

Important issues are to be decided at the November election, and all voters should exercise their right of passing judgment upon them. In addition to the selection of municipal, township, board of education and judicial officers and a municipal court clerk, electors shall vote "yes" or "no" on three proposed state constitutional amendments, a county road bond issue in the amount of $950,000 and a school district tax levy.

Safeguard your suffrage privilege.

A Foreign Waterway

An engineering dream of several centuries is being realized in Europe by the completion of a waterway between the North sea and the Mediterranean, cutting through the big peninsula that constitutes the western end of the continent. Barges comparable to those used on the New York barge canal between the Great Lakes and the Hudson will now be able to pass from sea to sea without the long journey around Spain, France, Belgium and Holland.

North and South Europe will be joined by water directly for the first time in history. It will be an important continental link, promoting commerce and peace.

It has been a big, expensive undertaking, involving an enormous amount of dredging and blasting, including a five-mile tunnel through the Alps.

This example set by the supposedly backward and poverty-stricken Old World should give new stimulus to the oft-discussed project of connecting the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico by means of a barge canal from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi—an easier and cheaper undertaking.

Books In Chicago

Chicago has come pretty close to making a world's record in crime, and that fact has sometimes obscured in the public mind the truth that in many other ways the Windy City is a sensible, wholesome, normal community.

Recently the head of the Chicago public library made public his report of book circulation for 1924. Citizens of Chicago, it is found, borrowed 10,613,978 books from the library in that year. No other large metropolitan library has yet had so great a circulation in a single year.

The critical outsider may be curious as to what sort of books Chicagoans read and whether their reading is harmful or beneficial. Analysis of Chicago readers' tastes would probably reveal about the same book interests the rest of us have.

Less Child Labor Progress

The United States children's bureau recently issued a statement, saying that state legislation to protect child workers has decreased appreciably within the last year. Only nine states are known to have enacted laws relating to the employment of children.

This vindicates those advocates of a national child labor law who maintained that only fear of federal action would spur certain sections of the country to protect their children from unwholesome employment. It apparently refutes the opponents of the federal child labor amendment who announced so emphatically that state action would be sufficient.

State action will be sufficient only when a sound national standard is set and when every state not already up to that standard enacts child labor laws meeting its requirements.

Shell-Food Treasure

There may be something in cocktails, after all. At least, in oyster cocktails.

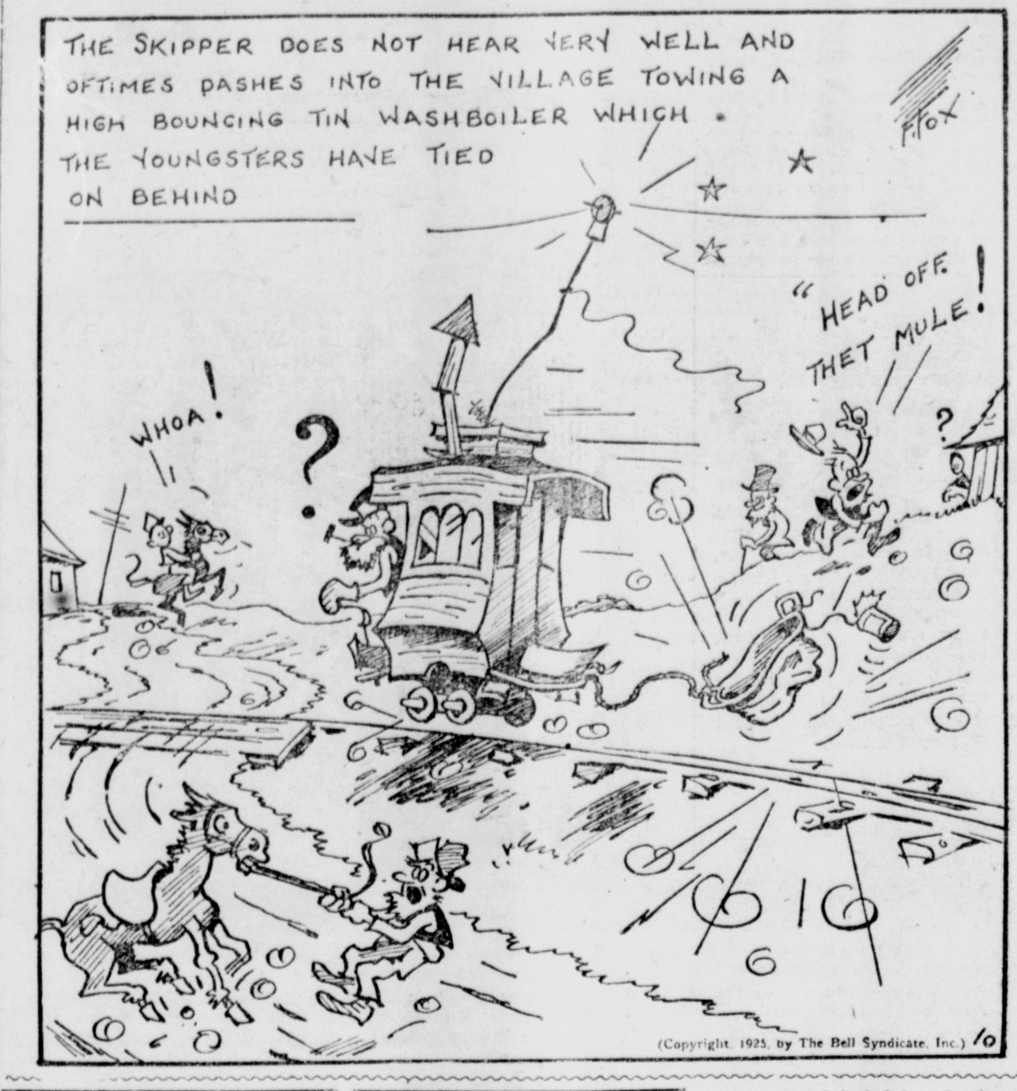

A New York police captain, indulging in that temperate concoction as is his luxurious custom, suddenly found himself wondering whether the oyster just entering his mouth had swallowed a marble. Doing a little quick police work, he discovered a large pearl, which a jeweler assured him later was worth $1,000.

And that suggests what is probably as good a reason as any for eating oysters. Keep at it long enough, and you're pretty sure to bite on a pearl. "Treasure" has an "r" in it.

But there's usually a flaw in treasure-hunting schemes. If the truth were known, discovering pearls doubtless costs more in dentist bills than all the pearls are worth in the market.

The world's leading crop this year is American tourists.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Winter comes casually to Gotham—like a ferry nosing into its slip. There is not that mysterious hush that comes with changing season in the small and tranquil town. We become conscious of seasonal change by the quickened life in the theatre.

New songbirds trill at the opera. We catch the spirit of winter on stage back drops of Urban and Norman-Bel Geddes. It is a diluted mixture—as diluted as the pale Broadway orange drink that withers and dies at first approach of chill.

There are no puffs of smoke from high bricked chimneys. We see no trees furred with snow and silhouetted against a leaden sky. There is no beauty in the first snowfall. It means suffering in tenements. And the straggly march of the breadline.

Boyville is denied the joy of finding first rabbt tracks in the snow. There are no coasting parties over Academy hill. We know nothing of those delightful, drowsy winter dusks when thickening shadows circle and life seems suddenly to fade.

From the street we see no pleasant family circles gathered around a glass hanging lamp. Here and there in the little breathing places Winter tries to peep through. A few gnarled oaks, a frozen artificial lake and snow drifts furnish a paltry gesture torusticity.

Along Fifth Avenue there are some open hearths in clubs where giant logs blaze and bored, thumb twiddling men lounge in deep cushioned ease. The roaming Jehus change from high hats of straw to patent leather and shiver on their perches like so many sparrows.

On the East Side winter is a scramble for kindling, carried in make-shift wagons, to keep out frost. Broadway's brilliance is clouded by winter beggars who stand along the curb. Winter is all right for the rich but terrible for a city's poor.

He had had a week's bout with the bottle and they found him with his head buried in his hands over a speakeasy table — a disheveled mess. They told him of the ruin he was bringing upon himself. They lectured him about this and about that and he said not a word until finally he raised his bloated face and hiccoughed:

"I like Burton Holmes better."

Top notch in first night devotion was scored by a Boadwayite who dropped into a flower store and ordered every flower and plant in the place sent to a star in a new play opening that evening. It made four wagon loads. And the story goes the lady slipped out the front way afterward and graced a supper club table with another man and she paid the check. Most first night flowers are sent directly to hospitals after being passed over the footlights.

The man who toots one of the advertising caliopes on the street was a leading organist in a big English church. His downfall came through drink. He is now attempting to climb back to affluence. He told an employment agency his qualifications and said he wanted to take the first job offered no matter what it was. The calliope job was it.

I once applied to the Manhattan Restaurant in Cincinnati for a job as waiter. I talked to the employment manager after waiting for some time in a room that seemed to be filled with men as dull as ditch-water. I explained my lack of experience and willingness along with other virtues. Then he asked me if I had ever been in jail. I had to confess the awful truth. I had. With six other boys I spent 30 minutes in the Gallipolis, O., lock-up for swimming in the creek au natural. So I didn't get the job.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Dirigible Plans Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The Shenandoah disaster, coupled with the failure of the Hawaiian flight, has created a profound stir in aeronautical circles throughout the world. On all sides one hears of the blow struck at aviation by the two debacles, which coming almost simultaneously, have staggered the nation. There has been speculation as to what would be the result of the future of the science, whether it would set it back, and whether it would impair the progress in construction of airships, this last with particular reference to the lighter-than-air craft.

The Shenandoah's destruction, appalling as it was, and disheartening as it was, has not put aeronautical enthusiasts in the doldrums. Rather, it has whetted their interest and instilled them with greater energy. They feel now that their task has been widened in scope, that they must convince the public that aviation has not failed.

The Senandoah's crash finds its parallel in other times and other projects. Witness the failure of the steamboat when it was first launched, Langley's plane when it fell into the Potomas river, the breaking of the Atlantic cable, and many others. All those were heartbreaking, but they were steps in the ascent to success.

So with the Shenandoah. That the air is undoubtedly a medium of future transportation is the opinion of the nation's leaders. And now, on the heels of disaster, comes the announcement that planes are being made for a super-ship which will indeed be a leviathan of the air, surpassing all that have been hitherto launched. This ship, if congress approves its plan, will be built in America.

A New Type of Ship.

According to C. P. Burgess, civilian expert and designer of air craft, employed by the Navy department, and his colleagues, the shorter, fatter ship is the ideal lighter-than-air craft. The long, narrow type, such as the Shenandoah, has proved to be less efficient and more dangerous. In other words, the balloon, from a purely structural point of view, is the safest thing in the air. It may be tossed about by storms of great intensity and still remain afloat. Of course it has no motor power and is helpless in the air, but from the standpoint of shape it is the most adaptable to the air of any craft in existence.

Running along in this channel one comes in contact with the dirigible. Here is the great problem. The Shenandoah demonstrated the danger to a dirigible in a great storm. It could neither run away from it, nor run into it with success. Had it attempted to turn around it would have been struck broadside and destroyed. Had it attempted to rise it would have turned a back somersalt in the air, blown over by the terrific gale, which would have had the whole length of the ship to play with.

All it could do was to run into the storm nose first and take what came. That its construction was not faulty is demonstrated by the fact that its disintegration was general, and that it broke at the points where the greatest strain lay.

The new ship will be shorter and fatter than the Shenandoah, in proportion to its size. It will be four times teh size of the ill-fated craft, but, due ta its shape, will be able to muster from eight to nine times as much power. It will also be faster. Its length probably will be forty-five per cent greater than that of the Shenandoah and its diameter will be almost twice as great. In this lies the secret of its speed.

The Shenandoah, according to experts due to its long, narrow construction, offered more air resistance than a shorter, fatter ship. Such resistance increases with length. Popular opinion would probably not agree with this and would decide in favor of the longer narrow ship for speed. But it must be taken into consideration that a ship of this type has more resistance in proportion to its size than a ship four times its volume, but of the short, fat type, because the resistance in the latter is more evenly distributed.

Probably Seven Motors.

Therefore there is greater strain in the long ship, for it is a delicate thing. The short, fat type is much more hardy, although it has less resistance to take care of. Its speed is in proportion to its power and it would more than likely be able to run away from such a storm as the Shenandoah encountered.

Although the plans for this super-ship are far from completion it is believed that there will be seven motors attached to it. The Shenandoah had but five. But, due to the ship's construction the seven motors will be able to do more with a craft four times as large than the five with the smaller one. Its cabin probably will be built into the hull, as in the Los Angeles, and it probably will have fewer and stronger girders. It will be filled with helium and made of duraluminum alloy out of which the Shenandoah and the Los Angeles were fashioned.

Contemporaneous with these plans is the construction in Great Britain of two super-ships of the same type, which are to be used in passenger service between England and India. One of those ships is called the capitalist ship because it is being built by a private concern. The other is called by the socialist ship because it is being built by the British government.

The socialist ship is to be made of stainless steel, something new in aeronautics, and the capitalist ship of duralumin. The socialist ship has a new mooring system, but is conservative in its design. The capitalist ship is radical in its design. The arrangement hre will be to have all control cabins aft the ship and to build the cabin into the hull, as in the Los Angeles. The theory here is that there is less air resistance.

In the socialist ship the cabin will be hung below the bag and the motors and control cabins will be distributed as usual. Both the ships will be filled with hydrogen and will burn a combination of hydrogen and kerosene as fuel. The advantage of hydrogen over helium is that it has greater lifting power and can be used as fuel in an emergency but this if offset by the fact that it is highly inflammable, a sad thing in the case of the ill-starred Roma. There will be fewer and stronger girders in these ships, which probably will be completed in two years.

The American super-ship is expected to be 8,000,000 cubic feet in volume. On the basis that the Shenandoah was about 2,000,000 cubic feet in volume and cost approximately $2,000,000, the new one will cost $8,000,000. Its construction is, of course, contingent on the decision of congress. Navy men expect the question to be laid before the next session and should the plan be accepted, preparations for construction will be rushed.

The Shenandoah's doom does not appear to have daunted the pioneers of the air. If they have their way, America may soon have a fleet of air leviathans of undreamed-of size and strength.

SOCIETY

K. of C. Lodge Plans Dance, Card Party On Columbus Day

Carroll council No. 509, Knights of Columbus, will celebrate Columbus Day with a dance and card party in the lodge ballroom and parlors in the Fowler building, Diamond.

Sayre's seven-piece orchestra will furnish music for the dancing, which will be featured in the ballroom from 8:30 o'clock until midnight. Trophies will be awarded for euchre, five hundred and bridge.

Grand Knight George H. White and Lecturer William L. Magill are chairmen of the committees in charge of arrangements. The affair will mark the formal opening of the fall social season.

Miss Edna Payne Entertains.

Employes of the F. W. Woolworth company were recently entertained at the home of Miss Edna Payne, of Wood avenue, Wellsville. The social hours were spent with music, games and dancing, after which a luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Mildred and Loyezella McComas.

Piano and vocal solos were given by Misses Thelma Greer and Mildred McComas.

Dinner for Lodge Members.

White Rose lodge of Beaver Falls, Pa., will be special guests at a dinner and entertainment to be given Tuesday by White Rose lodge No. 25, Daughters of St. George, of this city. Dinner will be served at 5 o'clock in the parish house of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, after which the guests will go to the lodge rooms in the Fowler building for an entertainment.

Missionary Society Session.

The monthly meeting of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. B. V. Riggins, of Blakely street. Miss Florence Batey was in charge of the devotionals, after which Miss Grace McNutt gave vocal solos, accompanied by Miss Mary Welsh. Mrs. Powell, of Steubenville, outlined the work for the year.

During the social hours refreshments were served by the social committee, which included Mrs. Riggins, Mrs. Harold Thompson, Mrs. Frank Usler, Mrs. Jerry Jaccaud and Mrs. C. D. Manypenny.

Mrs. J. D. Moore Hostess.

The Loyal Workers' class of the First Church of Christ were entertained with a masquerade party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. D. Moore, of Thompson avenue. The home was decorated with a color scheme of orange and black, interminglied with Japanese lanterns. Mrs. Collin Davis was awarded a trophy for guessing "Whose Who." Games and music were the diversions of the social hours. It was decided to wage a contest with the Loyal Workers' class of the Chester Christian church.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Bickell and Miss Emma Glunt.

Special guests were Mrs. B. R. Johnson and Mrs. Clifford Frankhouser.

Golden Rod Club Dinner.

The annual chicken dinner was given by members of the Golden Rod club last evening at 6 o'clock in the Sons of Veterans' hall, East Sixth street. The tables were decorated with garden flowers. Covers were arranged for 30 guests.

Special guests included Deputy Mrs. Elizabeth Shram, of Bridgeport; Mrs. Anna Fife and Mrs. Agnes Grafton.

The next meeting will be held October 20 at the home of Mrs. Nellie Osbourne, of the Lincoln highway.

Knights of Malta Initiation.

Club Federation Conference.

The annual autumn conference of the northeast district of Ohio Federation Women's Clubs will be held in Youngstown on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 27 and 28, under the auspices of the City Federation. The sessions will be held in the Westminster Presbyterian church on Market street and convention headquarters will be in Hotel Ohio. A fine program is being prepared.

There will be several noted speakers, but a great effort will be made to have an intimate conference where subjects will be discussed that will be helpful to all those interested in club management.

A year book exchange and question box will be features of the program. Delegates are requested to bring with them one or more copies of the year book for the exchange, and also any question they may wish discussed. The first session of the conference will open at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Tuesday evening there will be a banquet at Hotel Ohio, and Wednesday afternoon the delegates and guests will be taken for a drive over the city and then to the Youngstown Country club for tea.

Delegates will be entertained over night in private homes. Club women wishing to stay at hotels may make their own reservations by writing to the Tod house or Hotel Ohio.

Noah's Ark Carries Strange Assortment Of Beasts to Paris

PARIS.—Guesse has arrived at the Jardin des Plantes and now the Paris Zoo has a while elephant on its hands.

Guesse is not only white but he is a dwarf and it took him three months to reach Paris from Kribi, West Africa. Guesse brought along a cousin of his, a dwarf also but not white. Seraphine is Guesse's cousin's name and she is a one-year-old hippopotamus. The zoo's veterinary reports Guesse and cousin are doing nicely.

Along with Guesse and Seraphine on the steamer Poiseul that brought them up from Kribi was Julien, a young lion that promises to be a superb representative of his race, says Lieut Girard, who had charge of the Noah's Ark, on its way to France.

There were also antelopes, monkeys, ant eaters and parrots. The stevedores reported that, strange as it may seem the parrots did not cry "So this is Paris!" as they were being unloaded.

PAIGE JEWETT
Always Making Them Finer
Harry McJewett

From every quarter comes praise—nothing but praise for the improved Jewett Coach. And well does it deserve the admiration that has greeted it—nationally.

For Jewett has put the rich experience of seventeen years into its design. Jewett engineers have outdone even their own remarkable performance achievements of the past. And you know what that means.

Master Engineering

Only by driving this great car can you begin to appreciate the master stroke of engineering Jewett has accomplished.

Take Jewett Coach out in the rough where only the biggest cars have been able to go swiftly and comfortably.

Its new riding quality will actually amaze you. Accomplished by adding length. Yet Jewett Coach is the same easy-handling car as before. A sheer delight to drive—in thickest boulevard traffic.

Try Your Pet Hill!

Then you'll know why Jewett owners can never be satisfied with less than Jewett power.

Now—in the improved Jewett Coach—it's smoother than ever. Yet this car takes hills as if they were level roads. Effortless—never strained—because of ample power.

Let us give you the inside story—facts you should know about Jewett Coach—before you buy any car.

NO DECISION AT ROAD MEET

Liverpool-Palestine Routes Discussed at Lisbon.

No decision as to the routing of the proposed new East Liverpool-East Palestine inter-county highway, hearing on which was conducted at Lisbon yesterday, will not be announced by the state highway department for approximately two months.

Three routes for the proposed road between Fredericktown and East Liverpool were suggested at the hearing conducted by R. T. Perry, a representative of the state highway department. The route north from Fredericktown, through Anchor and Negley, was not in dispute.

Attorney S. W. Crawford favored the west side route into Fredericktown, but did not oppose the eastern route which leaves the main road at what is known as Hazel Run, about a mile from Calcutta. Attorney W. H. Spence suggested what he claimed to be a shorter road which would leave the village of Fredericktown off the road entirely. This route would necessitate the construction of a bridge.

Attorney L. M. Kyes and W. C. George, East Palestine pottery manufacturer, urged the early completion of the road. The local Chamber of Commerce also requested that the improvement be made as soon as possible.

About eight miles of the road remain to be improved. Of this, nearly two and one-half miles have been graded but not surfaced, the work having been done by Middleton township farmers with financial assistance from East Liverpool and East Palestine business people.

Horse-Drawn Vehicle

nation of this nuisance that this ordinance was framed."

Farrall announced his opposition to the ordinance because he said it was a case of the expressman with a truck attempting to drive the poor man with a horse and wagon out of business. "The truck owner is trying to monopolize the express business by putting the little fellow out of the way," he declared.

Four Oppose Plan.

"The groceryman with his delivery wagon and the farmer, who comes to town with his produce, would be affected the same as any one else," said Solon Eardley.

"It was my plan to exempt grocers and farmers from payment of the tax," said Kerr.

"That would be class legislation and the courts would declare it unconstitutional," explained Brokaw. "For that reason, no one was exempted in the ordinance which you asked me to prepare."

Upon roll call of a motion to take up the ordinance for consideration, Kerr and Chambers supported it, while Farrall, Eardley, Hayes and Larcombe voted against it. Councilman Rowe did not attend the meeting.

Non-Resident Employes.

Council also sought to enact an ordinance, prepared upon instructions from Councilman Kerr, requiring that all city employes reside within the corporate limits, but this move was blocked when Solicitor Brokaw again ruled that such legislation was not permissible under the state code.

Kerr said that certain employes of the street department and the water works department do not live within the city. One man, he declared, was a non-resident of the state and had refused to change his place of residence.

Solon Hayes said that such an ordinance might bar the city from employing expert help, in the event it was needed. Kerr said that he had "no axe to grind," but believed that men who secured their livelihood from the taxpayers should reside in the district in which they worked.

"If we cannot enact this ordinance we should at least instruct our department heads to require that their employes reside in town," said Kerr. "Surely we have that much authority."

Right of Way for Patrol.

"The city should have jurisdiction over its employes," Farrall declared. "It does not seem fair to give employment to some one who lives outside of town while those who live in town and pay taxes are jobless."

Farrall submitted a motion that the ordinance be laid over for two weeks pending an investigation. The motion was carried. After roll call, Kerr offered a motion that the service director be instructed to notify all city employes that they must become citizens of the city within 60 days or their jobs would automatically become vacant.

Farrall opposed this move, asserting that it would be a boycott on labor. The motion was declared lost for lack of a second.

An ordinance giving the police patrol the right of way over all vehicles and pedestrians on the streets at all times was passed on first reading, but was held up on suspension of the rules when Farrall opposed it. The measure provides a fine of from $5 to $25 for violations.

Street-Sidewalk Ordinance.

An ordinance regulating the "replacing of paving after street and sidewalks have been taken up," was passed upon three readings under suspension of the rules. Persons who tear up streets will be required to use a three-inch concrete base after the earth has been tamped before bricks are laid, under terms of the ordinance. A penalty of from $10 to $25 is provided for the first offense.

Another measure providing for the levying of special assessments and the issuance of bonds for the sewering of Springdale street and another determining to proceed with sewering of Hazel street and Edgewood avenue were also passed. Council questioned whether the money would be available to cover the city's share for the proposed sewer improvement jobs.

The solons also decided to complete the Mulberry street resurfacing without the construction of a new concrete culvert over Leak Run. The proposed culvert would cost approximately $1,000 and inasmuch as bonds must be sold to cover this expense the improvement could not be completed before next year.

May Lease State Line Tract.

The solicitor was instructed to prepare legislation providing for the leasing of a tract, 60x100 feet, at the state line on the new Midland, East Liverpool road. Attorney G. Y. Travis appeared before the solons, representing a client who plans to erect a gasoline filling station there. The property must be leased to the highest bidder.

A petition was submitted by Klondyke residents, urging the grading and draining of the hillside street north of Harvey avenue at Putman street. The petition was filed, and the street department instructed to make the necessary repairs to the street as soon as possible.

The C. C. Tompson Pottery company, in a communication suggested that the sidewalk on College street from Railroad crossing to Third street be kept open for the accommodation of their employes. Council ordered that the request be complied with.

Councilman Hayes declared that street lights were being turned off too early in the morning and that the electric light company's attention should be called to the matter. He urged that the lights be turned on later in the evening and fog.

Senator Mills Ill.

DELAWARE, Oct. 10.—Improvement was reported today in the condition of Senator Frank B. Willis, who was brought to his home here late yesterday from Springfield. The senator was ill with a severe cold.

ant than anything mentioned in your brilliant Omaha speech, is the importance of keeping this country prepared for attack, and able to repel it.

The things can be done, necessary preparations established and maintained, fortunately for our national program of economy, at little expense, far less than the amounts now squandered by incompetency, or worse, in the army and navy departments.

The latest asinine, intensely dangerous proposition is that the United States should sign an international "protocol" forbidding us, pledging ourselves, against the use of chemicals, including poison gases and other gases, in future warfare.

No nation has yet signed the protocol. France declares that she will not sign. The French being intelligent will not put handcuffs on their own wrists, or hamper themselves in any way.

The Japanese will not sign that protocol. Their able chemists are carrying on intensive studies of chemical warfare, manufacturing poison gases, of all kinds at this moment.

It is predicted, and there is unfortunately a basis for the prediction, that the United States will sign the protocol. If it does so, and if only one other minor nation, Siam, for instance, should so sign, the United States will be bound by word of honor to refrain from use of chemicals in war and to discontinue the chemical research and experimental work now carried on by our war department.

Senators inclined to approve the protocol, tying the hands of Uncle Sam, depriving him of the most important modern weapon, while leaving it to his enemies, are advised to reach the little book, "Callinicus," written by J. B. S. Haldane, an able English chemist, who went through the war, in the trenches, got his share of gas, and understands the subject that he discusses.

Chemical warfare in addition to being modern warfare is the least brutal, most merciful form of war, thus far devised human brutality. Chemical warfare could render unconscious the inhabitants of a whole city capturing without killing them. The old style war was to burn the city, kill the men and women. The poison gases, so called, mustard gas, tea gas and other gases are more merciful than powder or bullets, just as powder and bullets are more merciful than weapons of an earlier kind.

partment work," said Cline. "Records kept at the police desk will prove this.

"I will show the committee some of the bills for the repair work on my car. Recently I spent $145 for repairs to my machine which broke down while I was answering a call. I have also bought three or four new tubes and a battery for the car for which the city has not been asked to pay.

"The speedometer on the machine will show approximately 15,000 miles. More than one-half of this mileage has been run up in police department work. Had my car not been on hand the police would not have been able to answer half of their calls before the new patrol was purchased.

"Sure, I am ready for an investigation. I have a few things to tell this committee which they may not know."

Cline Under Civil Service.

The committee did not indicate last night when they would begin their investigation, but a report probably will be drafted before the next meeting of the legislative body, which will be held on October 23.

Cline is under civil service and can be removed only by the director of public safety with whom charges must be filed. He has the right of a hearing before the civil service commission.

Mayor Brown declared last night that council had no jurisdiction over members of the police department who are under the supervision of the safety director. He asserted that Cline never took gasoline from the city hall tank unless a report of it was made in the records and that the gasoline which was taken was used for police department work.

FIND BUNFIELD IS NOT GUILTY

Acquitted on Stolen Property Count; Fined on Liquor Charge.

James Bunfield, of Madison township, indicted at the last session of the grand jury on a charge of concealing stolen property, was found not guilty by a jury in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday afternoon.

Bunfield, arrested here several weeks ago after police are alleged to have found parts of a dismantled automobile on his farm near McCurdy's stop on the Y. & O., was placed on trial before Judge Moore Thursday morning. The case was given to the jury at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, their verdict being returned three hours later.

The defendant was represented by Attorney W. A. O'Grady of Wellsville, while Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes and his assistant, J. E. Baucknecht, directed the prosecution.

Immediately upon his acquittal, the prisoner was re-arrested by William Cline, tunrnkey at the city jail, on a liquor possession charge which was filed here. He was brought to East Liverpool last night and upon arraignment before Mayor Brown was fined $50 and costs. Unable to pay the fine, he was remanded to jail.

Several cases of what police say was home brew was confiscated at the Bunfield house at the time of the raid. Bunfield pleaded guilty to the liquor possession charge following his arrest, but the mayor reserved his decision in the case until last night.

GEN. SHERWOOD GROWING WEAKER

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 10.—Gen. Isaac R. Sherwood, veteran of the Civil war and leading figure in state and national politics for more than a generation, was growing steadily weaker today. He is suffering from pernicious anemia. His condition is critical and death may come at any moment, it was stated at his bedside.

Gen. Sherwood is more than 90 years of age. He is said to be the last surviving officer who held commanding rank during the Civil war. He served nine terms as representative of the Ninth Ohio district in the United States congress, and in the seventies of the last century was Ohio's secretary of state.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Stocks of the motor companies were in the lead of a plunging forward price movement in the stock market in today's short session. With Dadge and General Motors in the lead, the motor shares dominated the market and a number of new high price records were set up. A few of the industrial and utility stocks were inclined to join the movement, and copper stocks maintained their firm tone. Spectacular price advances, however, were mostly confined to the motor stocks, with General Motors up 4 points to 119, Nash Motors up 7, Dodge A up 2 to 42 and Studebaker in new high ground near 62. Ford Motor of Canada opened 55 points higher in the curb market.

Plenty of encouragement for bulls in stocks and commodities was given by the principal mercantile agencies in their week-end reviews, Dun's and Bradstreet's emphasizing the steady gain in business with a minimum of inflation. The exhibit of earnings of the Nash Motor company, which reported net income equivalent to $37.89 a share in the first nine months of the year, was a favorable commentary on the motor industry this year. General Motors will declare an extra cash dividend of from $3 to $5 a share next month, according to market gossip, making a total of $10 to $12 a share for the year.

Interest was well maintained in stocks of the mercantile companies.

Stocks of the municipal gas companies made the best record in the public utility group.

With the exception of Maryland and Pan-American, the oil stocks were reactionary.

SLAYER OF MOTHER FACES PRISON

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Tracey Westmoreland, 14, today faced a prison term of from 5 to 14 years for killing his mother. He was convicted on a second degree murder charge.

Judge J. W. Eary ruled that the first five years are to be spent in the State Industrial school and the remainder in the state penitentiary.

The boy pleaded that the shooting of his mother was accidental, but his sister, Mary, who was present when Mrs. Westmoreland was killed, said Tracey deliberately shot his mother because she disciplined him.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 10.—Fred Bramley, secretary of the British Trades Union congress since 1923, died here today after a brief illness.

GRAND JURORS ARE SUMMONED

Taxi Driver's Death Will be Investigated Tuesday.

Witnesses have been summoned by Sheriff George Wright for the special session of the grand jury, to be held in Lisbon, Tuesday, for the purpose of investigating the fatal shooting of Frank R. McLain, 25, fleet manager for the McLain Yellow Cab agency here on Saturday night, Oct. 3.

Charged with murder in connection with the shooting which occurred in the home of Miss Elizabeth Anderson, his aunt, Second and Jackson streets, George Anderson, 43, automobile salesman and former Kenyon college football star, is a prisoner in the county jail.

Anderson, who told police he did not remember anything about the shooting, was bound over to court by Mayor Charles Brown after he pleaded not guilty and waived a preliminary hearing.

The shooting, which followed the receipt of a taxicab call, occurred in Anderson's bed room after the taxi driver had assisted his passenger into the house and up the stairway to the second floor.

McLain, who was shot through the abdomen, died in the City hospital five hours later.

MINE WORKERS TO BEGIN DRIVE

Union Officials Plan to Organize State Coal Fields.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — Rumors are rampant here of a gigantic drive on the part of the United Mine Workers of America to gain a grip on the southern West Virginia non-union coal fields, to aid in making successful the strike in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania.

Van A. Bittner, chief international representative of the United Mine Workers of West Virginia, who with a party of his confederates were ushered out of Logan county by deputy sheriffs, went to Philadelphia to confer with John L. Lewis, president of the organization.

A miner from Logan county said that Bittner had told him while in Logan that the Pennsylvania strike sould not be a success without halting the growing output from the non-union fields southern West Virginia.

The man said that Bittner and other union officials had gone to Philadelphia to confer with the national chief on plans to bring about either the organization of the southern West Virginia fields or to in some way hinder production until the public forced the operators of Pennsylvania to meet the demands of the miners and thus end the strike.

Chesapeake and Ohio railroad employes announced that more coal was shipped out of the Logan field during August than in any other month in the history of the field.

Approximately 35,000 cars of coal were brought out of the fields during the months, the statement said. Shipping during the first few days of September was so large that officials confidently predicted that September shipping would surpass the August total easily and by a great margin.

West Virginia is making a strong bid for the New England and eastern markets, which heretofore have been supplied by the Pennsylvania anthracite fields.

GRIDIRON SEASON LAUNCHED HERE

The football season was launched here today when Chester high and East Liverpool high eleven clashed for supremacy on the Rock Springs park field. The local squad has been hard at practice for two weeks and supporters of the eleven are confident a good showing will be made against the Pottery City outfit.

The contest is expected to draw one of the largest crowds that ever attended a scholastic game in Chester.

Ladies' Guild Meets.

Members of the Ladies' Guild of St. Matthew's Episcopal church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Bernard Poole in Phoenix avenue. Covered dish supper was served, after which a social hour was enjoyed. Rev. F. C. Roberts, rector of the church, gave an address.

Jury Wheel Filled.

J. L. Mayhew and H. H. Robb, county jury commissioners, completed the work of re-filling the jury wheel yesterday at New Cumberland. Three hundred names were placed in the wheel for service during the year.

Preparatory Services.

Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, East Liverpool, will preach at the preparatory services next Friday night in the First United Presbyterian church. Communion services will be held Sunday.

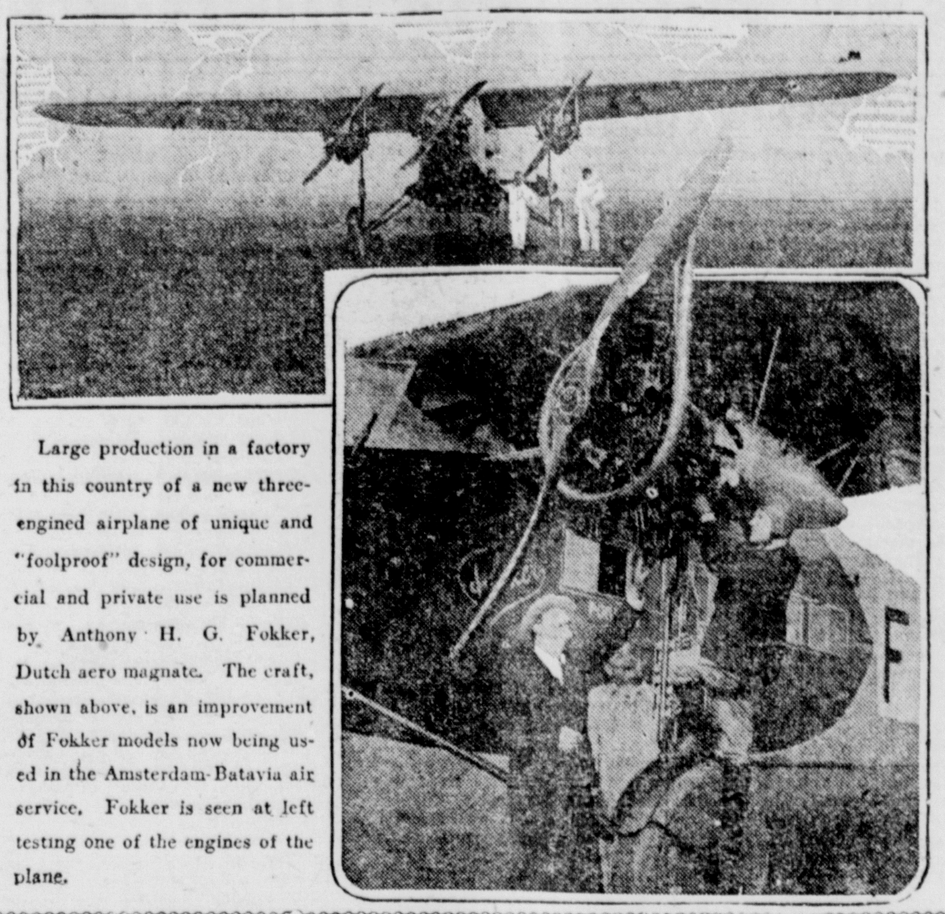

New Pastor Here Sunday.

Rev. A. L. Duncan, former pastor of the Avondale Free Methodist church, East Liverpool, will preach his first sermon as pastor of the Chester Free Methodist church tomorrow. He succeeds Rev. E. A. Gilmer, who was transferred to Martins Ferry, O., at the recent conference held at Charleroi, Pa.

Fokker Builds "Foolproof" Planes for Common Use

ODDEST CENSUS TAGS DENIZENS OF THE OCEAN

Federal Bureau is Tabulating Fish as Conservation Move.

One Salmon Traveled 1,300 Miles in Six Weeks.

WASHINGTON—The world's queerest census—that of the fishes of the sea—has been started by the United States ureau of Fisheries as a part ofthe campaign of Secretary of Commerce Hoover to conserve maritime natural food resources.

From the leviathan whale black and ponderous, the lightning speeding salmon, is founr the scope of the Government's census of the ocean's population.

The census taker of the sea is inquiring into the age, the habits, the home and the many other details of fish life as does the agent from the United States Bureau of Census who checks up on the human population of the country.

At first sight this census may seem a waste of money, or a proper study for the biologist or scientist, rather than the Government, but officials have discovered that an accurate knowledge of fiish is paramount to the conservation and stimulation of this great food resource and that fish study is one which will yield a thousand per cent interest in the end of humanity.

The fish census take is also a tagger. The Bureau of Fisheries, according to Lewis Radcliffe, deputy commissioner of the bureau, is tagging salmon and halibut of the Pacific Coast; cod, haddock, pollock and mackerel in the North Atlantic; blue crabs in Chesapeake Bay, and millet in the South Atlantic and Gulf State waters.

"Each species," Radcliffe said, "is the basis for a highly important commercial fishery.

"For example, our annual catch of salmon is about 475,000,000 pounds, and of other species, 325,000,000 of tagging operations, approximately pounds. Ass illustrative of the scale 35,000 salmon and in excess of 30,000 cod, haddock, pollock and mackerel have been made to serve as Uncle Sam's scientific messengers."

Pointing out that automobiles, dogs, birds and even babies are tagged, and that a census is taken of timber, hog, and cattle, Radcliffe explained the similar necessity for fish tagging.

Counting salmon is a common practice in the west. Radcliffe showed how racks are constructed to check up on the salmon movements on their journeys to the spawning beds.

"In this manner," he said, "it has been possible to determine how many fish should be freed for a proper seeding of the spawning beds. Having determined this fact, the rest of the fish may be used for canning."

Traveled Far.

By tagging salmon it has been found that one particular fish tagged on the Shumangin islands, off Alaska, was recaptured about six weeks late in one of the rivers of Kamchatka, Siberia, having traveled about 1,300 miles at the rate of 30 miles a day.

Fish tagging is of ancient origin, having been mentioned in the works of Izaak Walton in 1653. Walton describes observations made on the homing instinct of salmon by tying ribbon or tapes to the tails of the young fish. Sixty years ago considerable numbers of young salmon were marked in England. Loops of silver wire attached to the fins, or tags of rubber fastened with silver, were used, as were bachelor buttons of silver and aduminum.

In the United States, according to Radcliffe, marking fish was tsarted a quarter of a century ago. Approximately 1,000,000 salmon were marked.

"The locality in which the tagged fish is released is carefuly recorded, along with the fish's number," Radcliffe said. "Later when the fish is recaptured, the bureau of fisheries is informed of the locality of recapture. A reward of from 25 cents to $1 is paid for information on recaptured tagged fish.

"The returns tell the scientist whether the fish is a stay-at-home, or where it spends its winters and summers. They disclose how fast the fish grows, when it matures, whether it is an urbanite accustomed to living in association with hundreds of its kind or to seek out a solitary existence."

Archery as an aid to grace and dignity for women is being advocated in England.

To cheer the 2,000 waitresses and other helpers at the world's largest banquet, given in London last August, an inspiring moving picture was shown just before the 8,000 guests arrived.

Demands for wage increases by textile workers in Czechoslovakia in violation of agreement resulted in locking out of 47,000 workers in 300 cotton mills.

Husband Finds That Love Means Sacrifice

Fine Acting Enhances Dramatic Theme of "Is Love Everything?"

The question of what is Love? is it Sacrifice or Conquest has been used for the theme of the new Encore production, "Is Love Everything?", which will be the attraction at the American Theatre Monday. The story features Alma Rubens, Frank Mayo, H. B. Warner and other well known players. Luxurious settings, beautiful gowns, thrilling scenes and original dramatic situations serve to make it one of the most entertaining pictures of the season, it is said.

The plot concerns a husband, his wife and her old lover whose meeting after two years, light the fires of jealousy in the heart of the man she had married. Unknown to them he decides to put her loyalty to the test, takes them aboard his luxurious yacht, throws them into constant association in an effort to see which man she really loves. Loyalty, breeding and breeding and courage conquer the impulses in her heart and the husband satisfies himself that his wealth and devotion have extinguished the embers of the old love.

Then destiny in the shape of a wreck takes command of the unusual situation and the two old lovers find that they are sole survivors. In this great moment they realize the depth of their great emotions and cling to each other in the face of death. They are rescued and after some thrilling adventures aboard a rum ship return to civilization. There they learn that her husband has perished and find themselves free to devote their lives to each other. But fate again takes a hand, the husband returns, finds them in their new found happiness and learns to his sorrow the great answer to love's perplexing question.

CATTLE TESTS IN PROGRESS

Work Proceeding Under Direction of Dr. Neil Myers.

One car of live stock containing 27 head, and all tuberculin, have been shipped out of St. Clair and Liverpool townships to the Cleveland live stock market as a result of the second tuberculin test now being made among the cattle of these townships.

One herd owner who flatly refused to have his herd placed under the second test has changed his mind about the proposition and has announced his willingness to have the test made.

Dr. Neil Myers is now completing the test in Yellow Creek township, and as soon as this township is finished, he will proceed into Madison township.

It has been explained that since the tuberculin test work in Columbiana county has become so active, herd owners in Hancock county, West Virginia, have had a test made in that county, and a number of cattle has been lost as a result. Farmers who lost cattle in Hancock county because of the test were compensated by the state and federal governments.

MAN IS JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

"Crooked! Crooked!" exclaimed Raymond Haddock of Cleveland as Probate Judge Lodge Riddle was sitting quietly with others in an endeavor to adjust the martial differences existing between Haddock and his wife, Mary Haddock, of East Liverpool.

"You're sentenced to jail for contempt of court," immediately came from Judge Riddle. Haddock was led away to jail.

The remark of Haddock stunned all in the court room. A number were seated about the table in the court room discussing the troubles of the family, when the court suggested that Jack Haddock, aged two years, should be with his mother, and that Haddock should contribute $5 per week for the support of his son.

It was then that Haddock addressed his remarks to the court.

Alimony Order Issued.

Alimony in the amount of $25 to be paid within 10 days and $15 each two weeks has been ordered in the divorce action filed in common pleas court by Mary Lowsha against her husband, John Lowsha. The alimony order has just been handed down by Judge James G. Moore.

Sebring

Harry E. Vaile, 51, agent and manager of the Sebring branch of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, died at his home above the Citizens Banking company Wednesday evening following an attack of heart failure. Surviving, besides his widow, Mrs. Mary Vaile, are five children, Mrs. John C. Foutty, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Frank R. Vaile of Dubois, Wyoming; Mrs. Claude Ridgeway and Lucia E. Vaile of Akron and Charles P. Vaile of Sebring. Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. E. Dick, a sister of Mrs. Vaile, in Akron Saturday afternoon. Rev. D. P. Shafer, pastor of the Sebring Church of Christ, officiated. Burial was made in Glendale cemetery, Akron.

H. L. McConnell, for more than 14 years a member of the Sebring board of education, has resigned owing to ill health. For many years Mr. McConnell has served as clerk. He is now in the south where he will spend the winter. G. E. Clarke was named to fill the vacancy at Tuesday's board meeting. Mrs. Caroline Blumenstiel administered the oath of office to Mr. Clarke.

Sebring sent a delegation of five Knights Templar to the annual conclave of the Grand Commandery of Ohio at Tiffin Wednesday. Those making the trip were Allen Hayes, Dr. G. Y. Davis, Dr. J. B. Klingensmith, William Stanley and Charles Martin. The Sebring Knights Templar made the trp aboard a special train.

Mrs. George Cummings entertained members of the C. C. club at her home, West Ohio avenue, Tuesday evening. The evening was spent knotting a comforter for the hostess. The next meeting will be featured by a Hallowe'en party at the home of Mrs. E. M. Aebie. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Miss Elizabeth Barclay was hostess to members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church at her home in East Virginia avenue Thursday evening.

Mrs. Parker Wilson, Maples crossing, entertained members of the Women's Benefit association at her home Monday evening. The yard was decorated with lanterns and electric lights. A wiener roast was a feature of the evening.

A chicken dinner will be given in honor of the Sebring All Stars, the baseball team which contested the inter-city championship series with the Alliance Goat Hill crew in September. Frank Christy, manager of the team, is staging the dinned which will be served in the Soldiers' Memorial hall at 6 o'clock Monday evening.

Mrs. J. D. Walker attended the funeral of her uncle, William Hill, at Canton Thursday.

Misses Irene and Ruth Alvis of East Liverpool are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thill.

Mrs. Mary Surls is seriously ill at her home on North Fifteenth street.

L. of Canton; Mrs. Laura Figley, of Mansfield; Mrs. Thomas Luby of Canton; Garfield of Akron, and Norman of Paris. Mrs. Orien Evans preceded her in death several months ago. Interment was in Moultrie cemetery.

The October meeting of the missionary society of the Christian church was held in the church parlors. The president, Mrs. Katherine Mottice, presided over the business session. Mrs. Lula Yoder had charge of the program. The topic "Stewardship and the Unfinished Task," was discussed by the leader, following scripture reading and prayer. The program follows: Misses Dale Scott and Leah Yoder sang a duet. A talk "The Picture Roll," Mrs. Elmer Freed; vocal solo, Mrs. Vera Richardson, accompanied by Miss Leah Yoder. A general discussion on "Tithing," by the members present; piano duet, Misses Alice Filliez and Leah Yoder. The closing hymn and penny march concluded the service. Lunch was served by the committee in charge of division No. 2. One new member, Mrs. Paul Ryan, added to the roll.

Miss Alice Filliez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Filliez of Minerva, and Duaine Crowl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Crowl, of Pekin, were united in marriage at the Christian parsonage at high noon Wednesday by Rev. J. C. Waddell. The bride is a graduate of the local high school with the class of 1924. The groom is employed at the Metropolitan Paving Brick company. They were accompanied by Miss Cardelia Yant and Robert Filliez. Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents in High street, with only the immediate families present. On their return from a trip to Canada they will reside on King street.

Children of Minerva numbering about 60 greatly enjoyed the entertainment given for them at the local library last Saturday afternoon which consisted of pictures, music and a short talk by the librarian, Mrs. Arthur Hostetter.

Miss Lillian Davison was hostess to the Young Ladies Missionary society at her home on Main street. The subject discussed was "Our Neighbor, or Our Duty to the Foreigner in Our Country. Music and refreshments followed the program.

The funeral of George Rosevere was held at the home of his uncle at Altoona, Pa., last Mondey afternoon. Death followed an operation last Friday at Aultman hospital, Canton. He is survived by his wife, Olive, and one son Malvir, his mother, Mrs. Jennie Roseevere, of State College, Pa.; four sisters and two brothers. He was a member of the F. & A. M. No. 151 of Minerva.

The annual Harvest Home service was held at the Luthern church last Sunday. The church was decorated with potted plants. The pastor, Rev. Charles Larrack, delivered an appropriate sermon.

Mrs. Willard Pennock has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Homer Jewett in Cleveland, after spending two months here at her home on Market street.

Misses Mary and Martha McHenry who entered Mt. Union college this fall as freshmen were pledged last Wednesday to the Delta Delta Sorority. They are twin daughters of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. McHenry.

New Cumberland

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Bernice Hesson and Carl Bradley which took place at the parsonage of the Methodist Protestant church Sunday evening, Rev. William Hamilton officiating. The bride is a well known resident of Byesville, O., and formerly resided here, having been employed at the Chelsea China company. The groom is the son of Mrs. George Bradley of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley are at present residing with the latter's mother.

Mrs. W. S. Carpenter of Wheeling is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graham.

John Miskelly, Joseph Plattenburg and C. D. Henderson attended the world series in Pittsburgh Wednesday.

The annual congregational and business meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran church and Sunday school was held on Wednesday evening in the chapel. At 6 o'clock a coverdish dinner was served in the dining rooms with more than 100 present. Following the dinner the members adjourned to the auditorium, where the meeting was called to order by Sunday School Superintendent Ira F. Mellenger. There were two songs, with Mrs. Raymond Smith as leader and Miss Myrtle Wilhelm at the piano. Prayer was offered by C. J. Halverstadt. Secretary Harry Fenstermaker read the minutes of the 1924 meeting. The secretary's report showed an average attendance of 260 in the Sunday school for the past year with an average collection of $25.60. In all the amount of money contributed was $1,957.81 for the past year; expenditures were $1,697.51, leaving a balance of $260.30 in the treasury. Of this amount the $60 was given to foreign missions, $100 to the church for current expenses and $100 to be placed in the emergency fund. Reports were given by the home department, which reported a membership of 34. Mr. Mellinger then in a short talk asked the teachers to name a suitable time for meetings and this year to plan and hold a teachers' meeting each month. The following officers were elected: Superintendent, Ira F. Mellinger; assistant superintendent, C. E. Holt; secretary, Harry Fenstermaker; assistant secretary, Chalmer Zimmerman; treasurer, A. H. Beilhart; chorister, T. B. Cope; assistant chorister, Mrs. H. C. Brillhart; pianist, Miss Myrtle Wilhelm; assistant pianist, Miss Agnes Cope; librarian, Miss Sara Shontz; assistants, Misses Mary Beilhart and Mytle Nold; superintendent of the home department, Miss Sue Bixler; assistant, Mrs. W. S. Groner; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. S. E. Harrold; superintendent primary department, Mrs. Merle Stambaugh; assistant, Mrs. J. E. Johnson. The meeting was turned over to Rev. H. C. Brillhart, president of the church counsil. Church Secretary J. E. Johnson read the minutes of the last meeting. Reports were given by the Light brigade and Ladies' Aid society, who gave $50 to the buildin gfund. The Young Women's Missionary society, Luther League, Women's Missionary society and Priscilla club gave $12.50 to the building fund during the past year. The treasurer, C. S. Anglemyer, reporte dthe church in good financial condition. Rev. Brillhart reported there had been 36 confirmed adult members added to the church membership and 10 infant baptised members. Seven members died during the year. C. S. Anglemyer was elected elder and A. G. Glaser deacon for the coming year.

Tuesday evening the local Kiwanis club held its regular meeting and dinner in St. Paul's chapel. Dinner was served by the Priscilla club. Here Is An Attraction That Will Keep the Young Folks Home at Nights

DO THE bright lights of Main Street burn brighter than your home-fires? Is your family circle broken nightly because there is no entertainment at home?

Youth seeks expression. Youth is not content with the "mechanical" music of the ordinary player or reproducing piano. That is why their boundless spirits respond so quickly to the Piano they play by roll with their own expression—their personal touch.

The Gulbransen Registering Piano That Can Be Played Equally Well by Roll or By Hand is the Social Center of Thousands of Homes

It's the Home that provides an outlet for all the pent-up energies of youth that Keeps the Young Folks home at night. Singing the songs of their fancy, the young folks accompany themselves by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano—just like hand playing, they dance when they wish—at home—to their choice of all the latest popular music, for dance music can be played with perfect cadence on the Gulbransen.

Come over today and try the piano that plays by roll even better than most pianists play by hand. Indeed you could not do more if you played by hand than you can do by roll on the Gulbransen. And you could not play so many pieces.

Come in and learn the thrill of the music you play yourself, then you will understand why home ties draw tighter for the family which has a Gulbransen Registering Piano of its own.

HALF MILLION TO FIX NARROWS

Officials Agree Proposed Improvement Will be Expensive

Various opinions expressed during a tour of the "narrows," the section of river road between Stratton and Yellow Creek badly in need of improvement, by a group of state and county officials and other, indicate that the improvement, when begun, will cost close to half a million dollars.

The tour was made by County Commissioner Edward Cadegan, W. C. Fawcett, state locating engineer; Robert Beightler, chief engineer of construction; H. S. Perry, assistant engineer of maintenance; W. A. Alsendorf, president of the Ohio Good Roads federation; Fred Waddell, clerk of the engineer's office of Jefferson county, and Forrest Richmond of Toronto.

The inspection, it is understood, was made at the instance of the good roads federation, as the state highwaymen were enroute from Columbus to Lisbon. There was nothing official about the inspection, it is learned, as the state and government have not yet acted on the Jefferson-Columbiana county joint resolution recently passed asking for a survey and location of the road from Stratton to the culvert at Wellsville.

Possibilities in connection with the improvement of the "narrows" when it does come were discussed and the best method of construction and proper location of the road were considered. Different ideas prevailed as to the road location and construction materials.

Treasures Apology Made by Lincoln for Error

Oakland, Cal.—John G. Crouch, eighty-two, was once the recipient of an apology from Abraham Lincoln.

Crouch was born on a farm in Rochester, Sangamon county, eight miles from Springfield, Ill. As a youngster, he often went to the capital with the farm help to dispose of produce.

One one occasion he entered the stable on Lincoln's property and was leaving, when Lincoln arrived and searched his pockets, saying eggs had disappeared from the place.

A week later, the Crouch boy was told by his father to visit Lincoln's law office. This he did.

"You are David Crouch's son," said the future emancipator. "I wrongfully suspected you of stealing eggs and I want you to forgive me."

Crouch lived in Sangamon county 50 years and saw Lincoln many times. He often sold apples to Mrs. Lincoln. One May 4, 1865, Crouch viewed the body of the assassinated President.

"Absolutely the finest car I ever owned"!

... this from an owner of this gorgeous big Overland Six—who writes further, "I have had 5 good cars of other makes but I have never so thoroughly enjoyed a car in my fifteen years of driving"

BEAUTY, such as has never before been seen in a popular-priced automobile—"How in the world do you do it at the price?" asks one owner ... "I consider it easily in the $2000 class," writes another ... A beautiful car indeed—long, low, impressive lines—handsome, dignified, substantial-looking ... A color effect especially beautiful—so striking that, as a woman-owner says, "Admiring eyes peer out from passing cars, groups gather around wherever I park it" ...

Impressive Without—Rare Roominess, Rare Luxury Within

"Front seat or rear, in this lovely luxury Six I can breathe deep, move comfortably about"—and this, exactly, is the way every last one of its more than 28,000 owners feel about it. The inside area of this superb big car is equal to any comfort-demand you will ever require of an automobile. Plenty of leg-room in front. In the rear compartment, "all the room in the world" for three amply-proportioned passengers. "All the time I drove my previous Six I didn't know what real comfort was," remarks another, "And now that I know, you couldn't have this big Overland Six of mine for twice what I paid for it" ...

And—"Perfection in the Little Things"—

... Fond of richness, and fineness, and luxurious surroundings? See the interior of this car Beautiful Baker Velour, throughout, identically the same as you have at home on your finest furniture. Deep, extra-comfortable cushionings, resiliently upholstered springs for still greater ease ... pitch of seats insures perfect riding-comfort ... Dome light a part of the body equipment ... Generous seat room for complete comfort for five full-grown adults.

Convenience and Comfort at their Higher Levels

... All operating mechanism is in the handiest possible location—everything at your finger-tips, no reaching, no waste-motion ... One piece windshield ... Automatic Windshield Wiper ... Scuff plates ... Robe rail ... Rear-view mirror ... Sun visor protects your eyes from glare ... Gabriel Snubbers for superlative riding ease ... Budd-Michelin disc wheels ... Pause and ask yourself this question—"In what car even in the $1500-to-$1900 class can I duplicate these indispensable comfort-advantages?"

"An Engineering Masterpiece"

Then add to all these desirable things a powerful, efficient engine—developing a full 40 horsepower—"11,684 miles of hard driving and not a dollar spent for anything but oil and gas"—An economy of operation such as you have never expected in a 6-cylinder automobile ... An engine whose performance will gratify you increasingly the longer you run it. As another owner says, "5300 miles so far and the engine hasn't missed a shot"—"This car hasn't been shifted into second gear for any hill yet" ... $1095 f. o. b. factory is a mighty small price to pay for a car that, judged by current standards of value, is worth easily many hundreds of dollars more!

CITY IS SUED FOR $10,000

Miss Nora Erwin Asks Damages for Injuries.

Miss Nora Erwin, 20, today filed suit against the city of East Liverpool, in common pleas court, Lisbon, for $10,000 damages, as the result of injuries suffered March 5, last, by her next friend, John Sweeney, Attorney Charles Boyd, of this city, filing the action.

The plaintiff alleges that while she was walking along street during the early morning she stepped into a hole which was about 15 inches deep. Her right ankle was broken and she was bruised and suffered from shock as a result of the mishap, the petition states. It is further set forth that she spent upwards of $200 for medical attention and that her injuries are believed to be of a permanent nature.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia. — "If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up to never get well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the Hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is. I will be only too glad to answer letters from anywhere. I wish all sick women would take it." — Mrs. J. A. Jones, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

Freshmen Co-Eds at Capital University Bound by Rigid Code

COLUMBUS—It'll be a hard year ahead of the freshman co-eds at Capitol university, a Lutheran institution here.

Following the ancient custom, the Capitalis Academiae Puellae, the leading co-ed organization on the campus has issued the annual general orders governing the conduct of the girls who come here for higher education.

Here is what the newcomers must submit to the first year: They must wear a tight belt at the waistline; their dresses must be seven inches from the ground; they may wear only dark lisle hose, and footwear must be of a light color.

Hair must be parted in the center, one side to be curled and other worn straight; powder and rouge are absolutely taboo. Each freshman girl must carry a towel over the arm throughout the day.

Mixed Bathing in City Pools of Paris Stirs Prudes to Indignation

PARIS.—"The proposition of Alderman Fiquet to permit mixed bathing in municipal baths," says l'Intransigeant, "has had an effect similar to dropping a paving-block into a frog pond." At the present time the municipal baths have separate hours for men and women. The 'Intransigeant' means to say that the Paris prudes have jumped in indignation. Several papers have taken up the mixed-bathing cause for M. Fiquet, the Paris Soir remarking that there is no reason why men should be shocked at the abbreviations of a woman's bathing suit.

"Why," says this paper, "more bare flesh is seen at the opera every night than was ever exposed in a municipal bathing establishment."

Others point out mixed bathing has always been allowed at all beach resorts in summer. "Why should mixed bathing not be allowed in winter as well as summer?" asks the Paris Soir. "It seems a shame that a married man can't accompany his wife and children on a Sunday to a municipal swimming pool, but must go all alone in the morning. His wife must do likewise in the afternoon."

"A Conqueror Passes"

By Larry Barreto

From the time that Stephen Wicker is found half frozen in a doorway of an East Side tenement, by a poor working girl who nurses him back to health, to the final dramatic climax, you'll find a wealth of adventure and heart-throbs in this entertaining novel.

For Stephen Wicker is just another young man in a different set of circumstances—a human young man with human weaknesses—a strong young man with a strong man's strength. And he travels the gamut from bum to longshoreman to adventurer and then back to normal, where the closing lines of the story find him "living happily ever after."

Rivals Ready to Resume Hostilities After Day's Layoff

KREMER WILL BE SENT AGAINST FERGUSON IN THIRD SERIES BATTLE

Hurling Prospects as Announced for Yesterday Will Likely Stand, With Reuther and Yde as Alternate Choices; Bluege May be Able to Get Into Game; President Coolidge to Throw First Ball.

By Davis J. Walsh.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The man who couldn't retire a batter on seven pitched balls two months ago will attempt to defy fact and further the art of fiction this afternoon when the Washington Senators meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in the third game of the world series in weather that, for the first time in 24 hours, was as clear as the note of a bugle. Alex Ferguson, according to forecast, will be the Washington pitcher and, mayhap, a fine time will e had by all.

Alexander was the young man who used to appear at odd moments for the Yankees and Red Sox, fill the bases with expediency and rare consistency and then disappear with all due haste. He had plenty of stuff but no more control than a minstrel collar with a demountable tie. That was in the dear, dear days all of eight weeks in the past.

Then he read a certain advertisement, ate Gumbo's soup steadily for nine days and now look at him. During the last two months of the season, he virtually pitched the Senators into the pennant single handed with bases on balls as rare as a porterhouse in full bloom.

Ferguson will be opposed today by either Ray Kremer or Emil Yde, depending on whether Bill McKechnie, Pittsburgh manager, was thinking in left or right handed terms. William declined to make known his choice at an early hour this morning and none there was to say him nay.

Kremer Likely Choice.

McKechnie was in the position of a millionaire about to purchase a box of matches with a ten dollar bill. His very affluence left him with the fear that he might distribute the items of his budget not wisely but too well. Pittsburgh had plenty of pitchers; the trick was to pick the right one.

It was regarded as altogether probable that Kremer would be the choice, right handers having enjoyed commendable success in the first two games of the series, which, as a result of yesterday's rain, stood deadlocked at one—all this morning.

It had been Stanley Harris' intention to pitch Walter "Dutch" Ruether in the third game but the postponement of yesterday effected a hurried change in his plans. It gave Walter Johnson an extra day of rest and prompted Harris to vote for an almost exclusive display of right handed ability for the rest of the series. Johnson, having won the opening game with an impressive performance, was expected to pitch tomorrow. Stanley Coveleskie, who bogged down in the late innings of the second game, was scheduled to perform in the fifth game of the series on Monday.

The resumption of activities today found the customary vigilants parked at the gates with that overnight patience of theirs, the reserved sections having been sold out weeks ago, there was nothing for the nickel customers but to line up on the right and enjoy an excellent night's rest on the flat of their feet.

Bucs Remain Favorites.

A capacity crowd, therefore, of more than 40,000 was expected to view the proceedings for the third time in as many starts. It was Washington's first slant at the series and it was nobody's plan to turn up missing. However, the local citizens coupled discretion with desire. They were not spending more than one hundred pennies on the individual dollar and scalpers, who plied their illicit craft along Pennsylvania avenue and in the hotel lobbies, were said to have suffered pitifully. The price of a single ticket dropped last night from $50 to what have you, if at all.

Thanks to the fact that they got away with the second game, the Pirates remained a slight favorite in the betting, which was neither plentiful nor at all immoderate. If anyone was shooting the roll on this series today, he used a Maxim silencer on the hammer of his financial gun.

The pro-Pittsburgh element, as a matter of fundamental fact, hesitated to do anything hasty, being duly aware that yesterday's postponement was a Washington boon. It not only gave Johnson an extra day of rest and Ossie Bluege a chance to live down the blow on the head he sustained in Pittsburgh on Thursday but permitted the entire ball game, which had looked none too steady in the first two games, to rally around the flag or something.

On the familiar spaces of their own field and in the sympathetic atmosphere of home town support the Senators were expected to give a more superior account of themselves, starting today and finishing when they saw fit.

Bluege was due to return to third base for the game, rounding out the Senatorial infield. The latter finished the second game with "Buddy" Myers, a recruit, on third base, which fact so confounded the rest of the outfit that Peckinpaugh weighed in with two damaging errors late in the pastime.

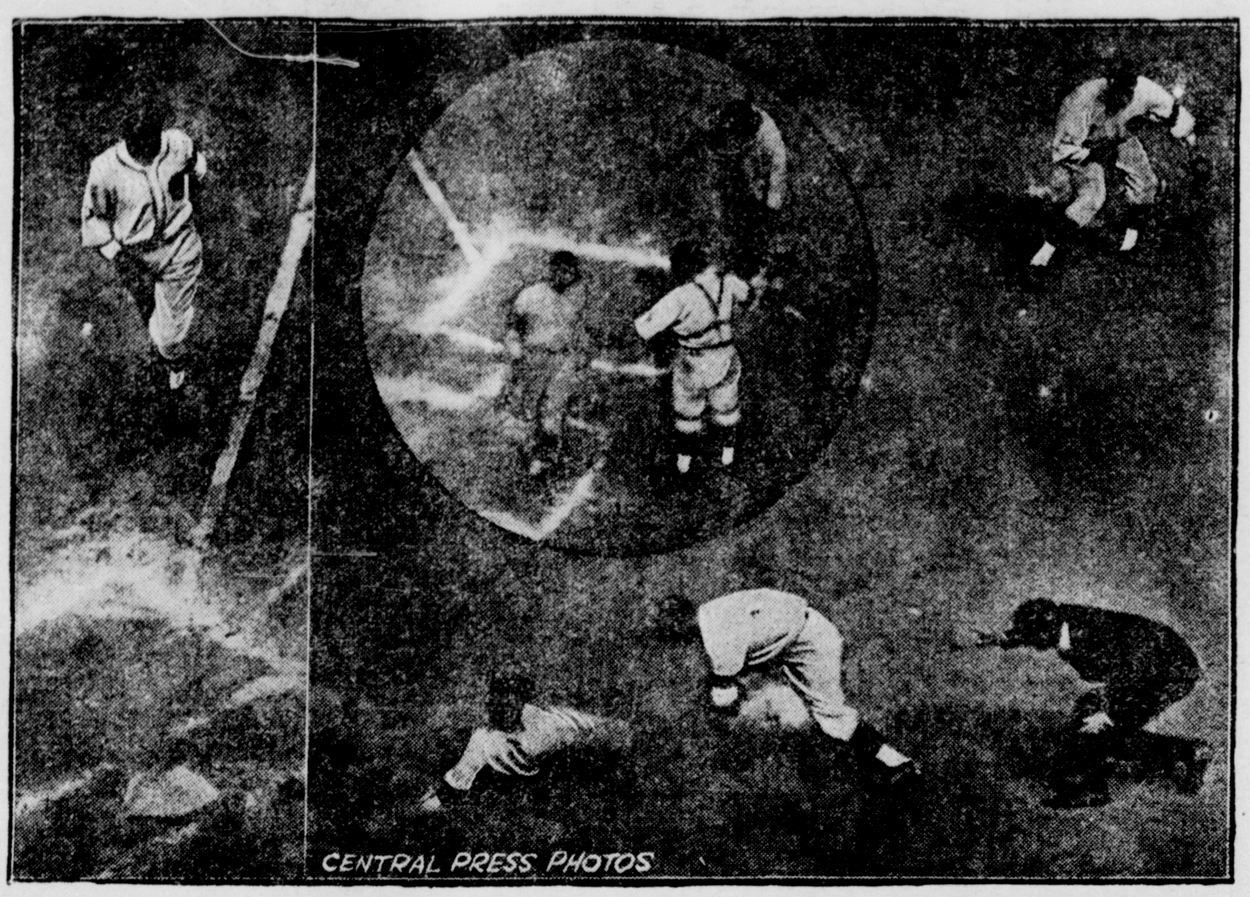

It was the general idea, however, that the boys had contrived to get all of the bad baseball out of their systems in the first two games and the Senators were an even money choice in the more or less casual betting on today's pastime.

The only thing that the local prophets were certain of was that the Washington opening would produce bigger and better throwing of the first ball. Pittsburgh arranged to have Governor Pinchot toss the first one; Washington's reply was to line up President Coolidge for this ceremony. The president, of course, figured to have a great deal more on his fast one than a mere governor.

There seemed to be more doubt as to whether Bluege would be able to appear in his position today, the idea being that he might have been unable to laugh off the effects of the blow on the head he received from a pitched ball by Aldridge on Thursday. Harris, however, said that he expected Bluege to play.

RUTH IS BACK IN HOSPITAL

May be Forced to Undergo Another Operation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Babe Ruth is about to go under the knife again.

The famous slugger was back in New York today, having been forced to forego seeing the remaining games of the world series because his condition has taken a turn for the worse.

His illness is believed to be an aftermath of his operation last May. He is expected to enter St. Vincent's hospital this afternoon to prepare for the operation which is for the removal of an abscess.

Ruth was depressed over his plight. He went to Pittsburgh to see the opening world series games against the advice of his physician. Inflamation had set in in the old wound and he walked with a limp. In Pittsburgh the wound had to be treated with ice packs.

The king of swat was anxious to see all the world series games. He also had planned to take a hunting trip to Canada immediately after the series. He will have to give up this plan, it was said today, as he may be in the hospital for several weeks.

BULLDOGS TRY DOUBLE BILL

In Philadelphia Today and Pottsville Tomorrow.

CANTON, Oct. 10.—Canton Bulldogs have two tough foes to meet within the next week, both of them undefeated to date in the National league race along with Canton. Sunday the Kennel plays Pottsville at Pottsville while a week from tomorrow the local eleven clashes with Akron here. Today they play the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets at Philadelphia.

So far both Canton and Akron have won two games. Akron beat Cleveland and Kansas City while the Bulldogs trimmed Rochester, N. Y. and Dayton, O., Philadelphia, Green Bay, Providence and Detroit are the other clubs in the circuit that have not tasted defeat.

Indications point to a close game next Sunday. The Akron club was not very strong last season, but an entire new club with a few exceptions has been signed with teh result that the Rubber City eleven rates as one of the most powerful in the circuit. They play Buffalo tomorrow.

Norbert Sacksteder, Christian Brothers college graduate, report to the spuad this week. He is a halfback and played with the championship 1922 team here.

GEORGIA TECH MEETS BEZDEKS

Wycoff, Golden Tornado's Star, Goes Into Action.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Tucked in winter overcoats against chill breezes bringing the first real gridiron weather of the season, New York football fans trooped to the Yankee stadium today to watch the altercation between representative southern and eastern teams—the famed golden tornado of Georgia Tech and Hugo Bezdek's Penn Staters.

With the Pennsylvania-Brown game at Providence the stadium attraction shared the football spot in the east on the real inaugural date of the season.

Pickers of the mythological All-American eleven prepared to cock a critical eye at Wycoff, the sensation of the south these past two years.

The Penn Brown game offered something of a novelty in the schedule of each team, both adding a tough spot to a list of opponents already too easy.

The so-called big three affected to be unperturbed although Georgia all but upset the Yale Bulldogs last year and probably will claim higher regard this afternoon as a result.

Harvard had Middlebury and Princeton took on Washington & Lee.

The Army was not expecting much opposition from Knox, but the Navy, meeting Marquette, could figure on seeing some football and playing some more, if the middies were to celebrate tonight.

Other eastern games included Cornell vs. Williams; Dartmouth vs. Vermont; Colgate vs St. Bonaventure; Lafayette vs. Washington; Rutgers vs. Maryland; Syracuse vs. Williams and Mary; Pittsburgh vs. West Virginia; Amherst vs. Bowdoin.

LACK OF FUNDS HITS TIGERS

Toronto Fails to Book Engagement for Sunday.

Professional football in Toronto for the remainder of the season is a problem today that will only be solved with the raising of enough money to put the Tigers back on their feet after financial reverses in the several games they have played.

Unable to obtain a sufficient guarantee for a game abroad tomorrow and unwilling to bring in another attraction such as Hammond and thereby suffer another loss, the management of the Tigers decided to mark time over the present week-end at least.

Al Nesser and Red Seidelson were loaned to Canton and will play with the Bulldogs in today's and Sunday's games at Philadelphia and Pottsville.

Sol Butler went over to Hammond and Hogan will be found in the Detroit lineup.

Talk is also heard of a proposed five-game series with Steubenville, but there has been no action.

CUBS, WHITE SOX PLAY THIRD GAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—The Chicago White Sox and the Cubs will battle on a soggy diamond today in the third game of the city series. The Cubs lead the series, winning one game and tying another thriller of 18 innings. The Sox will send Faber to the mound and the Cubs will depend on Blake for a win.

WILCEMEN LOOK FOR LINE ATTACK

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—A hammering line attack was expected here today from Coach Stagg's University of Chicago Maroons when they battle on a soggy gridiron with the Ohio "Buckeye" eleven. A severe handicap to Ohio's forward pass ability was expected to give the Chicago lads a decided advantage on a wet field. McCarty, Marks, Francis and Timme were expected to carry the ball, while Kernwein, Rouse, Duvall, Curley and Abbott were scheduled for open play.

PITT FAVORITE IN W. V. U. CLASH

Some Critics Predict Three Touchdown Margin.

The Pitt varsity, despite its 20-9 loss to Lafayette college last Saturday, is a favorite in today's game with West Virginia. Experts look for the heavy and veteran Panther eleven to win by a margin of two or three touchdowns. They expect Pitt to come back strong after losing to Lafayette and perdict that Gustafson, Harding, Welch and McCutcheon will run roughshod over the Mountaineers. Lafayette had to play as a team possessed to down the Panthers and as West Virginia is not likely to show the same inspired qualities the Mountaineers will do well to hold Pitt to a low score. West Virginia's only hope is its passing game. If the aerial attack is successful and the Mountaineers get a fair share of the "breaks" they will press Pitt. At best both are long chances.

One thing is certain—the Mountaineers are going to fight. Head Coach Ira Rodgers has his men keyed up for tomorrow's battle nad Pitt will have to work hard for every inch of ground it gains. The Mountaineer lineup of Oliver and Julian Murrin, ends; Dilcher and Davis, tackles; McHenry and Captain Mahan, guards; Latham, center; Ed. Morrison, quarterback; Farley and Hardy, halfbacks; and Barnum, fullback, averages less than 170 pounds but all of them are scrappers.

Will Try New Backs

Postponement of Third Game Good Break For Washington

Now Possible for Walter Johnson to Pitch the Fourth Game and, if Necessary, the Seventh.

By Sid Mercer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—A rainy day in a world series must be bridged by the baseball experts with a chain of facts, figures and speculations designed to fit the space ordinarily required for the description of the combat. But yesterday's game ran into a washout and the experts thereupon spent the entire day in solemn deliberation over the effects of the postponement.

A poll of the trained observers who congregated at Press headquarters at the Raleigh disclosed a strong belief that the schedule interruption was a good break for the Washington club. It is now possible for Walter Johnson to pitch the fourth game and if necessary, the seventh.

Assuming that old Barney will be as good as he was last Wednesday in Pittsburgh, this is indeed a tremendous advantage for the American league champions.

Stanley Harris had announced Alex. Ferguson as a pitcher yesterday and the probabilities are that he will start Ferguson today. He could use Johnson in a pinch, but Sir Walter should be better after a three day rest.

Even if Ferguson should lose today, Harris can come back with Johnson tomorrow and then, if the series goes the limit, Barney would be available for the deciding game.

There isn't much doubt that Harris will follow this plan. He is in a better position to gamble than McKechnie. In the event of Ferguson failing before a Pirate attack in an early inning, Johnson may possibly be swung into the third game. For these reasons yesterday's rain was a break for the Senators.

The series has not progressed far enough to afford a thorough test of the pitching. Each manager has started his two best men and all four have done well. When Harris and McKechnie begin drawing the names of their pitchers out of a hat the experts will be reduced to mere guesswork in their predictions.

STATE-CHICAGO TILT TOPS CARD

More eyes, probably, will be trained on the Ohio State-Chicago western conference contest this afternoon by mid-west grid fans than upon any of the other 28 contests scheduled for Ohio college and university elevens.

For its outcome, many believe, will go a long way toward casting the season's die. When the whistle has blown the ball dead at the end of the fracas at Stagg field this evening, fans throughout the nation will have a good idea as to how far the Buckeyes will go in the scramble for highest honors in the Big Ten.

The most ardent of Ohio State fans admit a little doubt after Ohio State's showing against Ohio Wesleyan last week when the Battling Bishops held the score to 10 to 3. In the same breath they admit that Wesleyan had a mighty strong team and that the injection of Marek into the State backfield and Nichols into the forward wall will mean all the difference in the Big Ten world.

GRANGE IS READY FOR BUTLER TEAM

Matty Is Laid to Rest Today; Baseball Notables At Funeral

LEWISBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—Banked in flowers from admirers in virtually every section of the country, the body of Christy Mathewson, one of baseball's immortals, reposed in the front room of a little home in Market street today.

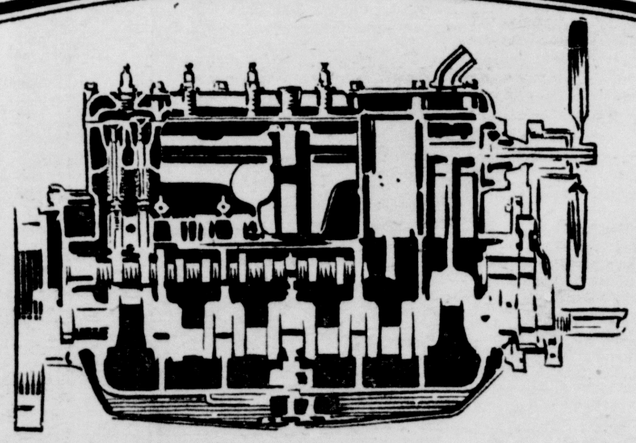

It was "Matty" back at the place where he first achieved fame as a football and baseball player at Bucknell college. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the body will be borne to Lewisburg cemetery, regarded as one of the most beautiful burial grounds in Central Pennsylvania, and there "Big Six" will be laid to rest as thousands bow their heads while a bugle sounds taps.

As the "Old Master" desired, funeral services will be of simple character, but the host of famous personalities present for the last rites of the diamond hero and idol of the American boy, lent an atmosphere that bespoke the true position Mathewson held in the hearts of his countrymen.

Honorary pall-bearers will be Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston National league baseball club; John McGraw, president of the New York Giants; David Bancroft and Edward Reilly, manager and secretary of the Boston club; Ernest Sterling, Bronxville, N. Y., and Albert Powell, New Haven, Conn.

Rev. Frank B. Everett, pastor of Lewisburg Presbyterian church, was in charge of funeral services.

The Life Blood of Your Motor

Your motor has "veins". They are the channels through which your oil flows.

Upon this oil depends the life of your motor. If rich in certain properties, the oil you use keeps your motor young and full of vitality. If weak and lacking in these properties, your motor shows it.

That is why motors lubricated with FREEDOM Perfect show little change with the passing of thousands of miles. Made from 100% Pennsylvania Crude, FREEDOM Perfect comes from the finest of raw material. Refined by specialists with 46 years experience, it reaches you full of live lubricating properties.

Keep your motor young—accept nothing but FREEDOM Perfect.

On page 5 of OIL FACTS, begins an interesting discussion of where oil circulates. Ask your dealer or write Freedom.

KELLY ABANDONS OARSMAN CAREER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10. — Jack Kelly, winner of the singles sculling championship of the world at the Olympic games in 1920, and one of the greatest rowers the country has ever seen, has retired. His retirement took place when the Pennsylvania Athletic club eight crossed the finishing line Labor day on the Patapsoco river.

"He dominated the rowing world just as completely as any man possibly could," according to a local rowing expert, "more so than any one man had ever before or probably ever will again. Sports are richer for his having taken part in them."

Kelly started his rowing career in 1908 and he began to retire in 1920. During his career, he won 122 races in open regattas. He rowed both sculls and sweeps up until 1919 when he concentrated on sculls.

REACH FINALS IN WOMEN'S GOLF

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. — Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., women's national golf champion, will play Miss Helen Palson of Portland, Maine, here today in the Indian Hills invitation golf tournament. The match, scheduled to be held yesterday for championship honors, was postponed because of adverse weather.

CRAWFORD OUT OF THIEL GAME

Tackle Crawford, of East Liverpool, who sustained a fractured wrist in last week's game with Duquesne University, will be absent today when Coach Nuss' Bethany gridders line up against Thiel at Greensburg. With this one exception, the Bison line will probably be the same as it was last week, although the return of Catain Loppacker may alter the appearance of the backfield somewhat.

CLEVELAND LAD TRIMS WEYGANT

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 10.—Gaston Charles, Cleveland featherweight, defeated Eddie Weygant, of New Castle, in the ten round main bout here last night. Charles took eight of the ten rounds and had Weygant in bad shape. George Harris, of Niles, Ohio, knocked out George Boley, New Castle, in one minute and five seconds. Eddie Santoy, of Niles, Ohio, scored a one-round knockout ver Tommy Finch, of Corry.

Big Six Games Lead

In Ohio conference football circles today the two Big Six contests are clamoring for the major portion of attention. Ohio university opens its conference season by meeting Denison at Granville and Wittenberg plays its third conference game with Miami at Oxford. Wittenberg has defeated Akron and Denison. Miami's one victory this season was over Georgetown, Ky.

Akron Is Confident

Ohio Wesleyan, "threat" among Ohio conference schools as a result of its showing against Ohio State last Saturday, is scheduled to clash with Akron U. today. In Delaware, Akron is looked upon with respect. Coach Coleman and his Rubber City men are reported to be confident they can beat Wesleyan, although they will be outweighed by the Bishops 20 pounds to a man.

Wooster Loses Stoll

While getting ready to meet Oberlin today, Wooster this week temporarily lost the services of Tackle Stoll, who will be out for two weeks with a bad ankle.

Backfield Star Out

Garmon, varsity quarterback at Ohio Northern, will be unable to play for probably two weeks as a result of injury to one of his eyes.

Before the war Germany supplied seventy-five per cent of the world demand for dyes; now the United States produces ninety-five per cent of its domestic needs, England eighty per cent, and France, Italy and Japan each forty to fifty per cent.

Mayhap, those African girls who are demanding more clothes want as few, at least, as the other things wear. —Newark Commercial Tribune.

W. V. U. FANS TO HONOR RED MAHAN

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Northern West Virginia counties — the "stamping ground" of Walter "Red" Mahan, guard and captain of the West Virginia University eleven —will send hundreds of fans to Pittsburgh, Pa., Saturday when the Mountaineers are to engage in annual combat with the University of Pittsburgh outfit. Nearly 1,000 seats have been sent to West Virginia fans and friends of Mahan in the northern Panhandle and nearly Ohio cities.

The Mountaineer captain is widely known and well liked in his own sector and there has been some talk of acquaintances honoring him with a "Mahan section."

LEGAL NOTICE

Sarah N. Calhoun individually and also as Executrix of the Estate of William M. Calhoun Deceased, being the legal owner of all that part of the addition of lots, not heretofore sold, known as "Glendale," as laid out and platted by Dr. Wm. M. Calhoun deceased, to Liverpool Township, Columbiana County and State of Ohio, being parts of Sections 6, 12, 35, and 36, does hereby give notice as required by Section 3601 General Code of Ohio, that she owns, and intends to, and will vacate, all that part of said "Glendale Addition" described as follows to wit:

Beginning at a point approximately 170 feet southerly from Back Street, on a line which if produced from said point, would intersect with the Southerly line of Price Street, and the Northerly line of Valley Avenue, in said "Glendale Addition," and running thence Northwardly to the intersection of Line Avenue and Price Street, and being all the part of said addition lying between said Streets, being bounded by the Northerly line of Valley Avenue and the Southerly line of Price street, said Price Street and Valley Avenue not being affected by said vacation.

She also intends to vacate all of Dry Run Alley in said addition from a point approximately 170 feet Southerly from Back Street, measured along the Center line of Dry Run Alley, to its intersection with Line Avenue, in said "Glendale Addition;" also all of Back Street lying between Valley Avenue and Price street in said addition.

Any objection to said vacation must be made on or before October 28, 1925.

LEGAL NOTICE

To the Electors of Salineville Village School District.

Notice is hereby given that the proposition to levy an additional tax, for school purposes, over and above the maximum authorized under Sections 5649-2, 5649-3A and 5649-3C, General Code of Ohio, and all limitations of law, be submitted to the electors of the said Salineville Village School District, at the regular election, November 3, 1925.

Such extra tax levy is declared by the Board of Education of the said Salineville Village School District to be necessary, because by the exercise of all authority under limitations of law, the maximum amount that can be so levied will be insufficient to pay the current expenses of the said districts schools, and it is expedient to levy additional taxes by virtue of Section 5649-4, as amended by House Bill No. 58, passed by the General Assembly of Ohio and filed with the Secretary of State, April 21, 1925.

The question to be decided is whether or not a levy of not to exceed 3 mills, additional to that authorized under limitations of law, shall be made, for school purposes, for a period not to exceed 5 years.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO

ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE VIII OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION, TO BE DESIGNATED AS ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13, RELATIVE TO THE INCURRING OF INDEBTEDNESS BY POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner provided by law on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1925, a proposal to add a new section to the constitution to be known as article VIII, section 13, to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

Sec. 13. No bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness, or other evidence of indebtedness shall be issued by any county, school district, township, municipal corporation or other political subdivision or taxing district for current operating expense, or for the acquisition or construction of any property or improvement having an estimated usefulness of less than five years; but laws may be passed authorizing borrowing for a period not exceeding six months in anticipation of the collection of revenue in and for the current fiscal year in which such indebtedness is incurred, or authorizing indebtedness in anticipation of the levy or collection of special assessments or for defraying the expenses of an extraordinary epidemic of disease or emergency expenses made necessary by sudden casualty which could not reasonably have been foreseen, or to provide for the payment of final judgments for personal injuries or other non-contractual obligations. No bonds or notes issued for the acquisition or construction of property or improvements shall run for longer than the probable period of usefulness of such property or improvements, to be estimated or determined as provided by laws fixing maximum maturities herein authorized. Laws shall be passed to fix the fiscal years of political subdivisions and taxing districts and to designate the boards or officers by whom and the manner in which the estimates as to the period of usefulness of property or improvements shall be made and certified. Within the limitations of this section laws may be passed fixing the maximum maturity of bonds or notes issued for any purpose or class of purposes.

Be it further resolved, That at such election, above referred to, this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot, in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate. If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, this amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1926.

Adopted March 27, 1925.

ARTICLE XII, SECTION 2

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE XII, SECTION 2 OF THE CONSTITUTION SO AS TO PROVIDE FOR TAXATION BY UNIFORM RULE OF ALL REAL ESTATE AND TANGIBLE PROPERTY EXCEPT MOTOR VEHICLES, AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE TAXATION OF INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1925, a proposal to amend article XII, section 2 of the constitution of the state of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII.

Sec. 2. Laws shall be passed, taxing by a uniform rule all real estate and improvements thereon and all tangible personal property, according to their true value in money, excepting motor vehicles which shall be taxed as may be provided by law. All moneys, credits, bonds, stocks and all other intangible property, shall be taxed as may be provided by law.

But all bonds outstanding on the first day of January, 1913 of the state of Ohio or of any city, village, hamlet, county or township in this state or which have been issued in behalf of the public schools in Ohio and the means of instruction in connection therewith, and all bonds issued under article VIII, section 2a of this constitution for the world war compensation fund, shall be exempt from taxation, and burying grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions used exclusively for charitable purposes, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and tangible personal property, to an amount not exceeding in value five hundred dollars for any individual, may by general laws, be exempted from taxation; and laws may be passed to provide against the double taxation that results from the taxation of both the real estate and the mortgage or the debt secured thereby, or other lien upon it, but all such laws shall be subject to alteration or repeal; and the value of all property, so exempted, shall, from time to time, be ascertained and published as may be directed by law.

Be it further resolved, That at such election, above referred to, this amendment shall be placed on the official ballot, in the manner provided by law, in such form as the secretary of state may designate.

If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, this amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1926, and

'A Bachelor's Night' Bill At Ceramic Theatre Tonight

Chicago Stock Company Offers Screamingly Funny Comedy in Closing Week's Engagement.

The Chicago Stock company will close a successful week's engagement at the Ceramic theatre tonight with a production of Wilson Collison's screamingly funny comedy, entitled, "A Bachelor's Night." This is said to be one of the best plays in the Chicago Stock company's large repertoire and the fact thit it was written by the man who gave the stage such amusing comedies as "Getting Gertie's Garter," and "Up in Mabel's Room," insures all who attend an enjoyable evening.

During the week the Chicago players have presented plays which have been excellently acted and staged and have well merited the large audience that they have attracted. Should they return at some future date they are sure to receive a warm welcome from the local theatregoers.

Monday and Tuesday, the Ceramic will present "Bebe" Daniels in the Paramount photoplay, "Lovers in Quarantine." Harrison Ford will support the star in what is said to be one of the best "Daniels" pictures screened in many months. In addition will be a two-part comedy and the International News reel.

LIST NOTABLES IN "CHICKIE"

American Theatre Presents Story of Girl's Problems.

A European Prince!

A Great-Great-Granddaughter of "Jeff" Davis, president of the Confederacy.

A "Queen" of Costa Rican Bull Fights!

These are some of the usual "extras" who have parts in "Chickie," at the American today.

The prince is Serge M. Divani, grandson of the last king of Georgia.

Then there is Gladys Erskine, from far-off Costa Rica, whose beauty impelled the president of the republic to select her queen of the bull fights at the fiestas last year.

And last, but not least, is Winnie Davis Hunter, great-great-grand-daughter of "Jeff" Davis, the famous hero of the South during the Civil War.

"Chickie' is the story of a modern girl's problems. In its cast are such film favorites as Dorothy Mackall, John Bowers, Hobart Bosworth, Myrtle Stedman, Gladys Brockwell, Olive Tell, Paul Nicholson, Lora Sonderson and Louise Mackintosh.

Because of many newspaper and magazine articles praising American progress, and the showing of American films, people of Germany are copying styles and ideas of this country.

Backache Slowing You Up?

ALWAYS tired—stiff and achy? A dull ache in the small of your back wearing you out? Sharp twinges torturing you at almost every step?

Too often this condition is due to sluggish kidneys. Blood and nerves are upset by poisons and impurities, and many aches and ills result. One is apt to suffer backache, lameness and stiffness—headaches, dizziness and distressing bladder irregularities.

If your kidneys are inactive, don't risk serious kidney sickness. Help them with a tested diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended by thousands. Ask your neighbor!

Here is East Liverpool Proof:

F. M. Glenn, painter, 1122 St. Clair Ave., says: "Kidney trouble must have been brought on by the constant use of paints and varnishes. Reaching while on the ladder caused sharp pains in my back. A constant, dull ache settled in my back and tired me out. My kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Pills and the backache left and my kidneys were put in good condition."

Is Your Gasoline an All Weather Gasoline ?

A cool, rainy night; a hot, dry day. They make a difference in the character of your gasoline mixtures. It is easily noticeable in your motor's performance when you use gasoline of limited efficiency range.

Yet you wouldn't repeatedly adjust your carburetor to meet such variable atmospheric conditions.

Using a rangy gasoline is better. And that means MARATHON.

The week's Records

Small But Select Program

Frank Crumit again contributes largely to the gayety of nations on his Victor Records this week. "Sonya" you have already heard on a dance record, while "Old Uncle Bill" is about a ready comeback artist. Nothing to tax one's mind about these records. Good, comic stuff in the simplest manner, sung to a piano.

A Pair by Whiteman

Regular openers, in poker parlance, are two fox trots which Paul Whiteman and his orchestra record for Victor this week. "I'm Tired of Everything But You" is melodious and not so fast, while "The Rhythm Rag" has some brilliant piano and woodwind work.

Newcomers to the Victor fold are the Seattle Harmony Kings, sponsored by Benson and heard during the summer at Atlantic City. Their first records are interesting, "If I Had a Girl Like You" being a fox trot based on a Strauss waltz cadence, while "Darktown Shuffle" is chiefly and emphatically rhythmic.

Since the war Belgians have refused to drink beer from Munich and British stout is now preferred to that from the Irish Free State.

A seventeen-year-old girl recently broke the record for a miss of her years by climbing the Thrift Horn of Switzerland, 12,260 feet high.

'Blossom Time,' Charming Operetta, Coming to Ceramic

Shubert Production Will Make Farewell Appearance Here Wednesday Night, Oct. 21.

Exquisite "Blossom Time," that altogether charming operetta or musical comedy, will be seen at the Ceramic theatre on Wednesday night, Oct. 21.

Those who have seen "Blossom Time" will want to see it again, and those who have never seen it should not miss its numerous allurements, not the least of which is its lovely musical score taken almost entirely from the songs and other master works of Franz Schubert. Messrs. Shubert are bringing the splendid singing company which has delighted thearegoers everywhere this beautiful and extraordinary play with music has been seen. The cast includes Joseph Mendelsohn, Gene Leontovitch, Shep Camp, Beulah Berson, Betty Shapelle, Arthur Hadley, Freda Melburn, William Webster, Kraft Walton, Henry Rabke, James Sheridan, Cuni Berti, Lillian Menken and 50 others, including a large and beautiful chorus.

The story of "Blossom Time" is founded on an episode in the life of Franz Schubert who, apparently, had but one authentic affair of the heart. The book and lyrics are by Dorothy Donnelly and the music, almost entirely taken from the famous songs and unforgettable motifs from Schubert's larger works, has been beautifully adapted by Sigmund Romberg. Single musical numbers here and there were composed by H. Berte, a modern writer of Vienna. The piece was staged by J. C. Huffman, under the personal direction of J. J. Shubert.

The scenes are all laid in old Vienna (1826) and the work as a whole, now grave, now gay and later turning to romance, often conjures the life of that gay European capital in its heyday of earlier generations. There is a resemblance in the story of "Blossom Time" to our famous New England legend around the romance affairs of John Alden—but it is only a resemblance.

If it's advertised in the Review-Tribune we have it —

World's Oldest Man, At 150, Does Day's Work in Constantinople

CONSTANTINOPLE.—At the age of 150 Zaro Agha, who is said to be the oldest living man in the world, has gleefully accepted an offer from the Constantinople municipal authorities to join the staff of guards at one of the imperial palaces. Still hale and hearty, Zaro is looking forward to his new job with gusto. He has been married eleven times and is devoted to his present wife, who is only twenty-seven.

The only blot on Zaro's horizon is his son, aged ninety-nine, who thinks he is too old to earn a livelihood. "I don't see why I should have to keep him," Zaro indignantly declares. "If I can work surely the boy can."
